State Police Arrest Three Claim Solution of 'Robbery'

Night Cook Is Held for Grand Jury—Two Others to Get Hearings

Solution of the reported "robbery" of about $600 from McCann's Highland Diner was claimed by state police with the arrest Wednesday afternoon of three men, including the diner employe who originally told troopers he had been trussed up by two unknown men who fled with the cash box.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace William J. Upright on first degree grand larceny charges were:

E. Edward Gibson, 40, the night cook at McCann's, who listed his home address as RFD 1, Red Hook.

Theodore Aposporos, 35, automobile salesman, of 299 Mill street, Poughkeepsie.

Frank Mancuso, 24, of 101 Main street, Poughkeepsie.

Held for Grand Jury

Gibson waived examination and was ordered held for grand jury action on the charge. Hearings for the other two men were set down for Jan. 28 before Justice Upright. Mancuso was released on $1,000 bail, and Aposporos was ordered held at the county court house for appearance at the hearing.

State police at the Highland station said they recovered $300 from Aposporos and $108 from Mancuso.

Police Give Version

State police, in filing charges against the three men, released this version of the incident:

At 7 p. m., Tuesday the troopers said, Aposporos and Mancuso drove to the diner, located on the traffic circle near Highland. Aposporos entered the diner and Gibson handed him the strong box containing the cash, after which Aposporos tied Gibson to the stair railing with a clothesline, troopers alleged. Aposporos and Mancuso then drove to the latter's room in Poughkeepsie, where they burned the checks that were in the strong box, then they drove toward Newburgh, throwing the box into a

Icy Blasts Chill Midwestern Areas

Temperatures Drop to 30 Below in Sections; Extends South

(By The Associated Press)

Bone-chilling cold hit the midwest today as icy blasts from Canada and the Arctic region spread across the eastern half of the nation.

The north central region was in a deep freeze. Temperatures plummeted to more than 30 degrees below zero in some areas. There was a promise of some relief—not so cold tomorrow.

The cold air extended south to northern Florida and eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. Readings are about 20 degrees lower compared to yesterday. It was 44 above in Jacksonville, Fla., and 39 in Mobile, Ala.

The bitter cold covered Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois. It was -32 in Alexandria, Minn., and near that mark in many other north central cities. In Rockford, Ill., the early morning low was -6. It was zero in Chicago. And 21 below in Minneapolis.

Stay Below Zero

Temperatures remained below zero all day yesterday over most of the Dakotas, Montana, Minnesota and northwestern Iowa and Wisconsin. But today's forecasts were some warming for the area by tomorrow.

Snow flurries were reported over most of the Great Lakes region while light snow fell from the Dakotas westward through northern Idaho. Rain and snow mixed was reported in southern Idaho, Washington, Oregon and northern California.

The blizzard which hit western and central New York state yesterday was followed by colder weather. Temperatures dropped to below zero in some areas during the night. Two deaths were attributed to the storm.

Strong winds whipped the falling snow and highways in some sections were drifted. Driving was hazardous. The fall in the Rochester region was seven inches. Some schools in Genesee county, near Rochester, were closed. More than three inches of new snow was swirled into drifts by winds of 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 mph, in the Buffalo area. Syracuse also reported heavy snow.

Dies at Port Jervis

Port Jervis, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Joseph Wohlscheid, 26, of Matamoras, Pa., died today in St. Francis Hospital of injuries he received in an automobile crash Sunday morning. He was one of three passengers in a car that skidded on an icy spot on Route 6 just south of Matamoras, and struck a tree. The others in the car, Leroy Fisher, 25, and Thomas Gilson, 25, both of Port Jervis, are in St. Francis Hospital. State police said they have been unable to question either of them, and haven't determined who was driving the car. Fisher was reported to be unconscious.

Bitter Rows Loom Over West Votes

Conflicts Exist

By JACK BELL

Denver, Jan. 24 (AP)—Taft regulars and Eisenhower volunteers are fighting the opening round of what promises to become a bitter battle for the Republican presidential nominating votes of the Rocky Mountain states.

In what elsewhere has been regarded as an area likely to be favorable to Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, rooters are steaming up a vigorous bid for convention support for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the mountain states.

Six states, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming, will cast a total of 80 votes in the Chicago convention next July. While this is fewer than New York's 96, the strategic importance of having western backing has not been lost upon any candidate.

Colorado Is Example

In Colorado, typical of the mountain area, the Taft-Eisenhower battle is likely to find veteran Senator Eugene Millikin, chairman of the conference of all GOP senators, in the forefront for Taft and youthful Gov. Dan Thornton carrying the banner for Eisenhower.

The Colorado situation is somewhat duplicated elsewhere in the area. Taft's supporters have a firm hand on the party machinery and the backing of most of the "professional" politicians. Eisenhower's backers claim to have overwhelming support within the rank and file of the party, but have to depend on relative "amateurs" to whip this up into convention votes.

With this battle among the Republicans getting well under way, Democrats in most of the area are sitting tight to see what President Truman plans to do.

Will Fall in Line

If Mr. Truman runs, they will fall in line. But it will take more than the mere word of some of his friends, such as John Nangle, Missouri national committeeman, to convince them.

Nangle said after a White House visit yesterday that while Mr. Truman didn't say so, Nangle has "no doubt" that the President will be in the race.

Neither do the Rocky mountain Democratic leaders seem to share the hope Paul Fitzpatrick, New York state chairman, expressed after a White House visit yesterday, that Mr. Truman will run again.

Although the Democrats admit Mr. Truman is at a low point—with the government corruption issue cutting deeply against the party — they apparently aren't much interested in Senator Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Chief Justice Vinson and others who have entered the race or been mentioned for it.

Have Until May

In Colorado, Eisenhower Republicans will have until the May state convention to wage their campaign to overturn what looks like an almost solid lineup of GOP bigwigs for Taft. Although he has a Legislature on his hands and

Justice Says Truck Owners' Points Erroneous—May Appeal Case

Albany, Jan. 24 (AP)—Justice Harry E. Schirick of State Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of New York state's controversial weight-distance tax on big trucks.

Schirick rejected contentions of truckers that the law was unconstitutional because, they said, it discriminated against larger vehicles.

It was regarded as virtually certain the trucking firms that challenged the law would appeal the decision.

If the decision is upheld, it will mean that the state can enforce its levies on the loaded or unloaded weight of trucks weighing more than 18,000 pounds.

Passed in 1951

The big-truck tax law was passed by the 1951 Legislature as part of Governor Dewey's program to levy on such vehicles a larger proportionate share of the cost of state highways.

The tax ranges from 0.6 to 2.4 cents per mile.

Hershey Blames 'Unreal Shortage'

Army Rejections Called Self-Protection by Branch

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey today blamed competition for recruits among the branches of the armed forces for an "unreal shortage" of military manpower.

Hershey, a mjor general, testified before the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Committee, which is looking into what is being done about using men with low physical and mental ratings.

The shortage of manpower comes about this way, Hershey said:

The great majority of enlistments are in the navy, marine corps and air corps so that the army "is being forced to accept more than its share of the less desirable type of man."

And the army then tries "to protect itself" by rejecting large numbers of less fit men for physical and mental ratings.

Calls It 'Appalling'

Hershey described the current rejection rate as "appalling."

In the five months ended last Nov. 30, he said, the number of classified registrants under Selective Service increased 6.2 per cent while those rejected and classified 4-F's increased 9.1 per cent.

And, he said, this "substantial increase" in 4-F's occurred "at a time when a decrease could have been expected."

Of a total of about 8½ million registrants between the ages of 18½ and 26 who are liable for service, Hershey said, approximately 1¼ million have been rejected as physically or mentally unfit.

He said that until the competitive situation "is corrected by some method of centralized orderly procurement equally applicable to all the services, we have no reason to expect an equitable distribution of manpower and we shall continue to create an unreal shortage which ultimately may drive us to the use, at the least opportune time, of greatly disproportionate numbers of less fit men."

Beyof Tunis Is Warned About Riots

Ruler Is Told He Must Take Action — Has Sympathy With Arab Nationalists

50 Are Killed

Forty-four Natives, Six French Are Slain in Outbreaks

Tunis, Tunisia, Jan. 24 (AP)—The French delivered a stern warning today to the bey of Tunis demanding that he help restore order in this seething protectorate, where 10 days of rioting have claimed at least 50 lives.

Jean De Hauteclocque, the French resident general, called on the bey at his palace. The bey was told that unless he takes steps to avoid further bloodshed, the French will be compelled to take even stiffer military measures than are under way now.

The French rushed heavy reinforcements of gendarmes and troops int trouble spots throughout Tunisia, where Arab nationalists are clamoring for more independence from France.

Sympathetic to Demands

The bey, Sidi Mohamed Al Amin, has been sympathetic to the nationalist demands. Earlier in the week he had refused to see the resident general, pleading illness.

Official sources put the death toll in the more than a week of rioting at 44 Tunisians and six French killed. They said more than 150 Tunisians and 20 French were wounded.

Unconfirmed reports said 20 more Tunisians had been killed late yesterday in continued rioting at Moknine, 120 miles southeast of Tunis. Three French police were slain at Moknine.

Tunisian sources claimed two French police were killed in Tunis this morning. This was denied by the French, who said one Arab was killed during the night.

No New Outbreaks

The French reported no new outbreaks since dawn.

At Moknine Nationalists sacked a local police station and attacked gendarmerie barracks. A rescue force dispatched to the city clashed with the demonstrators, who suffered many casualties.

French sources said the situation was still obscure at Teboulba, about 150 miles south of Tunis. Dispatches last night said Teboulba was in the hands of "uncontrolled elements" and police would attempt to re-establish order there today. Seven Tunisians had been killed there in a clash that followed an attack on a French civilian.

Moknine and Menzel Bou Zelfa, also in the same general area as Teboulba, were tension spots. Yesterday 5,000 Nationalists attacked the police station and gendarmerie barracks at Moknine, killing three policemen. A gendarme lieutenant was killed near Manzel Bou Zelfa. Rioters burned the police post at Djenmal, west of Moknine.

Ulster Has 14,819 More Republicans Than Democrats

Enrollment figures compiled by the Ulster County Board of Elections show that Republicans outnumber Democrats in the city approximately three to one.

Tabulation for 1951 shows 4,938 enrolled Republicans and 1,518 Democrats in Kingston's 13 wards.

Election board figures show that in the 20 towns in the county, 17,051 Republicans enrolled, and this added to the city registration totals 21,989.

Democrats in the towns number 5,652, and this figure coupled with the city registration makes 7,170 for the entire county.

According to the records, there are 3,420 more Republicans in the city than Democrats, and 11,399 more GOP enrolees in the 20 towns of the county.

14,819 More in GOP

Considering city and town figures, there are 14,819 more Republicans in Ulster county than Democrats.

Total enrollment in all parties for the county was 42,267, the board of elections reported, and added that 13,000 voters failed to enroll in any party.

Enrolled voters in the city number 14,110 and the county figure is 28,157 for the 20 towns of the county.

In Kingston 13 enrolled as members of the Liberal party and 41 in the county for a total of 54 Liberals.

Seven Kingstonians signed in the American Labor party and 47 in the towns for a total of 54.

There are 13 wards in the city with 20 election districts and 20 towns in the county with 71 districts for a total of 91 election districts in the entire county of Ulster.

Reds Accused Of Stall Game To Crack Allies

Widow, Children of Crash Pilot

Mrs. Henrietta Reid, widow of American Airlines pilot Thomas J. Reid who died when his plane crashed in a residential section of Elizabeth, N. J., holds her two children, Robin Lindsay, 18 months, and Randi Eileen, 3½, at their home four blocks from where the fatal crash occurred. At the time of the crash in which 28 died—Mrs. Reid was awaiting her husband's return to join in celebration of her mother's birthday.

Thought Is They Can't Talk Points

Strikes Are Made

Raiding Parties Attack Red Defenses on West Front

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 24 (AP)—The United Nations command today accused the Communists of "playing the waiting game" in the Korean truce talks, hoping the allies will "capitulate out of sheer exasperation."

An official UN broadcast beamed to Korea from Tokyo said:

"Either the Reds have no intention of reaching an armistice and are merely killing time until their next offensive, or they have been instructed not to bargain on any point * * *.

"The latter alternative may be the truer one at this date."

The broadcast said the Reds' "waiting game" is "an overt admission from Communists leaders that right now they do not expect anything to happen."

As negotiators haggled fruitlessly over Korean truce terms Thursday, a UN delegate accused the Communists of planning to use sick and wounded prisoners as a lever to force allied acceptance of Red armistice terms.

Expression Is Asked

In an adjacent tent at Panmunjom, UN negotiators again asked the Communists to express "in simple terms" whether they intend to increase their air strength during an armistice.

Observers said phrasing of the question strengthened belief that the UN might accept an oral promise by the Reds not to construct or repair military airfields. Such a pledge would become part of the conferenec record, but would not be written into the armistice.

The issue of airfield construction has blocked agreement on how to police an armistice for weeks.

Neither subcommittee reported progress. Both scheduled meetings for 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EST Thursday.)

Libby listed in detail allied objections to the Communist all-for-all prisoner exchange plan.

He told North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho the Red plan is an "out and out grab for military advantage" and denies individual prisoners "the right to exercise free choice with respect to repatriation."

Lee replied:

"Your proposal for voluntary repatriation is an attempt to tread down violently the rights of prisoners of war. Our stand conforms to Article 118 and Article Seven of the Geneva Convention. We insist on the unconditional release and repatriation of all men who held our army designation * * *."

Raids Are Staged

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 24 (AP)—Allied raiding parties ended the 19th month of the Korean war today with bold strikes into the Red defense line on the western front.

The heaviest fight was west of Chorwon where United Nations tanks and infantrymen fought for six hours Wednesday with Chinese entrenched on a hill.

The raiders struck again at 7:30 a. m. Thursday. The Chinese rained hand grenades down on the allies and opened up with heavy machinegun and rifle fire. The fight continued, the U. S. Eighth Army reported.

Another allied force hit the Chinese northwest of Korangpo in a pre-dawn raid. The Eighth Army said the raiders pulled back to their own lines after killing 20 Reds in an hour-long fight.

The frozen eastern and central fronts quieted after heavy allied

Council President Says All Will Be Able to Voice Their Views

Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Local residents, furious over the two recent airliner disasters here, planned an "indignation meeting" for tonight to protest "their living in fear of fiery death from the skies."

The meeting was called by City Council President John C. Boyle one day after an American Airlines plane plunged into a residential area here, killing its 23 occupants and six others in their homes.

Only 37 days prior to Tuesday's air tragedy, this city of 112,000 was the scene of the crash of a Florida-bound, non-scheduled C-46 plane in which all 56 persons aboard perished.

At tonight's scheduled meeting, the townspeople will "have an opportunity to express openly their views about Newark Airport," Boyle said.

The plane involved in Tuesday's crash was headed for Newark Airport from Buffalo, N. Y. The nonscheduled plane which crashed in flames Dec. 16 had taken off from that same airport, which is just under three miles away.

Probes Demanded

Meanwhile, probes were demanded on local, state and federal levels into the recent crash and into the operation, location and proposed expansion of Newark Airport.

Committees of experts were set

Sales, Marketing Occupy Growers

Specialists Give Talks at Sessions at State Armory

Apple sales promotion and marketing took the attention of fruit growers attending today's sessions of the New York State Horticultural Society's eastern meeting in this city.

One Cornell University farm economist summed up the alternatives for fruit growers as "more sales or less apples," while another offered suggestions on increasing the purchases of apples.

Dr. Cameron Garman, in a talk early this afternoon, said the purchasing power of New York apples is lower now than it was during the 1930's. The estimated farm price of apples for the 1951 season in this state is farther below the average level of all farm prices than it has been at any time in the last 30 years, he said.

Admits Pessimism

Admitting his report was pessimistic, he said. "It sometimes takes a good dose of pessimism to prod us into doing some things that need to be done." He suggested that growers rid their orchards of unprofitable trees, blocks and varieties, and at the same time concentrate on stimulating demand for apples.

Dr. Max E. Brunk told the growers that the way in which retail stores display and sell apples has a direct bearing on the

Start Made Toward Finish Of Warplane Bottleneck

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—After more than five years of talk and argument, the United States government and industry are finally started toward breaking an important bottleneck in high speed production of warplanes — and catching up with a Russian technological lead.

The air force said today orders for 18 huge forging presses are under contract. These massive tools can turn out better parts for jet bombers and fighters far faster and at lower manpower and dollar cost than present processes.

But it will be two years or more before the new machines can be delivered to add to the handful of forging presses now in operation in the United States.

The forging presses appear to be part of bottlenecks in defense production criticized in a new report by a Senate-House mobilization "watchdog" committee. The committee blamed the Pentagon and various defense agencies for shortsightedness contributing to the tool shortage.

In answer to a reporter's questions about the committees criticism, a Defense Department spokesman said the department recognized machine tool shortages existed in the early stages of the production build-up.

But, he added, the point has been reached "where the bulk of

Common Council Assures Continuation Of Veterans' Housing—Safety Acts Passed

The Common Council legislated last night to assure continuation of the veterans' temporary housing project and enacted safety measures to protect children who will attend the George Washington School.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's suggestion that the city should take over the housing development only if the state fails to extend its deadline for responsibility to March 31, 1953, was adopted.

The mayor said in a letter to the aldermen that he had learned that legislation is pending in Albany to extend the time limit on the veterans housing projects in the state beyond the March 31, 1952 date recently announced.

"So far as I am concerned personally," the mayor's letter said, "I am opposed in principle to the city engaging in the real estate management business," but he also stressed that the veterans, if it is found necessary, should be allowed to continue living in the development built as an emergency stopgap and he would like to see the state continue its operation for another year.

Private enterprise, the mayor said, has provided a substantial number of housing units in the city. Several large developments are planned for this year, and he has also been assured by the Kingston Housing Authority that the 98-family development on Flatbush avenue will be finished by March 1, 1953.

Many veterans in the 52-family temporary project in the Loughran Park area, the mayor said, will be eligible for apartments in the new state-aided housing project and he would like to see the state remain in control until next year.

Other cities in the state, the mayor said, undoubtedly would like to see the state continue the temporary projects for another year, but he suggested that if the state legislature does not act to extend the time, "as much as we dislike and disapprove" engaging in the real estate management business, "it seems the duty of the city government to assume the obligation at least until the Kingston housing project is completed in 1953."

The traffic regulations approved by the council's traffic control committee and adopted by the al-

Beyof Tunis Is Warned About Riots

Ruler Is Told He Must Take Action — Has Sympathy With Arab Nationalists

50 Are Killed

Forty-four Natives, Six French Are Slain in Outbreaks

Tunis, Tunisia, Jan. 24 (AP)—The French delivered a stern warning today to the bey of Tunis demanding that he help restore order in this seething protectorate, where 10 days of rioting have claimed at least 50 lives.

Jean De Hauteclocque, the French resident general, called on the bey at his palace. The bey was told that unless he takes steps to avoid further bloodshed, the French will be compelled to take even stiffer military measures than are under way now.

The French rushed heavy reinforcements of gendarmes and troops int trouble spots throughout Tunisia, where Arab nationalists are clamoring for more independence from France.

Sympathetic to Demands

The bey, Sidi Mohamed Al Amin, has been sympathetic to the nationalist demands. Earlier in the week he had refused to see the resident general, pleading illness.

Official sources put the death toll in the more than a week of rioting at 44 Tunisians and six French killed. They said more than 150 Tunisians and 20 French were wounded.

Unconfirmed reports said 20 more Tunisians had been killed late yesterday in continued rioting at Moknine, 120 miles southeast of Tunis. Three French police were slain at Moknine.

Tunisian sources claimed two French police were killed in Tunis this morning. This was denied by the French, who said one Arab was killed during the night.

No New Outbreaks

The French reported no new outbreaks since dawn.

At Moknine Nationalists sacked a local police station and attacked gendarmerie barracks. A rescue force dispatched to the city clashed with the demonstrators, who suffered many casualties.

French sources said the situation was still obscure at Teboulba, about 150 miles south of Tunis. Dispatches last night said Teboulba was in the hands of "uncontrolled elements" and police would attempt to re-establish order there today. Seven Tunisians had been killed there in a clash that followed an attack on a French civilian.

Moknine and Menzel Bou Zelfa, also in the same general area as Teboulba, were tension spots. Yesterday 5,000 Nationalists attacked the police station and gendarmerie barracks at Moknine, killing three policemen. A gendarme lieutenant was killed near Manzel Bou Zelfa. Rioters burned the police post at Djenmal, west of Moknine.

Reds Accused Of Stall Game To Crack Allies

Raiding Parties Attack Red Defenses on West Front

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 24 (AP)—The United Nations command today accused the Communists of "playing the waiting game" in the Korean truce talks, hoping the allies will "capitulate out of sheer exasperation."

An official UN broadcast beamed to Korea from Tokyo said:

"Either the Reds have no intention of reaching an armistice and are merely killing time until their next offensive, or they have been instructed not to bargain on any point * * *.

"The latter alternative may be the truer one at this date."

The broadcast said the Reds' "waiting game" is "an overt admission from Communists leaders that right now they do not expect anything to happen."

As negotiators haggled fruitlessly over Korean truce terms Thursday, a UN delegate accused the Communists of planning to use sick and wounded prisoners as a lever to force allied acceptance of Red armistice terms.

Expression Is Asked

In an adjacent tent at Panmunjom, UN negotiators again asked the Communists to express "in simple terms" whether they intend to increase their air strength during an armistice.

Observers said phrasing of the question strengthened belief that the UN might accept an oral promise by the Reds not to construct or repair military airfields. Such a pledge would become part of the conferenec record, but would not be written into the armistice.

The issue of airfield construction has blocked agreement on how to police an armistice for weeks.

Neither subcommittee reported progress. Both scheduled meetings for 11 a. m. Friday (9 p. m. EST Thursday.)

Libby listed in detail allied objections to the Communist all-for-all prisoner exchange plan.

He told North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho the Red plan is an "out and out grab for military advantage" and denies individual prisoners "the right to exercise free choice with respect to repatriation."

Lee replied:

"Your proposal for voluntary repatriation is an attempt to tread down violently the rights of prisoners of war. Our stand conforms to Article 118 and Article Seven of the Geneva Convention. We insist on the unconditional release and repatriation of all men who held our army designation * * *."

Raids Are Staged

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 24 (AP)—Allied raiding parties ended the 19th month of the Korean war today with bold strikes into the Red defense line on the western front.

The heaviest fight was west of Chorwon where United Nations tanks and infantrymen fought for six hours Wednesday with Chinese entrenched on a hill.

The raiders struck again at 7:30 a. m. Thursday. The Chinese rained hand grenades down on the allies and opened up with heavy machinegun and rifle fire. The fight continued, the U. S. Eighth Army reported.

Another allied force hit the Chinese northwest of Korangpo in a pre-dawn raid. The Eighth Army said the raiders pulled back to their own lines after killing 20 Reds in an hour-long fight.

The frozen eastern and central fronts quieted after heavy allied

Widow, Children of Crash Pilot

Mrs. Henrietta Reid, widow of American Airlines pilot Thomas J. Reid who died when his plane crashed in a residential section of Elizabeth, N. J., holds her two children, Robin Lindsay, 18 months, and Randi Eileen, 3½, at their home four blocks from where the fatal crash occurred. At the time of the crash in which 28 died—Mrs. Reid was awaiting her husband's return to join in celebration of her mother's birthday.

Elizabeth Citizens to Hold Meeting of Indignation

Council President Says All Will Be Able to Voice Their Views

Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Local residents, furious over the two recent airliner disasters here, planned an "indignation meeting" for tonight to protest "their living in fear of fiery death from the skies."

The meeting was called by City Council President John C. Boyle one day after an American Airlines plane plunged into a residential area here, killing its 23 occupants and six others in their homes.

Only 37 days prior to Tuesday's air tragedy, this city of 112,000 was the scene of the crash of a Florida-bound, non-scheduled C-46 plane in which all 56 persons aboard perished.

At tonight's scheduled meeting, the townspeople will "have an opportunity to express openly their views about Newark Airport," Boyle said.

The plane involved in Tuesday's crash was headed for Newark Airport from Buffalo, N. Y. The nonscheduled plane which crashed in flames Dec. 16 had taken off from that same airport, which is just under three miles away.

Probes Demanded

Meanwhile, probes were demanded on local, state and federal levels into the recent crash and into the operation, location and proposed expansion of Newark Airport.

Committees of experts were set

Specialists Give Talks at Sessions at State Armory

Apple sales promotion and marketing took the attention of fruit growers attending today's sessions of the New York State Horticultural Society's eastern meeting in this city.

One Cornell University farm economist summed up the alternatives for fruit growers as "more sales or less apples," while another offered suggestions on increasing the purchases of apples.

Dr. Cameron Garman, in a talk early this afternoon, said the purchasing power of New York apples is lower now than it was during the 1930's. The estimated farm price of apples for the 1951 season in this state is farther below the average level of all farm prices than it has been at any time in the last 30 years, he said.

Admits Pessimism

Admitting his report was pessimistic, he said. "It sometimes takes a good dose of pessimism to prod us into doing some things that need to be done." He suggested that growers rid their orchards of unprofitable trees, blocks and varieties, and at the same time concentrate on stimulating demand for apples.

Dr. Max E. Brunk told the growers that the way in which retail stores display and sell apples has a direct bearing on the

Ulster Has 14,819 More Republicans Than Democrats

Enrollment figures compiled by the Ulster County Board of Elections show that Republicans outnumber Democrats in the city approximately three to one.

Tabulation for 1951 shows 4,938 enrolled Republicans and 1,518 Democrats in Kingston's 13 wards.

Election board figures show that in the 20 towns in the county, 17,051 Republicans enrolled, and this added to the city registration totals 21,989.

Democrats in the towns number 5,652, and this figure coupled with the city registration makes 7,170 for the entire county.

According to the records, there are 3,420 more Republicans in the city than Democrats, and 11,399 more GOP enrolees in the 20 towns of the county.

14,819 More in GOP

Considering city and town figures, there are 14,819 more Republicans in Ulster county than Democrats.

Total enrollment in all parties for the county was 42,267, the board of elections reported, and added that 13,000 voters failed to enroll in any party.

Enrolled voters in the city number 14,110 and the county figure is 28,157 for the 20 towns of the county.

In Kingston 13 enrolled as members of the Liberal party and 41 in the county for a total of 54 Liberals.

Seven Kingstonians signed in the American Labor party and 47 in the towns for a total of 54.

There are 13 wards in the city with 20 election districts and 20 towns in the county with 71 districts for a total of 91 election districts in the entire county of Ulster.

Common Council Assures Continuation Of Veterans' Housing—Safety Acts Passed

The Common Council legislated last night to assure continuation of the veterans' temporary housing project and enacted safety measures to protect children who will attend the George Washington School.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's suggestion that the city should take over the housing development only if the state fails to extend its deadline for responsibility to March 31, 1953, was adopted.

The mayor said in a letter to the aldermen that he had learned that legislation is pending in Albany to extend the time limit on the veterans housing projects in the state beyond the March 31, 1952 date recently announced.

"So far as I am concerned personally," the mayor's letter said, "I am opposed in principle to the city engaging in the real estate management business," but he also stressed that the veterans, if it is found necessary, should be allowed to continue living in the development built as an emergency stopgap and he would like to see the state continue its operation for another year.

Private enterprise, the mayor said, has provided a substantial number of housing units in the city. Several large developments are planned for this year, and he has also been assured by the Kingston Housing Authority that the 98-family development on Flatbush avenue will be finished by March 1, 1953.

Many veterans in the 52-family temporary project in the Loughran Park area, the mayor said, will be eligible for apartments in the new state-aided housing project and he would like to see the state remain in control until next year.

Other cities in the state, the mayor said, undoubtedly would like to see the state continue the temporary projects for another year, but he suggested that if the state legislature does not act to extend the time, "as much as we dislike and disapprove" engaging in the real estate management business, "it seems the duty of the city government to assume the obligation at least until the Kingston housing project is completed in 1953."

The traffic regulations approved by the council's traffic control committee and adopted by the al-

Start Made Toward Finish Of Warplane Bottleneck

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—After more than five years of talk and argument, the United States government and industry are finally started toward breaking an important bottleneck in high speed production of warplanes — and catching up with a Russian technological lead.

The air force said today orders for 18 huge forging presses are under contract. These massive tools can turn out better parts for jet bombers and fighters far faster and at lower manpower and dollar cost than present processes.

But it will be two years or more before the new machines can be delivered to add to the handful of forging presses now in operation in the United States.

The forging presses appear to be part of bottlenecks in defense production criticized in a new report by a Senate-House mobilization "watchdog" committee. The committee blamed the Pentagon and various defense agencies for shortsightedness contributing to the tool shortage.

In answer to a reporter's questions about the committees criticism, a Defense Department spokesman said the department recognized machine tool shortages existed in the early stages of the production build-up.

But, he added, the point has been reached "where the bulk of

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of beef and pork items were trimmed a few cents a pound in many stores this week. But the reductions were not uniform, and in most cases they applied to the relatively higher-cost cuts like sirloin and porterhouse steaks, beef rib roasts and pork loin roasts.

Other meats and poultry appeared to be holding about unchanged generally. Butter and eggs were mostly steady at retail, but dealers said storms were hampering collections in the midwest and might well result in a price uptrend by early next week.

In fresh produce, lettuce, carrots and new cabbage were getting a little cheaper as shipments from growing areas increased. Slightly lower also were escarole and endive, fresh peas, peppers and tomatoes. Grapefruit and tangerines were abundant and lower; snap beans and cucumbers edged up slightly.

Prices of white potatoes were rolled back to 5 to 10 per cent on Saturday at the farm level, and then the rollback was modified slightly by price stabilizers in response to producers' protests. Retail prices, however, have not yet been affected, and there may be further modifications in potato ceilings before the retail rollback, scheduled for January 28, is put into effect.

Little Unanimity

Week-end food specials advertised by major store chains and independents showed very little unanimity this week. They included steaks, beef roasts, pork lions, turkeys, loin lamb chops and lamb shoulders, roasting and frying chickens, sliced bacon, fresh and frozen fish, apples, tangerines, oranges, escarole and spinach.

The Agriculture Department stressed duck and prunes as mostplentiful foods for thrifty buying this week. Cold storage stocks of duck at the year-end totaled more than eight million pounds, the department said more than one-third larger than average for that date. The prune harvest last fall was well ahead of the previous year and dryers were able to save large stocks for after-season consumption and prices in most places are below year-ago levels.

At Atlantic City this week, the new president of the National Canners Association, Fred C. Heinz of Pittsburgh, said the price of canned foods has increased not more than 5 per cent in the past three years. He attributed this to efficient management and improved techniques in the face of rising costs.

Cost of Can Climbs

Heinz, who also is vice president of H. J. Heinz Co., said the cost of the can has climbed 22 per cent during that three-year period, the cost of food in the can has climbed an average of 6 per cent and the pay of the workers who prepare the food and put it in the cans has gone up 16 per cent.

One of the new food products discussed at the canners' meeting is a new concentrated canned orange juice which its makers say "retains the flavor, color and texture of the natural product and does not require refrigeration on the store shelf."

A. C. Ketzler, president of Bordon Products Co. of Chicago, said the canning process differs from conventional methods in that the juice is rapidly sterilized and cooled before it is sealed under sterile conditions in the can. The process was developed by Dr. William Martin of the James Dole Engineering Co. of Redwood City, Calif., and is similar to one which a Pacific coast concern is using to can whole milk for shipment to Alaska. Bordon Products plans to test-market the orange juice only in the midwest initially.

The California gray whale, now re-appearing in growing numbers along the Pacific Coast, has been considered extinct three different times in history.

Scholarships Are Announced for Vets' Children

The University of the State of New York announced today that 100 scholarships for children of deceased or disabled veterans will be available in 1952.

Applications and information regarding the scholarships are available at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street, Kingston.

Each of the scholarships will entitle the holder to up to $450 a year while in attendance in the day session of any approved college, junior college or university of his selection, located within the state.

To qualify for admission to the competition, the candidate must show evidence that he is a resident of New York state and shall have completed by June, 1952, an course. In addition, he or she must be either (1) a child of a soldier, sailor or marine who enlisted from this state and who died while serving in the armed forces of the U. S. or as a result thereof as determined by tthe Veterans Administration; or (2) a child of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine who was a citizen and resident of this state at the time of his death, or (3) a child of an honorably discharged disabled veteran of the U. S.

Competition for the scholarships will be based on the Regents scholarship examination to be held March 5 and 6, 1952, at approved secondary schools in the state.

Mother Is Accused

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Brooklyn mother has been accused of strangling her six-month-old child because the child's crying unnerved her. The mother, Mrs. Ann Shaps, 31, has been ill since the birth of the baby, Francine. Police quoted her as saying the child's cries disturbed her yesterday and she held her hand over its mouth until she noticed the infant had stopped breathing. Her husband, Ralph, a postoffice clerk, was at work. Mrs. Shaps, booked on a charge of homicide, will be arraigned today in Brooklyn felony court.

LIVING ROOM LULU'S

We'll be sorry to see this 2-pc. modern lounge suite go . . . rather fond of it, seeing it up near the advertising office for a year. (It's claimed squatter's rights). But we know it'll do wonders for your living room because it's covered in red silk damask with silk fringe base. Regularly 219.95, now $169.

We're looking forward to using the space for new merchandise when you take this regular 279.95 3-pc. modern rose and green suite of fine frieze off our hands. Out it goes for only a song. $229.

Our buyer's in a mad mood! He must be mad, for he practically gave this regular 329.95 modern suite of fine silk damask away at this price. Sofa and chair are in green, extra chair in gray. . . . Take it away before we burst into tears. $249.

This suite was ordered especially for the buyer's first cousin! Oh, those fickle relatives! They decided it wouldn't go with their color scheme after all . . . leaving us holding the bag, leaving you holding a bargain. This is a luxurious 329.50 suite of luxurious frieze. The sofa and chair are red and green, the extra chair is red. Only $269.

BEDROOM BEDLAM

All kittens, all puppies and all new merchandise are beautiful . . . but some of each always turn out to be mutts! Regardless, you can't help but like this rich walnut veneer modern bedroom with bed, dresser and vanity. Originally tagged at 179.95 . . . take it away, only $129.

FOR LAMP LOVERS

California or Florida aren't the only places you can pick up lemons cheap! Here are a few that are really ripe! A handsome bridge lamp or elegant china-base table lamp . . . regular 12.95 values. We have to dwindle our stock of lamps . . . so out they go at $7.95!

Gorgeous "summist" bedroom with chest and large dresser (and a bed, of coure). But this blonde should hide its head . . . it's a beautiful buy if you like blondes! . . . So in order to make this blonde suit yours, we're cutting the price from 199.50 to $139.

This lovely creature is allegedly responsible for one of our buyer's mistakes. Suffice it to say, his mind was not on business.

SPACE AND MONEY SAVERS

No bunk here! These well-made handsomely finished maple-tone bunk beds originially sold for 54.95. Now you get the 2 beds, complete with ladder and guard rail, for only $39.

This mattress couldn't be softer if it were filled with whipped cream, couldn't be much more durable if it were covered with your mother-in-law's pie crust, and as springy as the month of May. It's an expensive 180-coil innerspring mattress with durable ticking, in all standard sizes, sale priced at an $8.50 saving . . . only $21.

Around here there are good springs, bad springs, late springs and early springs. All poetry (?) aside, though, at U-F you'll find regular 13.95 coil springs with sturdy wire top in all standard sizes at a low, low 10.95.

We've sold dozen after dozen of these handsome innerspring studios of grey and wine tapestry at the regular price of 74.95 . . . but since we're down to the last one, we'll happily hand it over to the new owner for only $54.

Red is exciting! Red is warm! Red is gay! (Just look at a fire engine). Doesn't anybody want this gorgeous red silk damask studio (with rich moss edging) that originially sold for 84.50 at the ridiculously low price of $69.00?

The mother-in-law is liable to make an extended visit if word gets around that you have a lovely new 3-pc. maple sofabed (opens to sleep two) suite. So you buy this regular 129.95 sofabed suite at your own risk. Only 99.95.

CHAIRS! CHAIRS!

We looked and looked to find something wrong with these mahogany finish occasional armchairs in hunter green tapestry. And our Miss Sherlock found the answer . . . the only thing wrong was the $22.95 price . . . so out they go at the fabulously low price of $14.95.

They rolled out the barrel! That's just what happened here . . . we had a pair of these handsome barrel-type chairs until one was rolled out of here the first week on display (some inconsiderate housewife had room for only one) leaving this poor twin behind! It's a lovely chair with gold silk damask cover and rich mahogany-tone frame. We would hold out for the regular price of 59.95 . . . but the poor orphant is lonesome and wants a home . . . will you take it for only $39?

We simply adore this one! We've caressed it, fondled it, even tried to sell it, but nobody wants this handsome man-size innerspring chair of tan with matching ottoman at 69.95. So, we'll take the 20.95 loss! How's $49 sound? You'd better hurry in for it because it's a sample, no more at this price when it's gone. $49.

Since inventory time is breathing down our necks, we simply have to whittle our stock of gorgeous decorator lounge chairs! That's the reason why you can get this regular 119.95 lovely "T" cushion lounge chair of green frieze with full fringe base and moss trim at this smashing sale price. $79.95.

Just as easy as selling elephants in Africa! That's what we thought a year ago when we purchased a carload of these lovely wing-back occasional chairs of fine red damask with boucle trim. If they don't appeal to your budget conscious mind at the regular price of 39.95 . . . then how does 24.95 sound? Take 'em away!

We still have a few of these innerspring platform rockers with washable red plastic upholstery left after the Christmas rush . . . (We didn't say which Christmas). We sold them by the dozens at the regular price of 49.95. Since we need the space, we'll have to clear 'em out at 24.95.

Most people have a channel-back chair or two . . . but we noticed the other day that these eight channel-back chairs didn't have any people . . . so we got to feeling sorry for them . . . as well as ourselves. That's why you can get these 49.95 channel-back barrel-type chairs in fine damask with boucle trim at the low price of only $39.

Like weekend guests in July . . . these 89.95 channel-back chairs have really overstayed their welcome! Although they add to our floor display with their radiant elegance, we do need the room. You'll like the red frieze covering, the swivel TV base, the kick pleat skirt. Take it away at a fraction of its original cost, $69.

WHATCHAMACALLEMS

According to our esteemed buyer (one more like this, bucko, and back to the shipping room you go), these cricket-type boudoir chairs finished in maple should have walked off the floor at 16.95! We disagree with him . . . that's why we're slashing the price to 11.95 for final clearance.

If our buyer doesn't clear out his stock of tables in odd lots and broken styles he'll have a head to match! Take your pick of fine occasional mahogany veneer tables in many styles. They regularly sold for 19.95 . . . this weekend at U-F, 9.95.

Oh, you fickle public! These handsome walnut-finish student desks were a sell-out last year at 24.95. And now you don't want them. They're perfectly lovely, with rich hand-rubbed finish, center drawer and book space on the side, education, we're practically giving them away at 14.95.

All Sales Final and We Mean It! First Come . . . First to Save!

Merchandise manager saying a few choice words to buyers on their, excuse the expression, unfortunate selections.

Nothing as warm, as friendly, as charming as maple! It won it's way to the hearts of young homemakers long ago! And here's a solid maple china cabinet or hutch cabinet at a U-F sale price that'll win your heart (gotta romance the goods, our publicity director says). These cabinets are handsomely made to boast 109.95 price tags; this week at U-F only $79.

KITCHEN BEAUTS

No more sitting at your old maple or birch kitchen table on an uncomfortable wooden chair, pining away about your not being able to afford a new kitchen set! Perish the thought! Why, we have a group of perfectly gorgeous Duncan Phyfe and ultra-modern kitchen dinettes of gleaming chrome with abuse-resistant plastic tops and comfortable form-fitting chrome chairs covered in washable plastic that originally sold up to 99.95 . . . price slashed for this sale to save you 30.95. In modern red, gray or chartreuse only $69.

Any Irish in you? Then you'll warm to this smart modern 5-pc. kitchen dinette group with pedestal-type table with gay green plastic heat and acid-resistant top and four matching chrome frame chairs, upholstered in washable green plastic. Regular 119.95 dinette . . . out it goes for only $89.

Never a more striking color combination! Never a more ultra-modern style! Never such a dinette "buy!" This is a 5-pc. regular 129.95 group with pedestal-type table with red and grey abuse-resistant plastic top and deep aluminum skirt and four matching chairs, priced at $30 below list because, to tell you the truth, we could never find a customer at list price! Priced for final clearance; out it goes for only $99.

No hay here! This is straight from the horse's mouth! We don't want to give this handsome 5-pc. dinette group away (that's just what we're doing . . . skip down and gander at the price) because it's really a beauty! . . . It'll add to any kitchen because it has a Duncan Phyfe table of gleaming chrome with grey plastic top and four form-fitting chairs upholstered in yellow plastic! A 149.95 group sale priced at U-F, only $119.

We thought we had the 8th wonder of the world here . . . now we just wonder! Would you wander for a wonderful buy? Because that's just what this is! Listen . . . you get a pedestal-type base table with elegantly padded skirt and four matching chairs upholstered in 2-tone blue. A handsome group originally tagged at 159.95. . . . A real "blue ribbon" value at only $129.

BIG "BUYS" FOR JUNIOR

Do you still keep baby's clothes in a hat box? No need for that . . . not when you can get a perfectly lovely maple-finish chiffrobe that originally sold for 49.95 at $15 saving this weekend at U-F. Only 34.95!

A FEW "HOT" ONES

The government called them surplus! So do we! You've no idea how sick we are of looking at these de luxe Premier gas ranges! They have large ovens, four standard top burners and 30-inch divided top! A real "super-duper" buy at only 99.95.

Here's a Chef that'll do your work in a jiffy! Save you hours of time each week . . . yet not ask for a penny in wages! It's a Magic Chef de luxe 36" gas range with large fiber glass insulated oven, spacious storage compartment, roll-out broiler and four standard top burners. Marked down to 119.95 while they last.

You don't have to go up the St. Lawrence looking for Florence! She's right here at U-F . . . waiting for your selection! These de luxe Florence oil heaters will heat the average apartment (if you're lucky enough to have one) efficiently and economically. Check this list . . . select now and save!

COLD POTATOES

If you've read this far . . . then you deserve some sort of reward! Hush . . . here's a nationally advertised regular 319.95 Norge 9.0 cu. ft. family size refrigerator with across-the-top freezer with extra storage space on the door (and you know how handy this is). Take it away before we burst into tears. 259.95.

These waffle irons were supposed to sell like "hotcakes," according to our buyer. . . . (Being an old Army man, he must have referred to "G. I. hotcakes" . . . 'cause they went over with a thud!) They're perfectly wonderful buys! All brand new regular 8.95 values . . . take 'em away for only 5.95.

Here's a value that deserves a four gun salute! It's a General Electric automatic waffle iron . . . a regular 17.95 value. It has a gleaming chromed steel finish and indicator control dial. Out it goes at practically cost . . . 11.95.

"It looks like a nightmare to me, but they say it's ultra sauve . . . the thing you se in the very, very modern home. Well, at these prices I can learn to like it."

MAKE YOUR OWN BUDGET TERMS!

Take up to 18 months to pay on anything to get this stuff off our floors.

The jig is up! No more foolin' around (that's what the boss says). Christmas is over. . . . We've just got to get rid of these electric jig saws right now. We sold them by the dozens up to 14.95! Only a few left . . . yours for only 9.95.

If you're domestically inclined . . . then these Domestic sewing machines are just what you need! At Christmas we hemmed and hawed when we couldn't move these machines off the floor at the regular price. So take 'em away for a song! Regular 84.95 portable model, $74.95. Regular 172.95 console, 129.88.

Shhhhhhh!!!! We would have liked to set this item at the top of our page of values. We even wanted to set it in bold type. But we can't boast about it (scarce an item as it is) because it's a 6-pc. genuine Club Aluminum set, nationally advertised, and selling everywhere for 19.95! But because we have only a few sets left, down goes the price for this week only to . . . 13.97!

If we told our buyer once . . . we told him a thousand times. Keep your inventory of sandwich grilles low! But, Christmas was coming, and he was "order happy" so now he is overstocked. But what do you care. . . . Now you can save on regular 8.95 sandwich grilles U-F sale priced only 5.95.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of beef and pork items were trimmed a few cents a pound in many stores this week. But the reductions were not uniform, and in most cases they applied to the relatively higher-cost cuts like sirloin and porterhouse steaks, beef rib roasts and pork loin roasts.

Other meats and poultry appeared to be holding about unchanged generally. Butter and eggs were mostly steady at retail, but dealers said storms were hampering collections in the midwest and might well result in a price uptrend by early next week.

In fresh produce, lettuce, carrots and new cabbage were getting a little cheaper as shipments from growing areas increased. Slightly lower also were escarole and endive, fresh peas, peppers and tomatoes. Grapefruit and tangerines were abundant and lower; snap beans and cucumbers edged up slightly.

Prices of white potatoes were rolled back to 5 to 10 per cent on Saturday at the farm level, and then the rollback was modified slightly by price stabilizers in response to producers' protests. Retail prices, however, have not yet been affected, and there may be further modifications in potato ceilings before the retail rollback, scheduled for January 28, is put into effect.

Little Unanimity

Week-end food specials advertised by major store chains and independents showed very little unanimity this week. They included steaks, beef roasts, pork lions, turkeys, loin lamb chops and lamb shoulders, roasting and frying chickens, sliced bacon, fresh and frozen fish, apples, tangerines, oranges, escarole and spinach.

The Agriculture Department stressed duck and prunes as most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week. Cold storage stocks of duck at the year-end totaled more than eight million pounds, the department said, more than one-third larger than average for that date. The prune harvest last fall was well ahead of the previous year and dryers were able to save large stocks for after-season consumption and prices in most places are below year-ago levels.

At Atlantic City this week, the new president of the National Canners Association, Fred C. Heinz of Pittsburgh, said the price of canned foods has increased not more than 5 per cent in the past three years. He attributed this to efficient management and improved techniques in the face of rising costs.

Cost of Can Climbs

Heinz, who also is vice president of H. J. Heinz Co., said the cost of the can has climbed 22 per cent during that three-year period, the cost of food in the can has climbed an average of 6 per cent and the pay of the workers who prepare the food and put it in the cans has gone up 16 per cent.

One of the new food products discussed at the canners' meeting is a new concentrated canned orange juice which its makers say "retains the flavor, color and texture of the natural product and does not require refrigeration on the store shelf."

A. C. Ketzler, president of Bordon Products Co. of Chicago, said the canning process differs from conventional methods in that the juice is rapidly sterilized and cooled before it is sealed under sterile conditions in the can. The process was developed by Dr. William Martin of the James Dole Engineering Co. of Redwood City, Calif., and is similar to one which a Pacific coast concern is using to can whole milk for shipment to Alaska. Bordon Products plans to test-market the orange juice only in the midwest initially.

Extinct Three Times

The California gray whale, now re-appearing in growing numbers along the Pacific Coast, has been considered extinct three different times in history.

Scholarships Are Announced for Vets' Children

The University of the State of New York announced today that 100 scholarships for children of deceased or disabled veterans will be available in 1952.

Applications and information regarding the scholarships are available at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street, Kingston.

Each of the scholarships will entitle the holder to up to $450 a year while in attendance in the day session of any approved college, junior college or university of his selection, located within the state.

To qualify for admission to the competition, the candidate must show evidence that he is a resident of New York state and shall have completed by June, 1952, an course. In addition, he or she must be either (1) a child of a soldier, sailor or marine who enlisted from this state and who died while serving in the armed forces of the U. S. or as a result thereof as determined by tthe Veterans Administration; or (2) a child of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine who was a citizen and resident of this state at the time of his death, or (3) a child of an honorably discharged disabled veteran of the U. S.

Competition for the scholarships will be based on the Regents scholarship examination to be held March 5 and 6, 1952, at approved secondary schools in the state.

Mother Is Accused

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Brooklyn mother has been accused of strangling her six-month-old child because the child's crying unnerved her. The mother, Mrs. Ann Shaps, 31, has been ill since the birth of the baby, Francine. Police quoted her as saying the child's cries disturbed her yesterday and she held her hand over its mouth until she noticed the infant had stopped breathing. Her husband, Ralph, a postoffice clerk, was at work. Mrs. Shaps, booked on a charge of homicide, will be arraigned today in Brooklyn felony court.

Take 'em at any price!

Our buyers never make the same mistake twice . . . they make new ones. And there's nothing like pre-inventory time to say good riddance to floor samples, overstock items, one-of-a-kinds and merchandise that for one reason or another seem to think there's "no place like U-F" and don't want to leave us. But there's a price at which anything will sell . . . if the price is low enough . . . and that's what we're doing here. . . . So take your pick while they last at savings up to 60%! Come by bus, come by auto or shank's mare . . . but hurry to U-F! Use a U-F 18-month Budget Plan.

What did you think we're running, a museum . . . with this collection of floor samples, one-of-a-kind items, odd and broken lots? Get them out of here this week, at any price!

LIVING ROOM LULU'S

We'll be sorry to see this 2-pc. modern lounge suite go . . . rather fond of it, seeing it up near the advertising office for a year. (It's claimed squatter's rights). But we know it'll do wonders for your living room because it's covered in red silk damask with silk fringe base. Regularly 219.95, now $169.

We're looking forward to using the space for new merchandise when you take this regular 279.95 3-pc. modern rose and green suite of fine frieze off our hands. Out it goes for only a song. $229.

Our buyer's in a mad mood! He must be mad, for he practically gave this regular 329.95 modern suite of fine silk damask away at this price. Sofa and chair are in green, extra chair in gray. . . . Take it away before we burst into tears. $249.

This suite was ordered especially for the buyer's first cousin! Oh, those fickle relatives! They decided it wouldn't go with their color scheme after all . . . leaving us holding the bag, leaving you holding a bargain. This is a luxurious 329.50 suite of luxurious frieze. The sofa and chair are red and green, the extra chair is red. Only $269.

BEDROOM BEDLAM

All kittens, all puppies and all new merchandise are beautiful . . . but some of each always turn out to be mutts! Regardless, you can't help but like this rich walnut veneer modern bedroom with bed, dresser and vanity. Originally tagged at 179.95 . . . take it away, only $129.

FOR LAMP LOVERS

California or Florida aren't the only places you can pick up lemons cheap! Here are a few that are really ripe! A handsome bridge lamp or elegant china-base table lamp . . . regular 12.95 values. We have to dwindle our stock of lamps . . . so out they go at $7.95!

Gorgeous "sunmist" bedroom with chest and large dresser (and a bed, of coure). But this blonde should hide its head . . . it's a beautiful buy if you like blondes! . . . So in order to make this blonde suit yours, we're cutting the price from 199.50 to $139.

This lovely creature is allegedly responsible for one of our buyer's mistakes. Suffice it to say, his mind was not on business.

SPACE AND MONEY SAVERS

No bunk here! These well-made handsomely finished maple-tone bunk beds originally sold for 54.95. Now you get the 2 beds, complete with ladder and guard rail, for only $39.

This mattress couldn't be softer if it were filled with whipped cream, couldn't be much more durable if it were covered with your mother-in-law's pie crust, and as springy as the month of May. It's an expensive 180-coil innerspring mattress with durable ticking, in all standard sizes, sale priced at an $8.50 saving . . . only $21.

Around here there are good springs, bad springs, late springs and early springs. All poetry (?) aside, though, at U-F you'll find regular 13.95 coil springs with sturdy wire top in all standard sizes at a low, low 10.95.

We've sold dozen after dozen of these handsome innerspring studios of grey and wine tapestry at the regular price of 74.95 . . . but since we're down to the last one, we'll happily hand it over to the new owner for only $54.

Red is exciting! Red is warm! Red is gay! (Just look at a fire engine!). Doesn't anybody want this gorgeous red silk damask studio (with rich moss edging) that originially sold for 84.50 at the ridiculously low price of $69.00?

The mother-in-law is liable to make an extended visit if word gets around that you have a lovely new 3-pc. maple sofabed (opens to sleep two) suite. So you buy this regular 129.95 sofabed suite at your own risk. Only 99.95.

CHAIRS! CHAIRS!

We looked and looked to find something wrong with these mahogany finish occasional armchairs in hunter green tapestry. And our Miss Sherlock found the answer . . . the only thing wrong was the $22.95 price . . . so out they go at the fabulously low price of $14.95.

They rolled out the barrel! That's just what happened here . . . we had a pair of these handsome barrel-type chairs until one was rolled out of here the first week on display (some inconsiderate housewife had room for only one) leaving this poor twin behind! It's a lovely chair with gold silk damask cover and rich mahogany-tone frame. We would hold out for the regular price of 59.95 . . . but the poor orphant is lonesome and wants a home . . . will you take it for only $39?

We simply adore this one! We've caressed it, fondled it, even tried to sell it, but nobody wants this handsome man-size innerspring chair of tan with matching ottoman at 69.95. So, we'll take the 20.95 loss! How's $49 sound? You'd better hurry in for it because it's a sample, no more at this price when it's gone. $49.

Since inventory time is breathing down our necks, we simply have to whittle our stock of gorgeous decorator lounge chairs! That's the reason why you can get this regular 119.95 lovely "T" cushion lounge chair of green frieze with full fringe base and moss trim at this smashing sale price. $79.95.

Just as easy as selling elephants in Africa! That's what we thought a year ago when we purchased a carload of these lovely wing-back occasional chairs of fine red damask with boucle trim. If they don't appeal to your budget conscious mind at the regular price of 39.95 . . . then how does 24.95 sound? Take 'em away!

We still have a few of these innerspring platform rockers with washable red plastic upholstery left after the Christmas rush . . . (We didn't say which Christmas). We sold them by the dozens at the regular price of 49.95. Since we need the space, we'll have to clear 'em out at 24.95.

Most people have a channel-back chair or two . . . but we noticed the other day that these eight channel-back chairs didn't have any people . . . so we got to feeling sorry for them . . . as well as ourselves. That's why you can get these 49.95 channel-back barrel-type chairs in fine damask with boucle trim at the low price of only $39.

Like weekend guests in July . . . these 89.95 channel-back chairs have really overstayed their welcome! Although they add to our floor display with their radiant elegance, we do need the room. You'll like the red frieze covering, the swivel TV base, the kick pleat skirt. Take it away at a fraction of its original cost, $69.

WHATCHAMACALLEMS

According to our esteemed buyer (one more like this, bucko, and back to the shipping room you go), these cricket-type boudoir chairs finished in maple should have walked off the floor at 16.95! We disagree with him . . . that's why we're slashing the price to 11.95 for final clearance.

If our buyer doesn't clear out his stock of tables in odd lots and broken styles he'll have a head to match! Take your pick of fine occasional mahogany veneer tables in many styles. They regularly sold for 19.95 . . . this weekend at UF. 9.95.

Oh, you fickle public! These handsome walnut-finish student desks were a sell-out last year at 24.95. And now you don't want them. They're perfectly lovely, with rich hand-rubbed finish, center drawer and book space on the side, education, we're practically giving them away at 14.95.

All Sales Final and We Mean It! First Come . . . First to Save!

Merchandise manager saying a few choice words to buyers on their, excuse the expression, unfortunate selections.

Nothing as warm, as friendly, as charming as maple! It won it's way to the hearts of young homemakers long ago! And here's a solid maple china cabinet or hutch cabinet at a U-F sale price that'll win your heart (gotta romance the goods, our publicity director says). These cabinets are handsomely made to boast 109.95 price tags; this week at U-F only $79.

KITCHEN BEAUTS

No more sitting at your old maple or birch kitchen table on an uncomfortable wooden chair, pining away about your not being able to afford a new kitchen set! Perish the thought! Why, we have a group of perfectly gorgeous Duncan Phyfe and ultra-modern kitchen dinettes of gleaming chrome with abuse-resistant plastic tops and comfortable form-fitting chrome chairs covered in washable plastic that originally sold up to 99.95 . . . price slashed for this sale to save you 30.95. In modern red, gray or chartreuse only $69.

Any Irish in you? Then you'll warm to this smart modern 5-pc. kitchen dinette group with pedestal-type table with gay green plastic heat and acid-resistant top and four matching chrome frame chairs, upholstered in washable green plastic. Regular 110.95 dinette . . . out it goes for only $89.

Never a more striking color combination! Never a more ultra-modern style! Never such a dinette "buy!" This is a 5-pc. regular 129.95 group with pedestal-type table with red and grey abuse-resistant plastic top and deep aluminum skirt and four matching chairs, priced at $30 below list because, to tell you the truth, we could never find a customer at list price! Priced for final clearance; out it goes for only $99.

No hay here! This is straight from the horse's mouth! We don't want to give this handsome 5-pc. dinette group away (that's just what we're doing . . . skip down and gander at the price) because it's really a beauty! . . . It'll add to any kitchen because it has a Duncan Phyfe table of gleaming chrome with grey plastic top and four form-fitting chairs upholstered in yellow plastic! A 149.95 group sale priced at U-F, only $119.

We thought we had the 8th wonder of the world here . . . now we just wonder! Would you wander for a wonderful buy? Because that's just what this is! Listen . . . you get a pedestal-type base table with elegantly padded skirt and four matching chairs upholstered in 2-tone blue. A handsome group originally tagged at 159.95. . . . A real "blue ribbon" value at only $129.

BIG "BUYS" FOR JUNIOR

Do you still keep baby's clothes in a hat box? No need for that . . . not when you can get a perfectly lovely maple-finish chiffo-robe that originally sold for 49.95 at $15 saving this weekend at U-F. Only 34.95!

A FEW "HOT" ONES

Shhhhhhh!!!! We would have liked to set this item at the top of our page of values. We even wanted to set it in bold type. But we can't boast about it (scarce an item as it is) because it's a 6-pc. genuine Club Aluminum set, nationally advertised, and selling everywhere for 19.95! But because we have only a few sets left, down goes the price for this week only to . . . 13.97!

If we told our buyer once . . . we told him a thousand times. Keep your inventory of sandwich grilles low! But, Christmas was coming, and he was "order happy" so now he is overstocked. But what do you care. . . . Now you can save on regular 8.95 sandwich grilles U-F sale priced only 5.95.

Central Hudson Is Facing Shortage In Expansion

Officials of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation today expressed a growing concern over the critical materials shortage—copper, steel and aluminum—which threatens expansion plans of the electric power industry, nationally and in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Central Hudson plans to break ground on a second 60,000 kilowatt steam station at Danskammer Point this spring and "delays in deliveries of equipment due to the shortage of materials" could alter the utility company's plan for completion of the project by mid-1954. Central Hudson's power expansion plan is part of the national electric industry's program to meet defense and civilian requirements and this need can be met only "if necessary materials are made available."

The electric power industry "has planned adequately for the future, to care for the strains of an American peace-time economy geared for both defense and civilian needs. However, this planning will go for naught if we are forced to readjust our sights to a slow-down resulting from lack of materials allocation," the utility company asserted.

Cites Bottleneck

George M. Gadsby, president of the Edison Electric Institute, said that the electric industry "is straining against a bottleneck of the flow of critical materials to the manufacturers of heavy equipment for power generating stations.

"The budget for the electric industry in 1952 for expansion is $2,750,000,000, although delays in delivery of equipment and fabricating steel are expected to reduce actual expenditures considerably. Steel, copper and aluminum delays might cut in half the scheduled expansion of steam generating plants in 1952."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 24, 1952

TRUMAN ENJOYS SPECULATION

President Truman is in the position President Roosevelt was in during early 1940, when a nation speculated whether he intended to seek a third term. Mr. Truman obviously is enjoying greatly the puzzlement of press and public over his presidential plans.

The day hardly goes by without "informed" declarations on both sides of the question. A congressman emerges from the White House to report the President's statement that he "never quits" anything he undertakes.

This is promptly interpreted as a sign he is determined to run again.

Then a reporter who says he has talked to someone who ought to know asserts flatly that Mr. Truman has irrevocably made up his mind to retire next January. He even goes on to name the President's choice as a successor, and supplies details.

The President himself is not a deep thinker, for all his avowed love of history and biography. He chafes under the necessity for dealing with heavy subjects laden with figures and other abstractions.

But thrust him into the middle of this kind of speculation, with its inevitable good-natured banter, and he is happy. His news conferences show plainly he regards this as his meat.

We don't get much solid information from these little seances. Mr. Truman does not intend that we should.

For instance, about all we learned for sure a week or so ago was that he would make his decision regardless of the identity of the Republican nominee. Up to now, the wise men have been saying he was most likely to run if Senator Taft were his opponent.

One other hard nugget has recently been mined. A new name has been tossed in as a possible successor. It is that of Governor Adlai Stevenson, one-term governor of Illinois.

Stevenson's Democratic regime has been rated a smashing success. He won election by the largest margin ever given a governor candidate in Illinois. Recently he announced for re-election, and then astounded political circles by inviting Republicans to put up the strongest possible opponent—so the people would win any event.

From several quarters the report now comes that Stevenson is the President's current favorite to replace him. The argument runs that Chief Justice Vinson is his No. 1 choice, but that many circumstances work against his availability.

Stevenson is theoretically available, has a good foreign affairs background, and apparently no outstanding handicaps as a candidate, except perhaps limited fame.

Maybe the firmness of the Stevenson rumors is a real sign of presidential intentions. But actually it's pretty foolish to try to guess his plans.

Indulging in this cat-and-mouse game may be exactly what he wants press and public to do at this time.

It might be a better story if the reporters disappointed Mr. Truman by not asking him for two or three weeks what he is going to do. In anger at being cheated of his weekly contest, he might disclose some real information.

Prejudice is outmoded by knowledge, as the candle by the electric light.

The Tercentenary Committee on Home Grounds Beautification expresses its delight that the snow is keeping the thousands of tulip bulbs snug and warm in the ground. The committee would like to hear from residents as to the number they planted so we may be able to judge the total. The growers and retailers might also have time to give the numbers sold so that the committee can have a double check. Send a postal to the Kingston Chamber of Commerce stating the number of tulips planted.

A family adviser says that nagging is merely the evidence of an efficiency expert at work. One of the first problems, if the nagging is to be efficient, is to get the person nagged to see it in that light.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

TOTAL LOSS

Great problems are not lightly solved nor do the slogans that drive men to blind acceptance of postulates save us from error.

Ours is a time when events course by so madly that few stand their ground stubbornly against the sea of troubles. We seem to leap from incident to incident. Suddenly there is a new emergency and men die. Since 1914, great empires have collapsed and nations hardly known then are now world problems.

I never saw all this stated more accurately than in George F. Kennan's study, "American Diplomacy, 1900-1950." Kennan is to be our ambassador to Soviet Russia where he will have the advantage over many of his predecessors, at least, of knowing the language and having a knowledge of the people and country. This is what he wrote:

"I would like first to say a word about the total result of these two world wars in Europe. These wars were fought at the price of some tens of millions of lives, of untold physical destruction, of the destruction of the balance of forces on the continent—at the price of rendering western Europe dangerously, perhaps fatefully, vulnerable to Soviet power. Both wars were fought, really, with a view of changing Germany: to correcting her behavior, to making the Germans something different from what they were. Yet, today, if one were offered the chance of having back again the Germany of 1913—a Germany run by conservative but relatively moderate people, no Nazis and no Communists, a vigorous Germany, united and unoccupied, full of energy and confidence, able to play a part again in the balancing-off of Russian power in Europe—well, there would be objections to it from many quarters, and it wouldn't make everybody happy; but in many ways it wouldn't sound so bad, in comparison with our problems of today. Now, think what this means. When you tally up the total score of the two wars, in terms of their ostensible objective, you find that if there has been any gain at all, it is pretty hard to discern."

This is not hindsight, certainly not as it applies to World War II. Many warned of the dangers of that enterprise. Such men as Herbert Hoover, Hugh Gibson, Charles Lindbergh, and even this writer, cautioned, before and during that war, against the perils of opening the door to the Russians by destroying the Germans and the Japanese.

We were called Fascists in those days. Yet, the course of events have proved beyond doubt, as Kennan says, that the gains, the advantages, the benefits of these wars are difficult to discern. Actually, there were none. Those wars have proved to be a total loss to civilization.

The question then arises, why otherwise sound persons never see the perils in their own decisions. Perhaps one answer is that without a grounding in history, too many are guided by the angers of the moment. It is like that swift madness that drives a man to destroy his home and family over a trifling quarrel with his wife which the provident person would resolve by understanding and weighing of consequences.

Hitler was an abhorrent personality, but before Hitler, it was possible to meet a defeated Germany with understanding. It was proposed during World War I to hang the Kaiser; out of that slogan came Hitler, and his successor is Stalin. And we are still in the course of a war with no end in sight.

Our problem is today, as it has been since 1914, to discover a formula for saving our civilization. We have tried war, appeasement, charity, diplomacy, the League of Nations, the United Nations.

These efforts have failed. The proof of their failure is that we are still at war. True, the battles for the moment have been localized, but the preparations are for a general war. All sides are engaged in such preparations as prevent the stabilization of domestic economies and the restoration of normal living among the people.

Perhaps the cure is a return to nationalism, to each country working out its own problems, each nation forming such agreements with others as prove beneficial without an acceptance of the doctrine of the world state, even in such a modified form as the United Nations.

The probability is that the human mind is not yet ready for Heaven on earth and, in the attempt to achieve it, only war and confusion are produced. Surely, this is a time to revalue the accomplishments since 1914.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HASTENING PATIENT'S RECOVERY

A patient suffering with an attack of coronary thrombosis was told by his physician that he would have to remain in bed for four to six weeks and as patient's means were limited, the physician advised him to remain in his own bed at home. Because he was not suffering any pain and the physician did not think it was necessary to make any visits, the family became impatient with his frequent wants and did not hurry themselves to answer his calls promptly. The patient, who had always been a healthy individual, seldom sick, began to feel that he was neglected, not considered really sick by the family and when his four weeks in bed expired, said he needed more rest. During these extra weeks in bed, he brooded about finances, his inability to work and earn a living, but mostly because his family had let him down in thinking he was not really sick.

The physician gradually learned what was troubling him and advised the family that while his heart was rested, his depression of spirits was taking the fight out of him and they should try to help him.

How can the sick patient slowly recovering be helped toward a more rapid convalescence?

Dr. Edwin S. Burdell, president of Cooper Union, New York city (a non-profit organization), told the graduating nurses of Overlook Hospital, Summit, N. J., that "helping the patient to fulfill four basic wishes—for adventure, for security, for friendly responses from others, and for recognition of his achievements—is part of the getting-well process....Regaining use of an injured leg, in perhaps learning to walk again, is exciting; and getting back to family, job or school can be a great adventure. The need for security is also universal. We need assurance that the cries of old age, illness and housing will be survived. Likewise the patient must have confidence in his medical treatment and confidence that his family, fellow workers or fellow students will accept him with whatever limitations (or defects) may result from his illness or injury. The patient must feel accepted, wanted, understood."

Finally, the patient must be made to feel that he will recover and he must have personal recognition for enduring his long illness. If given full credit for his battle with sickness, he will be less inclined to blame himself for having been a burden and expense to his family, an attitude that would delay his recovery.

While it may be cruel to be really kind in some cases, as the patient leans on his illness for attention, we should remember that all the sick or injured are really "mental" patients and need these four basic wishes fulfilled—adventure, security, friendly responses from others, recognition of achievements.

"Fill 'Er Up, Please"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Beneath the surface, the Democratic Party is experiencing some of the most important realigments in 30 years. Leaders are dickering, jockeying, trading for position. There is a restless ferment in the air not seen among Democrats in a generation.

Beneath the ferment, of course, is a race to the throne—as an old monarch totters.

It is a race that is beginning to split the party up as never since the Al Smith-McAdoo Catholic-Protestant struggle at the Democratic convention of 1924. And it has developed into a race not only between the monarch and his nobility but between the nobility themselves.

Here is how the struggle stacks up to date:

Truman's Strategy—Is based upon the monarch's right to put a princeling of his own choosing on the throne. To that end his strategy is to control each state delegation until he is ready to anoint the head of his successor. That is why ex-Sen. Robert Bulkley, 72 years old and not even remotely a candidate, will run as Ohio's favorite son in an attempt to control the Ohio delegation. That's also why Sen. Hubert Humphrey, though not a candidate, will run as Minnesota's favorite son to control the Minnesota delegation—and so on.

Then, just before the convention, these favorite sons will switch their support to the anointed princeling of Truman's choosing.

Restless Nobility — Meanwhile, some of the dukes, earls, viscounts and barons around the White House are getting impatient. While they will support Truman if he runs again, they don't like the idea of waiting too long to pick the crown prince.

Among these restless nobles are popular Governor Paul Devers of Massachusetts; Mennen "Soapy" Williams, the energetic governor of Michigan; and Sid McMath, the shrewd anti-Dixiecrat governor of Arkansas. They have been angling with Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to form a new palace guard and pick the successor before the Duke of Tennessee, Estes Kefauver, garners too many delegates.

Kefauver's Strategy — Meanwhile they are quite right about the Duke of Tennessee. He has really been making hay. Not content to have Truman capture the Ohio delegates through favorite-son Bulkley, Kefauver is challenging Truman in Ohio, and will challenge him elsewhere. The Tennessee senator is attracting volunteer Democratic leaders all over the country like Tennesse molasses attracts flies, and will probably end up with Gael Sullivan, former executive director of the Democratic National Committee, as his campaign manager. He is easily the most potent threat to both Truman and the Republicans today.

Truman's Crown Prince—The man upon whom the President is reported ready to bestow the divine right of succession is Governor Stevenson of Illinois, an able man. When the three northern governors sounded out Adlai, he was aloof, declined to team up, indicated that the monarch had a right to pick his own princeling.

The Prince of Connecticut—One of the ablest members of the Senate and a close friend of the President, Sen. Brien McMahon, is doing some presidential stalking on his own, probably with the idea of ending up on the vice-presidential end of the ticket.

The Duke of Texas—Modest Sam Rayburn is probably the last man to think of himself as a candidate. However, the speaker's friends are doing a lot of thinking and planning for him, the most ardent rooters being Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Congressman John McCormack of Massachusetts.

The Earl of Kentucky—Vice President Barkley is lying low, saying little. However, some of his friends, led by Senate Secretary Les Biffle, believe that if the Democratic convention faces a deadlock, the party will turn—despite his age—to the old stalwart, who has made more Jefferson-Jackson Day speeches than any other man in history—Alben Barkley.

Such is the novel and healthy jockeying for position in a party where for 20 years almost no one dared challenge the divine right of the monarch to succeed himself.

Kefauver Shows He Thinks Party Should Decide Presidential Candidate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 24—At least one man of prominence in the Democratic party believes that the nomination for the presidency should be decided by the people and not by the man who happens to be President.

When Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee announced that he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency and that he was nobody's "stalking horse," he became the first Democratic aspirant who wasn't asking Mr. Truman's consent to run or making promises that he will retire from the race if the President says he wants renomination.

Mr. Kefauver's pronouncement is "the exception that proves the rule." The mere fact that there are no others who have done likewise underlines the curious situation in which the majority party in the last four presidential elections finds itself.

Theoretically, the members of the Democratic party are free from coercion. Theoretically, there is no dictator in the party who says who may be nominated. But actually the officeholders and the political machines are so beholden to Mr. Truman that they do not dare to say openly that perhaps someone else should be chosen.

Those men who might be candidates hesitate for fear they might offend Mr. Truman and fail later to gain any of the delegations which he may indirectly or directly control in the event that he ultimately decides not to run. Hence the courageous action of Senator Kefauver in defying all precedents and tradition, insofar as party organization practice is concerned, is all the more commendable.

Mr. Kefauver is, of course, disliked by most of the big political machines, especially in the large cities. Though a Democrat himself, he fearlessly turned the spotlight on some of the big Democratic party machines and showed their relationship to the gamblers and racketeers. For this he has incurred the everlasting enmity of the political organizations concerned. But perhaps by the same token he has won more than enough political support to offset that kind of opposition.

If there were a nation-wide presidential preference primary, as Woodrow Wilson recommended to Congress in February, 1913, when he was president-elect, the people as a whole would have a voice in nominating a president.

There are such primaries in 14 states, but they cover only half the number of delegates and the results of primaries are not binding because of state laws permitting different choices at the convention itself.

The evils of a system whereby the president may control his own renomination were denounced by Woodrow Wilson, but the Democratic party in subsequent years never enacted his proposal.

"It is intolerable," wrote Mr. Wilson in 1913, "that any president should be permitted to determine who should succeed him—himself or another—by patronage or coercion, or by any sort of control of the machinery by which delegates to the nominating convention are chosen.

"There ought never to be another presidential nominating convention; and there need never be another. Several of the states have successfully solved that difficulty with regard to the choice of their governors, and federal law can solve it in the same way with regard to the choice of presidents. The nominations should be made directly by the people at the polls."

The announcement by Senator Kefauver that he will enter some of the state primaries is in itself a challenge to the President. Mr. Kefauver has voted more times with his party on important issues than against it. He is independent-minded and won his election to the Senate by defeating in the primary race in Tennessee the candidate of a Memphis political machine which in all previous campaigns had dominated the elections. So Senator Kefauver really is trying again to win by taking on this time the political machines in several states.

It will be an interesting sidelight on the 1952 campaign to see how skillfully the machines and office holders who are controlled by the administration will seek to prevent the Kefauver candidacy from getting anywhere. Already candidates have been entered by the administration to attempt to block Kefauver. It serves only to emphasize that state primaries need run-off provisions so that the top two can decide the issue and so that the total vote cannot be split into pieces by candidates who are obviously "stalking horses" for political bosses who seek to control the balloting at the national convention.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Luxembourg—Some dignitaries of our State Department think Madam Perle Mesta's social conduct at the miniature court of Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg is politically grotesque and a discredit to our diplomatic service. Although I have supped at Madam the Minister's board, I will have to say I think so, too. There is a painful personal question in such situations as to whether the kindness of the host puts a journalist under an obligation. I am confident Mrs. Mesta had no desire to restrict me by her hospitality, which is more than anyone ever could say of the Roosevelts with their chicken wing and potato salad soirees for the inkstained wretches of the fourth estate in the early days of their long regime and I rather suspect that she caught in my eye at times the same skeptical look that I caught at times in hers as we came to points on which we never can agree.

Madam the Minister is the rich widow of a Pittsburgh steel manufacturer. She originally came from Oklahoma and her father, who founded a fortune in the oil boom, was a hard-fisted individualist who worked some of his roughnecks four or five years without paid vacations. She thought this was terrible and used to butt into the old man's affairs by authorizing this or that brooding character to take a week or two off with pay. She said this as though there were some divine authority for the proposition that an employer owes an employe lagniappe, which under recent enlargements has come to include baby benefits in situations which a boss obviously cannot decently be a responsible party to, paid free time for voting in elections to confiscate the employer's lawful property and pensions over and above the Social Security to which the boss already pays substantial contributions.

Mrs. Mesta is a typical political bigot who cannot understand that a boss has no legitimate obligation to pay a worker or loafer a single cent more than the stated terms of their mutual contract and who believes that a boss is a dirty rat because he is an employer and therefore ought to be robbed as a matter of plain justice. She said she had thought things out and had come to the conclusion that workers needed unions to protect them from exploitation by brutal bosses, but when I asked who was going to protect them from the Daniel Tobins, Dave Dubinskys and Walter Reuthers she said, "well, labor is not perfect yet, you know, and Rome was not made in a day, you know, and we all make mistakes, don't we?"

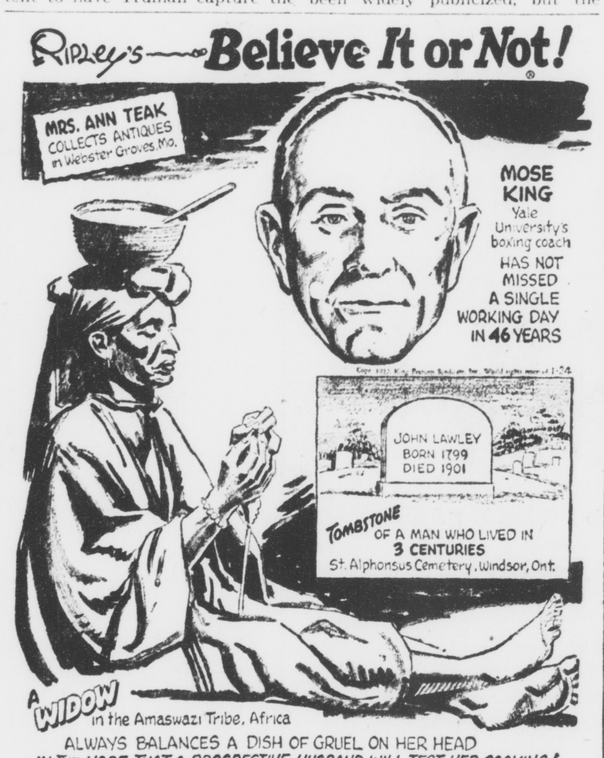

Perle threw in with that earlier counterfeit, Wendell Willkie, before she decided that Harry Truman was a great American and snatched the tailboard of his whistlestop special in 1948. I had not heard that even earlier she had been a friend of the Calvin Coolidges, but she said she used to breakfast at the White House with the strong silent man and still regarded Grace Coolidge as one of her dear friends.

On the general subject of the Washington cocktail or dinner party, which is the foulest vulgarity in the social history of the American capital, with judges, commissioners and cheap widows on the make and blackmailing columnists snuffling and squealing at the trough in a turmoil together, she said she thought a girl might be performing useful patriotic service in bringing together prominent men on strong divergent views so that they could learn that their opponents did not actually wear horns, which was a naive slip of the tongue because the swine never do.

It was India Edwards, a formidable female Honest John of the Democratic Party, who first had the idea of sending Perle to Luxembourg, and it took some heckling to persuade Madam Minister to take the job. But after long thought she decided she could do some good for her countrymen by lifting herself out of the turbulent Washington scene and spreading sweetness, light and calories in a new locale.

Pursuant to this decision, Madam Minister had an inspiration when on her return from a drive on a Sunday afternoon to "meet the Luxembourg people in their homes" she found three American soldiers on the steps of her official mansion who wanted to meet the minister. Mrs. Mesta invited them in and this was the

Q—What is the origin of the Christmas-tree ceremony?

A—Its exact origin is unknown. One legend says that St. Boniface, English missionary to Germany in the eighth century, designated a small fir a holy tree after he had felled an oak, long an object of pagan worship. He declared the fir was the wood of peace, and because its leaves were evergreen, the sign of an endless life.

Q—Where was the original home of the rubber industry?

TRUMAN ENJOYS SPECULATION

President Truman is in the position President Roosevelt was in during early 1940, when a nation speculated whether he intended to seek a third term. Mr. Truman obviously is enjoying greatly the puzzlement of press and public over his presidential plans.

The day hardly goes by without "informed" declarations on both sides of the question. A congressman emerges from the White House to report the President's statement that he "never quits" anything he undertakes.

This is promptly interpreted as a sign he is determined to run again.

Then a reporter who says he has talked to someone who ought to know asserts flatly that Mr. Truman has irrevocably made up his mind to retire next January. He even goes on to name the President's choice as a successor, and supplies details.

The President himself is not a deep thinker, for all his avowed love of history and biography. He chafes under the necessity for dealing with heavy subjects laden with figures and other abstractions.

But thrust him into the middle of this kind of speculation, with its inevitable good-natured banter, and he is happy. His news conferences show plainly he regards this as his meat.

We don't get much solid information from these little seances. Mr. Truman does not intend that we should.

For instance, about all we learned for sure a week or so ago was that he would make his decision regardless of the identity of the Republican nominee. Up to now, the wise men have been saying he was most likely to run if Senator Taft were his opponent.

One other hard nugget has recently been mined. A new name has been tossed in as a possible successor. It is that of Governor Adlai Stevenson, one-term governor of Illinois.

Stevenson's Democratic regime has been rated a smashing success. He won election by the largest margin ever given a governor candidate in Illinois. Recently he announced for re-election, and then astounded political circles by inviting Republicans to put up the strongest possible opponent—so the people would win any event.

From several quarters the report now comes that Stevenson is the President's current favorite to replace him. The argument runs that Chief Justice Vinson is his No. 1 choice, but that many circumstances work against his availability.

Stevenson is theoretically available, has a good foreign affairs background, and apparently no outstanding handicaps as a candidate, except perhaps limited fame.

Maybe the firmness of the Stevenson rumors is a real sign of presidential intentions. But actually it's pretty foolish to try to guess his plans.

Indulging in this cat-and-mouse game may be exactly what he wants press and public to do at this time.

It might be a better story if the reporters disappointed Mr. Truman by not asking him for two or three weeks what he is going to do. In anger at being cheated of his weekly contest, he might disclose some real information.

Prejudice is outmoded by knowledge, as the candle by the electric light.

The Tercentenary Committee on Home Grounds Beautification expresses its delight that the snow is keeping the thousands of tulip bulbs snug and warm in the ground. The committee would like to hear from residents as to the number they planted so we may be able to judge the total. The growers and retailers might also have time to give the numbers sold so that the committee can have a double check. Send a postal to the Kingston Chamber of Commerce stating the number of tulips planted.

TOTAL LOSS

Great problems are not lightly solved nor do the slogans that drive men to blind acceptance of postulates save us from error.

Ours is a time when events course by so madly that few stand their ground stubbornly against the sea of troubles. We seem to leap from incident to incident. Suddenly there is a new emergency and men die. Since 1914, great empires have collapsed and nations hardly known then are now world problems.

I never saw all this stated more accurately than in George F. Kennan's study, "American Diplomacy, 1900-1950." Kennan is to be our ambassador to Soviet Russia where he will have the advantage over many of his predecessors, at least, of knowing the language and having a knowledge of the people and country. This is what he wrote:

"I would like first to say a word about the total result of these two world wars in Europe. These wars were fought at the price of some tens of millions of lives, of untold physical destruction, of the destruction of the balance of forces on the continent—at the price of rendering western Europe dangerously, perhaps fatefully, vulnerable to Soviet power. Both wars were fought, really, with a view of changing Germany; to correcting her behavior, to making the Germans something different from what they were. Yet, today, if one were offered the chance of having back again the Germany of 1913—a Germany run by conservative but relatively moderate people, no Nazis and no Communists, a vigorous Germany, united and unoccupied, full of energy and confidence, able to play a part again in the balancing-off of Russian power in Europe—well, there would be objections to it from many quarters, and it wouldn't make everybody happy; but in many ways it wouldn't sound so bad, in comparison with our problems of today. Now, think what this means. When you tally up the total score of the two wars, in terms of their ostensible objective, you find that if there has been any gain at all, it is pretty hard to discern."

This is not hindsight, certainly not as it applies to World War II. Many warned of the dangers of that enterprise. Such men as Herbert Hoover, Hugh Gibson, Charles Lindbergh, and even this writer, cautioned, before and during that war, against the perils of opening the door to the Russians by destroying the Germans and the Japanese.

We were called Fascists in those days. Yet, the course of events have proved beyond doubt, as Kennan says, that the gains, the advantages, the benefits of these wars are difficult to discern. Actually, there were none. Those wars have proved to be a total loss to civilization.

The question then arises, why otherwise sound persons never see the perils in their own decisions. Perhaps one answer is that without a grounding in history, too many are guided by the angers of the moment. It is like that swift madness that drives a man to destroy his home and family over a trifling quarrel with his wife which the provident person would resolve by understanding and weighing of consequences.

Hitler was an abhorrent personality, but before Hitler, it was possible to meet a defeated Germany with understanding. It was proposed during World War I to hang the Kaiser; out of that slogan came Hitler, and his successor is Stalin. And we are still in the course of a war with no end in sight.

Our problem is today, as it has been since 1914, to discover a formula for saving our civilization. We have tried war, appeasement, charity, diplomacy, the League of Nations, the United Nations.

These efforts have failed. The proof of their failure is that we are still at war. True, the battles for the moment have been localized, but the preparations are for a general war. All sides are engaged in such preparations as prevent the stabilization of domestic economies and the restoration of normal living among the people.

Perhaps the cure is a return to nationalism, to each country working out its own problems, each nation forming such agreements with others as prove beneficial without an acceptance of the doctrine of the world state, even in such a modified form as the United Nations.

The probability is that the human mind is not yet ready for Heaven on earth and, in the attempt to achieve it, only war and confusion are produced. Surely, this is a time to revalue the accomplishments since 1914.

HASTENING PATIENT'S RECOVERY

A patient suffering with an attack of coronary thrombosis was told by his physician that he would have to remain in bed for four to six weeks and as patient's means were limited, the physician advised him to remain in his own bed at home. Because he was not suffering any pain and the physician did not think it was necessary to make any visits, the family became impatient with his frequent wants and did not hurry themselves to answer his calls promptly. The patient, who had always been a healthy individual, seldom sick, began to feel that he was neglected, not considered really sick by the family and when his four weeks in bed expired, said he needed more rest. During these extra weeks in bed, he brooded about finances, his inability to work and earn a living, but mostly because his family had let him down in thinking he was not really sick.

The physician gradually learned what was troubling him and advised the family that while his heart was rested, his depression of spirits was taking the fight out of him and they should try to help him.

How can the sick patient slowly recovering be helped toward a more rapid convalescence?

Dr. Edwin S. Burdell, president of Cooper Union, New York city (a non-profit organization), told the graduating nurses of Overlook Hospital, Summit, N. J., that "helping the patient to fulfill four basic wishes—for adventure, for security, for friendly responses from others, and for recognition of his achievements—is part of the getting-well process....Regaining use of an injured leg, in perhaps learning to walk again, is exciting; and getting back to family, job or school can be a great adventure. The need for security is also universal. We need assurance that the cries of old age, illness and housing will be survived. Likewise the patient must have confidence in his medical treatment and confidence that his family, fellow workers or fellow students will accept him with whatever limitations (or defects) may result from his illness or injury. The patient must feel accepted, wanted, understood."

Finally, the patient must be made to feel that he will recover and he must have personal recognition for enduring his long illness. If given full credit for his battle with sickness, he will be less inclined to blame himself for having been a burden and expense to his family, an attitude that would delay his recovery.

While it may be cruel to be really kind in some cases, as the patient leans on his illness for attention, we should remember that all the sick or injured are really "mental" patients and need these four basic wishes fulfilled—adventure, security, friendly responses from others, recognition of achievements.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Beneath the surface, the Democratic Party is experiencing some of the most important realigments in 30 years. Leaders are dickering, jockeying, trading for position. There is a restless ferment in the air not seen among Democrats in a generation.

Beneath the ferment, of course, is a race to the throne—as an old monarch totters.

It is a race that is beginning to split the party up as never since the Al Smith-McAdoo Catholic-Protestant struggle at the Democratic convention of 1924. And it has developed into a race not only between the monarch and his nobility but between the nobility themselves.

Here is how the struggle stacks up to date:

Truman's Strategy—Is based upon the monarch's right to put a princeling of his own choosing on the throne. To that end his strategy is to control each state delegation until he is ready to anoint the head of his successor. That is why ex-Sen. Robert Bulkley, 72 years old and not even remotely a candidate, will run as Ohio's favorite son in an attempt to control the Ohio delegation. That's also why Sen. Hubert Humphrey, though not a candidate, will run as Minnesota's favorite son to control the Minnesota delegation—and so on.

Then, just before the convention, these favorite sons will switch their support to the anointed princeling of Truman's choosing.

Restless Nobility — Meanwhile, some of the dukes, earls, viscounts and barons around the White House are getting impatient. While they will support Truman if he runs again, they don't like the idea of waiting too long to pick the crown prince.

Among these restless nobles are popular Governor Paul Devers of Massachusetts; Mennen "Soapy" Williams, the energetic governor of Michigan; and Sid McMath, the shrewd anti-Dixiecrat governor of Arkansas. They have been angling with Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to form a new palace guard and pick the successor before the Duke of Tennessee, Estes Kefauver, garners too many delegates.

Kefauver's Strategy — Meanwhile they are quite right about the Duke of Tennessee. He has really been making hay. Not content to have Truman capture the Ohio delegates through favorite-son Bulkley, Kefauver is challenging Truman in Ohio, and will challenge him elsewhere. The Tennessee senator is attracting volunteer Democratic leaders all over the country like Tennesse molasses attracts flies, and will probably end up with Gael Sullivan, former executive director of the Democratic National Committee, as his campaign manager. He is easily the most potent threat to both Truman and the Republicans today.

Truman's Crown Prince—The man upon whom the President is reported ready to bestow the divine right of succession is Governor Stevenson of Illinois, an able man. When the three northern governors sounded out Adlai, he was aloof, declined to team up, indicated that the monarch had a right to pick his own princeling.

The Prince of Connecticut—One of the ablest members of the Senate and a close friend of the President, Sen. Brien McMahon, is doing some presidential stalking on his own, probably with the idea of ending up on the vice-presidential end of the ticket.

The Duke of Texas—Modest Sam Rayburn is probably the last man to think of himself as a candidate. However, the speaker's friends are doing a lot of thinking and planning for him, the most ardent rooters being Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Congressman John McCormack of Massachusetts.

The Earl of Kentucky—Vice President Barkley is lying low, saying little. However, some of his friends, led by Senate Secretary Les Biffle, believe that if the Democratic convention faces a deadlock, the party will turn—despite his age—to the old stalwart, who has made more Jefferson-Jackson Day speeches than any other man in history—Alben Barkley.

Such is the novel and healthy jockeying for position in a party where for 20 years almost no one dared challenge the divine right of the monarch to succeed himself.

Washington, Jan. 24—At least one man of prominence in the Democratic party believes that the nomination for the presidency should be decided by the people and not by the man who happens to be President.

Theoretically, the members of the Democratic party are free from coercion. Theoretically, there is no dictator in the party who says who may be nominated. But actually the officeholders and the political machines are so beholden to Mr. Truman that they do not dare to say openly that perhaps someone else should be chosen.

Those men who might be candidates hesitate for fear they might offend Mr. Truman and fail later to gain any of the delegations which he may indirectly or directly control in the event that he ultimately decides not to run. Hence the courageous action of Senator Kefauver in defying all precedents and tradition, insofar as party organization practice is concerned, is all the more commendable.

Mr. Kefauver is, of course, disliked by most of the big political machines, especially in the large cities. Though a Democrat himself, he fearlessly turned the spotlight on some of the big Democratic party machines and showed their relationship to the gamblers and racketeers. For this he has incurred the everlasting enmity of the political organizations concerned. But perhaps by the same token he has won more than enough political support to offset that kind of opposition.

If there were a nation-wide presidential preference primary, as Woodrow Wilson recommended to Congress in February, 1913, when he was president-elect, the people as a whole would have a voice in nominating a president.

There are such primaries in 14 states, but they cover only half the number of delegates and the results of primaries are not binding because of state laws permitting different choices at the convention itself.

The evils of a system whereby the president may control his own renomination were denounced by Woodrow Wilson, but the Democratic party in subsequent years never enacted his proposal.

"It is intolerable," wrote Mr. Wilson in 1913, "that any president should be permitted to determine who should succeed him—himself or another—by patronage or coercion, or by any sort of control of the machinery by which delegates to the nominating convention are chosen.

"There ought never to be another presidential nominating convention; and there need never be another. Several of the states have successfully solved that difficulty with regard to the choice of their governors, and federal law can solve it in the same way with regard to the choice of presidents. The nominations should be made directly by the people at the polls."

The announcement by Senator Kefauver that he will enter some of the state primaries is in itself a challenge to the President. Mr. Kefauver has voted more times with his party on important issues than against it. He is independent-minded and won his election to the Senate by defeating in the primary race in Tennessee the candidate of a Memphis political machine which in all previous campaigns had dominated the elections. So Senator Kefauver really is trying again to win by taking on this time the political machines in several states.

It will be an interesting sidelight on the 1952 campaign to see how skillfully the machines and office holders who are controlled by the administration will seek to prevent the Kefauver candidacy from getting anywhere. Already candidates have been entered by the administration to attempt to block Kefauver. It serves only to emphasize that state primaries need run-off provisions so that the top two can decide the issue and so that the total vote cannot be split into pieces by candidates who are obviously "stalking horses" for political bosses who seek to control the balloting at the national convention.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Luxembourg—Some dignitaries of our State Department think Madam Perle Mesta's social conduct at the miniature court of Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg is politically grotesque and a discredit to our diplomatic service. Although I have supped at Madam the Minister's board, I will have to say I think so, too. There is a painful personal question in such situations as to whether the kindness of the host puts a journalist under an obligation. I am confident Mrs. Mesta had no desire to restrict me by her hospitality, which is more than anyone ever could say of the Roosevelts with their chicken wing and potato salad soirees for the inkstained wretches of the fourth estate in the early days of their long regime and I rather suspect that she caught in my eye at times the same skeptical look that I caught at times in hers as we came to points on which we never can agree.

Madam the Minister is the rich widow of a Pittsburgh steel manufacturer. She originally came from Oklahoma and her father, who founded a fortune in the oil boom, was a hard-fisted individualist who worked some of his roughnecks four or five years without paid vacations. She thought this was terrible and used to butt into the old man's affairs by authorizing this or that brooding character to take a week or two off with pay. She said this as though there were some divine authority for the proposition that an employer owes an employe lagniappe, which under recent enlargements has come to include baby benefits in situations which a boss obviously cannot decently be a responsible party to, paid free time for voting in elections to confiscate the employer's lawful property and pensions over and above the Social Security to which the boss already pays substantial contributions.

Mrs. Mesta is a typical political bigot who cannot understand that a boss has no legitimate obligation to pay a worker or loafer a single cent more than the stated terms of their mutual contract and who believes that a boss is a dirty rat because he is an employer and therefore ought to be robbed as a matter of plain justice. She said she had thought things out and had come to the conclusion that workers needed unions to protect them from exploitation by brutal bosses, but when I asked who was going to protect them from the Daniel Tobins, Dave Dubinskys and Walter Reuthers she said, "well, labor is not perfect yet, you know, and Rome was not made in a day, you know, and we all make mistakes, don't we?"

Perle threw in with that earlier counterfeit, Wendell Willkie, before she decided that Harry Truman was a great American and snatched the tailboard of his whistlestop special in 1948. I had not heard that even earlier she had been a friend of the Calvin Coolidges, but she said she used to breakfast at the White House with the strong silent man and still regarded Grace Coolidge as one of her dear friends.

On the general subject of the Washington cocktail or dinner party, which is the foulest vulgarity in the social history of the American capital, with judges, commissioners and cheap widows on the make and blackmailing columnists snuffling and squealing at the trough in a turmoil together, she said she thought a girl might be performing useful patriotic service in bringing together prominent men on strong divergent views so that they could learn that their opponents did not actually wear horns, which was a naive slip of the tongue because the swine never do.

It was India Edwards, a formidable female Honest John of the Democratic Party, who first had the idea of sending Perle to Luxembourg, and it took some heckling to persuade Madam Minister to take the job. But after long thought she decided she could do some good for her countrymen by lifting herself out of the turbulent Washington scene and spreading sweetness, light and calories in a new locale.

Pursuant to this decision, Madam Minister had an inspiration when on her return from a drive on a Sunday afternoon to "meet the Luxembourg people in their homes" she found three American soldiers on the steps of her official mansion who wanted to meet the minister. Mrs. Mesta invited them in and this was the

Q—What is the origin of the Christmas-tree ceremony?

A—Its exact origin is unknown. One legend says that St. Boniface, English missionary to Germany in the eighth century, designated a small fir a holy tree after he had felled an oak, long an object of pagan worship. He declared the fir was the wood of peace, and because its leaves were evergreen, the sign of an endless life.

Q—Why was the painting "La Nicoise" outstanding?

A—Picasso's well-known painting, "La Nicoise," shows simultaneously the profile and full face of a woman.

Q—Where was the original home of the rubber industry?

Would Face Impeachment

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Any president sending American armed forces into conflict abroad without congressional authority would face impeachment under legislation proposed today. The only exception, under a concurrent resolution drawn by Rep. Berry (R-S.D.), would be in cases where American lives were in danger. Such a resolution would have to be passed by a majority vote of each House to make it an official statement of Congress' views. Berry told a reporter he hoped for early approval because of British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's suggestion in his address to Congress last week that this country send "token forces" to help protect the Suez Canal.

dermen provide that there will be no parking in front of the new school on Wall street for 490 feet from 8 a. m., to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Other regulations provided for a stop-sign on Henry street at Wall, no parking for 50 feet north and the same distance south of the entrance on Washington avenue, a 10-mile-an-hour speed limit zone on Washington avenue from Donovan place to Elizabeth street, the same on Wall from Franklin to Elizabeth street, and on Fair street from Franklin to a point 350 feet southerly from Henry street, and on Henry street from Fair to Wall street.

All speed limit zones are to be in effect from the first day of school in the fall until school closes and the days when the law is effective are from Monday to Fridays from 8 a. m., to 5 p. m.

A group of 25 persons attending the session was largely interested in the traffic regulations for the new school, which is scheduled to open soon.

Alderman Benjamin A. Storms, chairman of the traffic committee, conferred with them and said that suggestions that some of them made would be considered by the committee. The alderman showed the group a map, which designated the traffic regulations and explained them in detail.

The regulations, he said, would be increased or lessened insofar as might be found necessary, and everything possible will be done to insure the safety of the children attending the new school. Alderman Ryan asked about police protection and was assured that this would be given full consideration.

The special meeting was called at the request of the mayor to specifically consider the housing and traffic proposals.

the machine tools required has been ordered and either is delivered or scheduled to be delivered within the reasonably near future." The reasonably near future was not specified in terms of months or years.

Tools not yet ordered are chiefly those which still are undergoing design changes or development and on which the military services and industry are still making studies.

A check with the air force and with industry shows that the major problem continues to be tools for making jet engines. These tools are needed, among other things, for boring through metal of hitherto unknown hardness needed in the high-temperature jets and for machining down to watch-like precision the turbine buckets and other moving parts of the engines.

Tools and techniques used in making conventional piston engines are useless in jet manufacture.

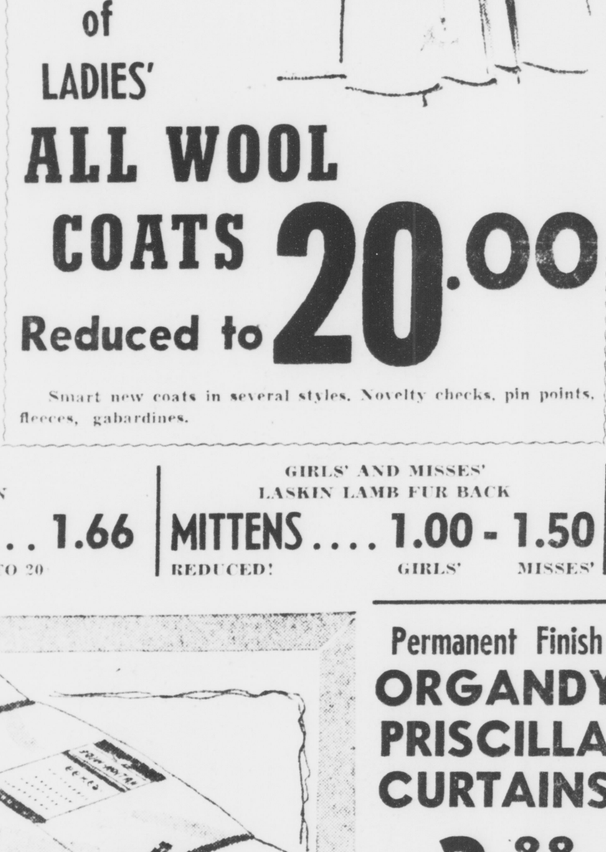

Convicted

Denis W. Delaney, ousted Massachusetts Collector of Internal Revnue leaves Federal Court, Boston, Jan. 22, after being convicted on all of six counts in two indictments charging he accepted $7,500 to influence tax decisions and falsely certified as paid $180,497 in tax liens. Delaney was the first revenue official of his rank brought to trial in the current federal tax scandals. The conviction carries a possible maximum sentence of 18 years imprisonment and fines of $37,500.

Teacher—Miss Sylvester, what do you know about Spanish syntax?

Student—Gosh, I didn't know the Spaniards had to pay for their fun.

Mike—I had a swell hunch at the races the other day. It was the seventh day of the seventh month, my wife and I had been married exactly seven years. It was the seventh race—so I played horse No. 7.

Ike—Did he win?

Mike—No, he came in seventh.

"PRICE OF SURVIVAL"—Three out of every four dollars in President Truman's $85.4 billion budget are earmarked for national security. The Newschart above shows how $65.1 billion for fiscal year 1953 represents what the President calls the "heavy price" Americans must pay for preparedness, peace and the free world's survival. The chart also compares proposed fiscal 1953 spending in major fields with comparable figures for the three previous years.

FOREIGN AID'S BITE—Military and economic assistance to foreign nations eats up almost all the funds for International Security and Foreign Aid requested in President Truman's budget for fiscal 1953. The total of $10.8 billion is $3.6 billion more than the fiscal 1952 budget item and the $10.4 billion for military aid is $3.9 billion more than was allocated for fiscal 1952.

Here's what the $51.2 billion which the President wants for military spending in fiscal year 1953 means in terms of actual combat strength. Lion's share of the breakdown goes to the Air Force, with $11 billion to be spent for planes to build U. S. airpower to more than 100 wings, toward an eventual goal of 143 wings. The Navy gets the second of 10 planned super-aircraft carriers, and the Army expands to 3,700,000 men, up 2,100,000 since the Reds attacked Korea. President Truman warned Congress future military budgets will carry the same astronomical figures, with no cuts in sight before fiscal 1955.

$15,000 Verdict

A verdict for $15,000 was returned Wednesday afternoon in Supreme Court in the $25,000 action brought by Gertrude Damiano, as administratrix of the estate of Jennie Vanderlyn, Ohioville, who was fatally injured as she was walking on the road on February 13, 1950, by the car of Dr. Julius Blakley. The action was brought by one of the two daughter of Mrs. Vanderlyn. The action was tried before Justice Harry E. Schirick and a jury. Louis G. Bruhn appeared for plaintiff and Hugh R. Elwyn for defendant.

Killed on Parkway

Greenwich, Conn., Jan. 24 (AP)—Raymond Goyer, 45, of Jackson Heights, N. Y., was killed today by an automobile apparently while chasing his own runaway car, State Police Sgt. Frank Bennett said there was no witness who could give a full account of the accident, but the indications were that Goyer, riding along toward Bridgeport on the Merritt Parkway at 2:45 a. m., somehow fell out of his car. The vehicle jumped the esplanade from the east lane into the first lane. As Goyer chased it, he ran into the side of an automobile driven by Russell Gore, 32, of New Canaan. Goyer's automobile was found in a wooded area along the parkway.

Gets Suspended Term

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Tallulah Bankhead's former maid-secretary, Mrs. Evyleen Cronin, 59, received a suspended sentence today for grand larceny in raising checks signed by the actress. Judge Harold A. Stevens sentenced her to one to two years on each of three counts, suspended execution and placed her on probation for an indefinite time. The white-haired defendant's counsel contended during the trial that Mrs. Cronin raised the checks not for her own benefit but to provide "booze," dope and sex for the 48-year-old stage and radio star. The actress indignantly denied it.

FEWER HOMES—Above Newschart shows gloomy outlook for new home construction during 1952 after Defense Production Administration ordered a 40% cutback in strategic building material. This represents a 400,000 reduction from the 1,100,000 dwellings that were built during 1951. Middle sketch indicates approximate annual rate of home construction for first quarter of 1952, prior to the cutback.

Would Mean Tough War

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 24 (AP)—An American corps commander in Germany said today his troops are being taught that a Russian attack would mean "a long, tough, defensive war." Maj. Gen. Withers A. Burress, commanding general of the U. S. Seventh Corps, told newsmen at a Frankfurt press club luncheon that he believes the troops and the American public "should be told the worst along with the best." But, he added, U. S. troops would give a good account of themselves, even though forced to a delaying defensive fight. Gen. Burress said his 43rd and 28th Infantry Divisions—latest to arrive in Germany—could be thrown into combat immediately.

First Grass Fire

Enough grass showed through the January snow yesterday for the year's first grass fire. Firemen were called for the blaze on the Ups-and-Downs off West Chestnut street at 2:16 p. m. It was quenched with an Indian pump.

About the Folks

Louis Costello has returned from Columbus Hospital, New York, to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Costello, East Kingston, following an eye operation. In reporting him much improved, his parents said the remembrances sent by friends made them and their son very happy.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 25 (AP)—Trading was quiet in the stock market today and prices generally were a mixture of gains and losses.

However, a few groups showed fairly solid fronts of plus signs and there were numerous point-or-more advances among the copper and radio-TV stocks.

Trading picked up a little as the gains grew in number but the volume did not reach toward any unusually high figures.

Coppers were an early favorite in the market with Kennecott, Cerro De Pasco, Miami and Phelps Dodge all advancing around a point at times.

As the session wore on buyers turned their attention to radio-TV stocks and Zenith and Motorola joined the issues that showed gains of around a point.

The interest in radio and TV stocks followed reports from Washington that the government would reconsider its freeze on production of color TV sets.

BURNS ARKANSAS — This souvenir auto sticker, made by a St. Louis, Mo., firm to sell for 10 cents, brought howls of protest from "the Wonder State." Arkansas publicity director Eugene Newsom wrote the firm that the barefoot hillbilly with a whiskey jug and the razorback hog give an impression of his state "entirely out of line with the Arkansas of 1952." The company has 7000 freshly-printed stickers and still plans to peddle them.

Surcharge Authorized

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the Railway Express Agency to go ahead with plans to apply a special six-cents-a-shipment surcharge on the bulk of its business. Without specifically approving the surcharge, the ICC notified the agency that it could proceed to give notice to the public of its intention to apply it after a 30-day waiting period. During this period, the commission itself could veto the hike, and express-users would have opportunity to protest, if they so desired.

Price Boosts Okayed

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The government today authorized General Motors to raise basic retail prices on its 1952 automobiles by amounts ranging from $50 to $222. At the same time, the Office of Price Stabilization approved boosts in basic dealer prices on 1952 Hudson cars, ranging from $90 to $143. Dealers for General Motors and Hudson may put the increases into effect at once. The increases are based on higher ceilings approved late last year for 1951 models.

Recovery Is Proposed

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Senator Lodge (R.-Mass.) proposed today that the United States recover the $120,000 it paid Hungary for release of four American fliers, by taking some of Hungary's assets in this country. The U. S. paid $30,000 each in fines for the four men after they had been convicted of violating Hungary's border. They were then released; they had been held for 40 days.

Draft Is Completed

Warsaw, Poland, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Boleslaw Beirut's government completed the draft of a new Polish constitution yesterday. The documents will be published Sunday so the public can study it and suggest changes.

THE BOTTOM FELL OUT—You're on the inside looking down and out of the home of the Robert Mayersons in South San Francisco. Type boxes in picture point out some of the "loose ends" left hanging when heavy rains caused the hill on which the house rests to give way and a large section of the basement floor tumbled down into the resulting gulley.

Gets Suspended Term

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Tallulah Bankhead's former maid-secretary, Mrs. Evyleen Cronin, 59, received a suspended sentence today for grand larceny in raising checks signed by the actress. Judge Harold A. Stevens sentenced her to one to two years on each of three counts, suspended execution and placed her on probation for an indefinite time. The white-haired defendant's counsel contended during the trial that Mrs. Cronin raised the checks not for her own benefit but to provide "booze," dope and sex for the 48-year-old stage and radio star. The actress indignantly denied it.

FEWER HOMES—Above Newschart shows gloomy outlook for new home construction during 1952 after Defense Production Administration ordered a 40% cutback in strategic building material. This represents a 400,000 reduction from the 1,100,000 dwellings that were built during 1951. Middle sketch indicates approximate annual rate of home construction for first quarter of 1952, prior to the cutback.

During the days of reposal many called to extend condolence including the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly and Father O'Rourke who on Wednesday evening recited the Holy Rosary. Numerous and beautiful floral pieces were banked around the casket while spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were placed nearby. Burial took place in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, where Father O'Rourke pronounced the final absolution at the grave. Bearers were John J. Schick, William Goral, Leonard W. Mott, John R. Murphy, Edmund G. Zoller and James A. Scully.

Would Mean Tough War

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 24 (AP)—An American corps commander in Germany said today his troops are being taught that a Russian attack would mean "a long, tough, defensive war." Maj. Gen. Withers A. Burress, commanding general of the U. S. Seventh Corps, told newsmen at a Frankfurt press club luncheon that he believes the troops and the American public "should be told the worst along with the best." But, he added, U. S. troops would give a good account of themselves, even though forced to a delaying defensive fight. Gen. Burress said his 43rd and 28th Infantry Divisions—latest to arrive in Germany—could be thrown into combat immediately.

BURNS ARKANSAS — This souvenir auto sticker, made by a St. Louis, Mo., firm to sell for 10 cents, brought howls of protest from "the Wonder State." Arkansas publicity director Eugene Newsom wrote the firm that the barefoot hillbilly with a whiskey jug and the razorback hog give an impression of his state "entirely out of line with the Arkansas of 1952." The company has 7000 freshly-printed stickers and still plans to peddle them.

Surcharge Authorized

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the Railway Express Agency to go ahead with plans to apply a special six-cents-a-shipment surcharge on the bulk of its business. Without specifically approving the surcharge, the ICC notified the agency that it could proceed to give notice to the public of its intention to apply it after a 30-day waiting period. During this period, the commission itself could veto the hike, and express-users would have opportunity to protest, if they so desired.

Price Boosts Okayed

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The government today authorized General Motors to raise basic retail prices on its 1952 automobiles by amounts ranging from $50 to $222. At the same time, the Office of Price Stabilization approved boosts in basic dealer prices on 1952 Hudson cars, ranging from $90 to $143. Dealers for General Motors and Hudson may put the increases into effect at once. The increases are based on higher ceilings approved late last year for 1951 models.

Recovery Is Proposed

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Senator Lodge (R.-Mass.) proposed today that the United States recover the $120,000 it paid Hungary for release of four American fliers, by taking some of Hungary's assets in this country. The U. S. paid $30,000 each in fines for the four men after they had been convicted of violating Hungary's border. They were then released; they had been held for 40 days.

Draft Is Completed

Warsaw, Poland, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Boleslaw Beirut's government completed the draft of a new Polish constitution yesterday. The documents will be published Sunday so the public can study it and suggest changes.

THE BOTTOM FELL OUT—You're on the inside looking down and out of the home of the Robert Mayersons in South San Francisco. Type boxes in picture point out some of the "loose ends" left hanging when heavy rains caused the hill on which the house rests to give way and a large section of the basement floor tumbled down into the resulting gulley.

Aluminum Is Available

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Senator Moody (D-Mich.) said today the air force is releasing enough aluminum to hike automobile production to 900,000 cars in the second quarter of 1952. He told newsmen the air force is giving up "several million pounds" of the metal because of a change in its production time-table.

Recluse Hides From War Bombs

Adam Kujak hits in a packing box shelter which has been his home for two years in a desolate stretch of weeds on the outskirts of Detroit. The 70-year-old recluse sleeps in a bed of rags and paper. A fire in front of the shelter keeps him warm. When someone asked him why he stayed there Adam answered: "War come. Bomb. Noise, afraid. Safe here. Maybe."

It would be a lot easier to figure who the letter is from if people signed their names instead of their signatures.

Bitter Rows . . .

isn't active yet in the political ring, Thornton told me:

"It is my opinion that the Eisenhower forces in Colorado are going all out for the general."

This could include, by inference, some campaigning by state employes. Matched against this would be Millikin's organization reputed to reach down into the precincts.

Strangely enough, many on both sides appear to believe that outward harmony might be reached by a first ballot "favorite son" endorsement of Millikin, although delegates might be split between Taft, Eisenhower and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Will Get Part

Lieut. Gov. Gordon Allott, managing Stassen's campaign in the state, told me that if Stassen makes a creditable showing in primaries elsewhere, he will get part of the delegation. Stassen had a half dozen convention votes out of Colorado in 1948.

Nearby Wyoming is credited with being a Taft stronghold and the Ohio senator will tend to his fences there with a February 15 "Lincoln Day" speech in Cheyenne, followed by a similar address here the following day.

Wyoming's national committeeman E. D. Crippa wouldn't express a preference.

"General Eisenhower would be a powerful candidate and the Republican Party is very fortunate in having great statesmen like Eisenhower, Taft, Stassen and Warren as presidential candidates," he said.

Nepal Has Second Revolt

New Delhi, India, Jan. 24 (AP)—The mountain kingdom of Nepal was torn today by its second revolt in 14 months, but the "tide was turned in favor of the government," officials of the Indian Foreign Office said. Latest reports from Khatmandu, capital of the remote Himalayan state on the southern border of Communist-captive Tibet, said the rebels from within the governing Nepalese Congress Party and allied Communists had been forced from all seized positions except the 900-room main government office building.

The glass-blowing industry has been in existence for about 6,000 years.

Schirick Rules

truckers' arguments "were of sufficient weight to warrant holding the law unconstitutional."

He added:

"The Legislature has not invaded a field closed to it."

Schirick said that in these days of increasing costs the state needed to look to new fields for additional revenue.

Governor Dewey's administration, in establishing the tax, estimated it would produce between 12 and 20 million dollars a year.

The tax ranges from 0.6 to 2.4 cents a mile on the loaded or unloaded weight of New York and out-of-state trucks weighing more than 18,000 pounds.

The truckers, claiming the tax was discriminatory, hit especially at the exemption for New York or out-of-state trucks operating exclusively "within" commercial zones, established by the Public Service Commission.

Such zones usually include a city and its suburban area.

Challenged in September

The weight-distance tax law's validity was challenged in State Supreme Court last Sept. 21 by the Empire State Truck Operators and Allied Industries Committee. The group claims to represent 250 trucking firms.

Referring to the truckers objections to various exemptions and to the sliding scale of the tax, Schirick wrote:

"The formula applied, while necessarily inexact, indicates unusual care to equate the sum exacted to the benefits conferred."

Schirick said "the court finds no difficulty in finding a rational basis for every exemption and exclusion contained in the statute."

Last Oct. 23, Justice Schirick granted the truckers a temporary injunction, which prevented the state from collecting the tax. However, at that time, Schirick ruled that the state could enforce other provisions of the law, including a $5 permit required for trucks subject to the tax.

He also said the state could require the trucking companies to maintain records, which would be used as a basis for collecting back taxes if the constitutionality of the law were upheld.

How to Heat Crusty Rolls

If you want to heat crusty rolls put them in a brown paper bag, fasten down the top of the bag, and place them in a moderately hot oven for about ten minutes.

Curling Bacon Strips

If you want to keep bacon strips from curling when you are par-broiling them try pressing the strips down with a fork occasionally as they cook.

Ski Queen at Home

Suzy Harris Rytting, U. S. Women's Olympic skier who was sent home from Switzerland when it was discovered she's going to have a baby, gives husband Bill Rytting orders on how to boil spuds at home in Salt Lake City. Olympic officials in New York say they are writing Mrs. Rytting letter of apology and also will return her Olympic uniforms.

Kings Memorialzed

London, (AP)—Londoners and visitors alike would have a hard time forgetting the importance of English kings with a dozen memorialized in statues about the city. The most recent is that of George V in Westminster. The oldest outdoor statue in London is said to be that of King Alfred erected in 1395. Other Englist monarchs so honored are Charles I and II, Henry III and VIII, George II, III and IV, James II, Edward III and Edward the Confessor.

Peaceful Year in Industry

Sinapore, (AP)—Industry in this British Colony enjoyed a year of relative peace in 1951. There were only three strikes. G. W. Davis, Sinapore commissioner of labor, said that trade unionists had shown "good sense and in appreciable amount of patience" in negotiating with employers and avoiding work stoppages.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. W. Darrow, Sr., of 42 Josephine avenue, wrote me a very pleasant note pertaining to mention of Marius Schoonmaker's book on Kingston history. Marius Schoonmaker was their grandfather, Ella Schoonmaker being Marius' only daughter. I always enjoy hearing from folks whose elders took time and patience to write down the history and sayings of this locality so that, we today, can enjoy it.

In Lloyd Lewis's book, "Myths After Lincoln," he somehow collected the sermons of the various preachers who spoke throughout the country on Lincoln and quoted from them. One reads thus: "Moses" was the name commonly bestowed upon Lincoln in the pulpits on "Black Easter." Like Moses, it was said, he had guided his people miraculously through the desert of war, and like Moses, he had been mysteriously taken away when his work was done, leaving the more earthly and harsher task of reconstructing the nation to hands more mundane and capable." He mentions many high standing ministers and the cities in which they then preached and gives excerpts from their speeches. A Rev. John Todd, in his pulpit at Pittsfield, Mass., said in part "I do not believe that the safety and prosperity of this country are dependent upon the life of any one man, however great and good. . . . It is seldom granted to the same man to guide through the desert and to enter into the land of promise."

The Rev. John McClintock, D.D., LL.D. of New York spoke in St. Paul's Church. "All over the world men will weep at the death of Mr. Lincoln . . . not because of his intellect. We never love cold intellect. We may admire it, we may wonder at it, sometimes we may even worship it, but never love it. We had no fear about Abraham Lincoln except that he would be too lenient. . . . The only fear was that he would be too tender. . . . His death was on Good Friday, and his last official words were in substance, 'Father, forgive them for they know not what they do.'"

In Tremont Temple, Boston, the Baptist divine Justin Dewey Fulton said in part about Lincoln, "In conversing with a friend Lincoln said, Some think I do wrong to go to the opera and the theatre; but it rests me. I love to be alone and yet to be with the people. I want to get this burden off; to change the current of my thoughts. A hearty laugh relieves me and I seem better able after it to bear my cross. This was his excuse. Upon it we will not pronounce our judgment. This we will say: We are all sorry our best loved died there. . . ."

The Rev. R. H. Neale of Boston's First Baptist Church said . . . "He was a good man, a truly pious man. He did not wish to go to the theatre. The etiquette of public life required him to sometimes sacrifice his individual preferences; besides, as General Grant had been advertised to be there and could not go, he was afraid the people might be disappointed. How much was this like Lincoln, erring, if at all, always on the side of kindness."

The author adds, however: "Lincoln's delight in theatre was widely known. He took pleasure in any kind of magic-lantern show, play, drama, amateur performance, tent show or strolling troupe that came within range of his circuit riding life in Illinois. Often he adjusted his business on the circuit to bring him to town on the night of a concert or other theatrical performance."

Artificial Lakes

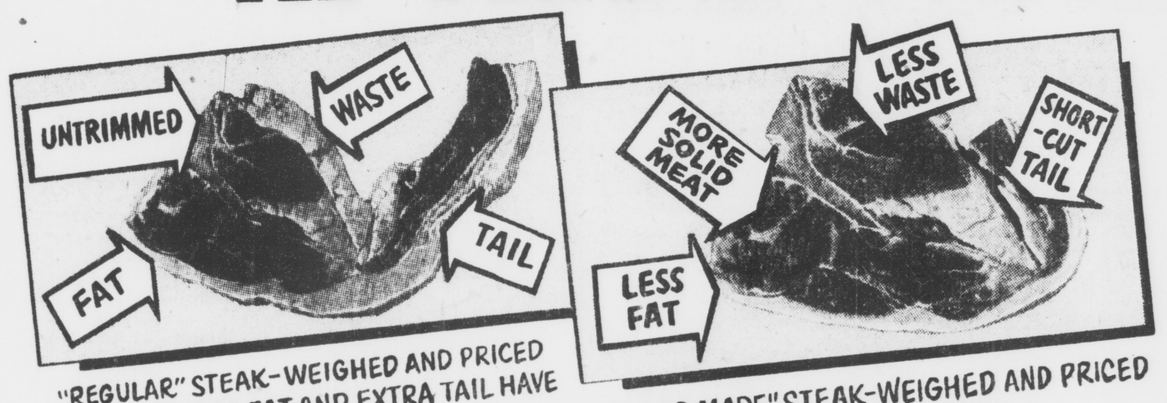

Cagliari, Sardinia, (AP) — Three artificial lakes being made in the upper reaches of the Flumendosa River will enable 8,000 families to have new farms in a 112,000-acre area of formerly uncultivated land. The three lakes will have a total of 50 million cubic meters of water, and will supply water to 22 towns with a total of 100,000 inhabitants who now have only scanty wells.

City Laboratory Director Is Guest Speaker at Rotary

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting on Wednesday. Introduced by Program Chairman Dr. James E. Gibbons, the director spoke on the "Value of the Laboratory to the Health of the Community."

Dr. Derman traced the progress of the laboratory since its founding in 1934, when it was located on John street, and described the degree of participation by the city, county and state in the local laboratory, which is under the control of the board of managers, who are appointed by the mayor.

The function of the laboratory in its relation to the patient, physician and hospital was outlined by the speaker. The public health aspects, the treatment of cancer and autopsy work were discussed in some detail.

The departments comprising the laboratory and their operations also were discussed by the director. They included the bacteriological and chemistry departments, the blood department, where some 30,000 tests were made last year, the blood bank, which handled 2,236 pints of blood in 1951, and the section for animals, which are used in making certain tests.

The library and the photography section where there are over 1,000 prints, and the teaching program, which includes clinical and X-ray conferences, were subjects brought out in the interesting talk.

A brief period of questions pertinent to the laboratory concluded the program.

Preceding the guest speaker, Sam Scudder, ticket chairman for the musical, "Brigadoon," which will be staged by the Rotarians at the Kingston High School Auditorium on February 12, announced that the sale of tickets indicated a capacity audience.

O'Hara Asks Check

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Rep. O'Hara (R-Minn.) today asked the Defense Department for an immediate investigation of a report of mass prostitution near army camps in Japan. In a letter to Secretary of Defense Lovett, O'Hara said he had received a complaint from a constituent who enclosed a letter from a boy in the armed forces in Japan recounting conditions there. The letter from the boy in the service in Japan said in part: "Conditions exist here in Japan that are a reproach to our armed forces and to the U. S. of America. The lowest and vilest forms of vice and corruption abound — mass prostitution rackets flourishing without the military police lifting a finger. These conditions could not exist without the sanction of the military police."

Mincemeat Filling

A half cup of shelled pecans (chopped) and a half cup of chopped tart apples may be added to two-and-one-half-cups of prepared mincemeat. This will make enough filling for a two-crust nine-inch pie.

Rochester Town Schedules Hearing On New Machinery

A public hearing has been called of the taxpayers of the Town of Rochester for Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Accord school.

Members of the town board will be present, also the newly-elected superintendent of highways, Friend Sheldon, who will explain the necessity for new equipment.

John Scribano, chairman on town government who attended the last meeting of the town board, was advised that under the proposed plan there would be very little raise in taxes.

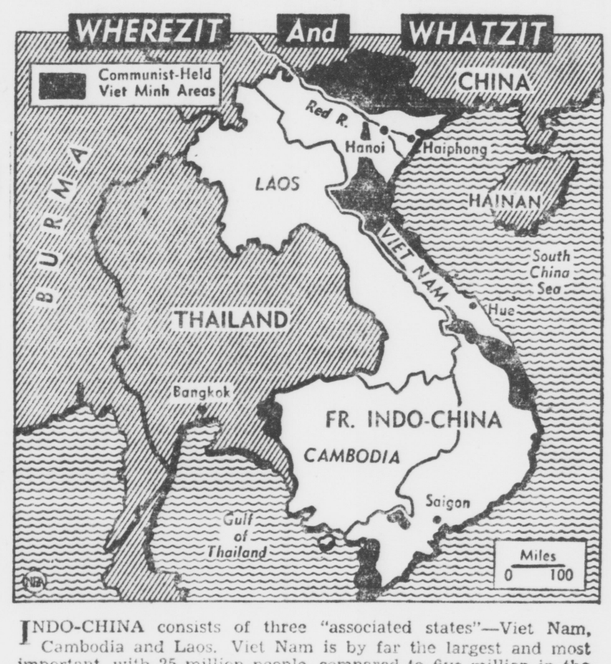

The board of directors of the Taxpayers Association of the Town of Rochester convened Monday evening in the Accord school and were of the opinion that present equipment is in poor shape.

A committee of Burton Marshall, Harrison Brown, Gus Lindgren and George Barek plan to see Friend Sheldon in a day or so, to determine whether certain pieces of machinery on hand were worth being rebuilt.

Every taxpayer is urged to attend the hearing and learn the facts.

Production Is Climbing

Pusan, Korea, Jan. 24 (AP)—Industrial production in South Korea is slowly climbing toward prewar figures, official figures disclosed today. A total of 2,525 factories are in operation. That is half the pre-war figure. Many have been rehabilitated since the allies recaptured Seoul last spring.

INDO-CHINA consists of three "associated states"—Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos. Viet Nam is by far the largest and most important, with 25 million people, compared to five million in the other two kingdoms. Viet Nam is the most troubled, too. For over five years violent, hit-and-run warfare has raged between French and Indo-Chinese on one side and Communist-led Viet Minh forces on the other. Viet Nam was born a Japanese puppet state in World War II, but sought self-rule after VJ-day under the gaunt Ho Chi Minh. At first the French tried to go along with Ho's "nationalist" aims. But, finding Ho had hitched his wagon to the Kremlin star, France in 1948 switched its support to Bao Dai as Viet Nam's chief of state. War in Viet Nam has been a series of indecisive battles between 350,000 French and loyal Indo-Chinese forces (who recently lost their brilliant leader, Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny) and a like number of loosely-organized Reds under Ho. Viet Minh guerrillas, holed up in the mountains, have staged sporadic night raids on Viet Nam cities and villages. Result has been a crippling of Viet Nam's "rice bowl" economy and a severe drain on French military resources. Because loss of Indo-China might doom all of rich Southeast Asia, the U. S. has poured hundreds of millions of dollars worth of military aid into the anti-Communist battle. Most serious threat to Indo-China looms from north, where Chinese Reds are feared planning to stage "another Korea." This threat may become reality if fighting ends in Korea.

City Laboratory Director Is Guest Speaker at Rotary

Dr. Herbert Derman, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon-meeting on Wednesday. Introduced by Program Chairman Dr. James E. Gibbons, the director spoke on the "Value of the Laboratory to the Health of the Community."

Dr. Derman traced the progress of the laboratory since its founding in 1934, when it was located on John street, and described the degree of participation by the city, county and state in the local laboratory, which is under the control of the board of managers, who are appointed by the mayor.

The function of the laboratory in its relation to the patient, physician and hospital was outlined by the speaker. The public health aspects, the treatment of cancer and autopsy work were discussed in some detail.

The departments comprising the laboratory and their operations also were discussed by the director. They included the bacteriological and chemistry departments, the blood department, where some 30,000 tests were made last year, the blood bank, which handled 2,236 pints of blood in 1951, and the section for animals, which are used in making certain tests.

The library and the photography section where there are over 1,000 prints, and the teaching program, which includes clinical and X-ray conferences, were subjects brought out in the interesting talk.

A brief period of questions pertinent to the laboratory concluded the program.

Preceding the guest speaker, Sam Scudder, ticket chairman for the musical, "Brigadoon," which will be staged by the Rotarians at the Kingston High School Auditorium on February 12, announced that the sale of tickets indicated a capacity audience.

O'Hara Asks Check

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Rep. O'Hara (R-Minn.) today asked the Defense Department for an immediate investigation of a report of mass prostitution near army camps in Japan. In a letter to Secretary of Defense Lovett, O'Hara said he had received a complaint from a constituent who enclosed a letter from a boy in the armed forces in Japan recounting conditions there. The letter from the boy in the service in Japan said in part: "Conditions exist here in Japan that are a reproach to our armed forces and to the U. S. of America. The lowest and vilest forms of vice and corruption abound—mass prostitution rackets flourishing without the military police lifting a finger. These conditions could not exist without the sanction of the military police."

Mincemeat Filling

A half cup of shelled pecans (chopped) and a half cup of chopped tart apples may be added to two-and-one-half-cups of prepared mincemeat. This will make enough filling for a two-crust nine-inch pie.

Rochester Town Schedules Hearing On New Machinery

A public hearing has been called of the taxpayers of the Town of Rochester for Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Accord school.

Members of the town board will be present, also the newly-elected superintendent of highways, Friend Sheldon, who will explain the necessity for new equipment.

John Scribano, chairman on town government who attended the last meeting of the town board, was advised that under the proposed plan there would be very little raise in taxes.

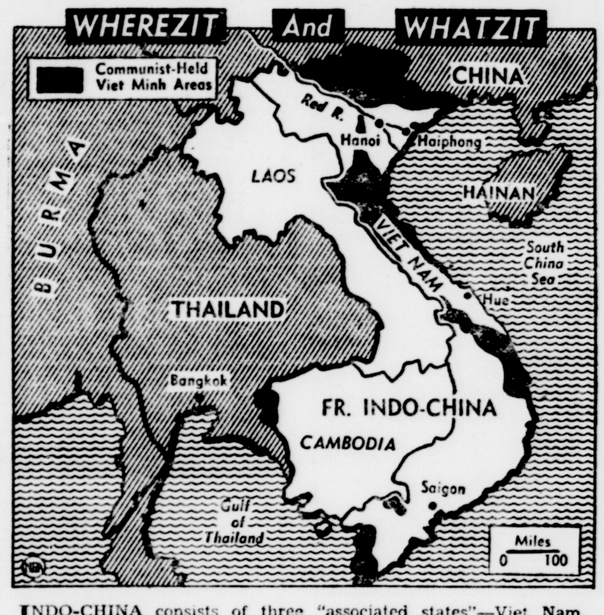

The board of directors of the Taxpayers Association of the Town of Rochester convened Monday evening in the Accord school and were of the opinion that present equipment is in poor shape.

A committee of Burton Marshall, Harrison Brown, Gus Lindgren and George Barek plan to see Friend Sheldon in a day or so, to determine whether certain pieces of machinery on hand were worth being rebuilt.

Every taxpayer is urged to attend the hearing and learn the facts.

To Observe Health Methods Used Here

Richard Hileman from the Pennsylvania Department of Health has been assigned for observation and training to the Ulster County Department of Health from January 4 to February 15. He is one of a group of nine sanitarian assistants (non-professional) who recently completed a 10-week course in environmental sanitation at Pittsburgh and who are, or will be, employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Hileman attended the University of Pennsylvania and was foreman with the Harrington Dairy Company. He has also been four and one-half years with the armored infantry in the army. He has been with the Pennsylvania Department of Health two years and three months.

Charles Shultis, senior sanitary inspector with the Ulster County Health Department, will particularly sponsor Hileman while he is with the department. The remainder of the staff will carry on with his work schedule. Morris Nussbaum, sanitary chemist and bacteriologist at the Kingston City Laboratory, has agreed to cooperate with the laboratory part of the observations.

As a guest and observer at the health department, Hileman will be given opportunities to observe and in some cases participate in general departmental operations.

RELIEF FOR ASTHMA SUFFERERS

Quick relief usually comes from the first dose of this new formula which acts to relieve congestion. People who formerly suffered with frightening choking, coughing, wheezing asthma attacks speak of welcome relief after using ASMACOL. ASMACOL costs $2.50, but considering the relief you will experience, the $2.50 it costs amounts to only a few pennies per dose. ASMACOL, (caution, use only as directed) is sold with a money back guarantee if not delighted with results. Sold only by

RELIEF FOR ASTHMA SUFFERERS

Quick relief usually comes from the first dose of this new formula which acts to relieve congestion. People who formerly suffered with frightening choking, coughing, wheezing asthma attacks speak of welcome relief after using ASMACOL. ASMACOL costs $2.50, but considering the relief you will experience, the $2.50 it costs amounts to only a few pennies per dose. ASMACOL, (caution, use only as directed) is sold with a money back guarantee if not delighted with results. Sold only by

To Observe Health Methods Used Here

Richard Hileman from the Pennsylvania Department of Health has been assigned for observation and training to the Ulster County Department of Health from January 4 to February 15. He is one of a group of nine sanitarian assistants (non-professional) who recently completed a 10-week course in environmental sanitation at Pittsburgh and who are, or will be, employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Hileman attended the University of Pennsylvania and was foreman with the Harrington Dairy Company. He has also been four and one-half years with the armored infantry in the army. He has been with the Pennsylvania Department of Health two years and three months.

Charles Shultis, senior sanitary inspector with the Ulster County Health Department, will particularly sponsor Hileman while he is with the department. The remainder of the staff will carry on with his work schedule. Morris Nussbaum, sanitary chemist and bacteriologist at the Kingston City Laboratory, has agreed to cooperate with the laboratory part of the observations.

As a guest and observer at the health department, Hileman will be given opportunities to observe and in some cases participate in general departmental operations.

Man Kills Three, Takes Own Life

Cream Ridge, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—A 32-year-old Fort Dix civilian employe shot to death his estranged auburn-haired wife, his mother-in-law and his wife's aunt last night and then committed suicide.

State police said the man, Garner Powers, killed the three women in the Powers' home in this small Monmouth county community. His four-year-old son watched in horror.

Dead after the shooting orgy were the attractive wife, Gloria, 27, her mother, Mrs. Helen de Mayor, 59, and her aunt, Mrs. Louise Bowker, 61.

Then, police said, Powers grabbed up the boy, Gary, ran to the nearby home of Mrs. Bowker's daughter, and shouted:

"Take care of Gary. I just shot the whole damned bunch of them."

He left the boy, dashed out of the house to return to his own home and fired a bullet from the .45 caliber pistol into his head, police said.

A preliminary investigation showed that the Powers had separated about a week ago because of marital difficulties, police said, adding that Mrs. Powers' mother and aunt had gone to the Powers home in an attempt to make peace between the couple.

Railway Clerks Install Officers

The annual dinner and installation of officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, No. 2182, which is affiliated with the Railway Express Union, was held at Jake's Grill on Saturday evening, January 19. The members and their wives enjoyed a very delicious meal. The group was addressed by President Herbert Simonetty.

After the dinner, officers were installed as follows: President, Herbert Simonetty; vice president, William Davis; treasurers, John Keator, and Arthur Neice; secretary, Richard Sagar; local chairman, Frank Haner.

Ellenville Man Says Bidding Is Collusive

New York, Jan. 24 (Special)—Sidney Kurlan, who operates a furniture factory in Ellenville, has accused the Board of Education of New York of "condoning" collusive bidding on furniture contracts.

Kurlan made his statement before a public hearing in City Hall here Wednesday afternoon considering a $190,000 report dealing with attempts to improve the school system's economic status.

Kurlan said he has taken his complaint to New York County District Attorney Frank S. Hogan and Investigations Commissioner James Sheils.

He acknowledged that there has been no official action on his complaint, but he says he has been "pushed around" by the board of education.

During the fashion craze for weathers during the 1880's and '90's, about 50,000 New Guinea plumes were annuaally shipped abroad.

Sales, Marketing

consumption. He based his conclusions on observations made in New York stores the past two years. Actions of 100,000 customers were recorded in the 1951 survey.

Dr. Brunk's study indicated that when stores combined a bulk display with six-pound transparent bags they sold more apples per customer than stores using four-pound bags, the chain stores' usual method of selling apples.

Purchases were 11 and 12 pounds for each 100 customers when apples were sold in bulk and priced in two and four pound quantities. They jumped to 28 pounds per 100 customers when packaged in six-pound transparent bags and displayed with bulk fruit, he said.

Efforts Described

Cooperative efforts to expand markets were described at another session today by L. W. Marvin of the New York and New England Apple Institute. Marvin told of the advertising efforts of that institute, which has its office in Kingston and is supported by contributions from fruit growers, prorated according to bushels produced.

Alice Kline told the group of the publicity work done by the Apple Kitchen in New York city, and Truman Nold reported on the national apple merchandising plans.

An open discussion held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Wednesday night was devoted mainly to recommendations for riding areas from abandoned orchards and a discussion of alleged abuses of the commission merchant system.

'Germantown Plan'

John Clynes of Germantown reviewed the so-called "Germantown Plan" for eliminating abandoned orchards, which according to a widely accepted theory are breeding places for the apple maggot. The maggot fly is believed to breed in the uncared for trees and then spread to the good orchards.

In the Germantown area—once one of the state's leading apple areas—there are now approximately 2,000 acres of abandoned orchards, Clynes said, each acre containing from 27 to 30 trees.

Cost of removing the trees has been estimated at $27,000, and the Germantown group is seeking to have legislation approved to designate that area as a "pilot" to be used in determining how the trees can best be removed and to test the results. Under the plan, which needs approval of the state legislature, the township would pay one-third the cost of removing trees, the county (Columbia) would pay one-third, and the state, one-third.

Advocates of the plan point out that the value to the taxpayer of the 2,000 reclaimed acres would be a benefit felt by the entire area.

Following lengthy discussion, President James R. Clarke of Milton said the proposal would be referred to the society's board of directors for consideration and possible action in the form of a resolution to be presented on Friday.

Another proposal discussed was the advisability of asking the state to impose a stiffer penalty on commission merchants who operate without a license. The present fine is $200, which some of the growers contended is no deterrent to the merchant who wishes to operate without a license.

Friday's Schedule

The schedule for Friday, final day of the meeting:

9:30 a. m.—Use and Misuse of Harmones for Thinning Apples and Peaches and Sticking Apples, by M. B. Hoffman and Robert Smock, Cornell, and John Thew, of Campbell Hall, and Arthur Kurtz of New Paltz.

10:45 a. m.—Fungicide and Insecticide Supply Situation, P. J. McManus.

11 a. m.—Special session on Concentrate Sprays and Sprayers, A. A. LaPlante assisted by Edward Glass, A. B. Burrell and James Brann. For those not concerned with concentrate sprays, William Sherman, secretary of the New York State Canners Association, will discuss the outlook on the small fruit situation.

1 p. m.—Report of resolutions committee, Arthur Kurtz, New Paltz.

1:30 p. m.—Discussion of 1952 labor supply for Hudson valley, led by county agents.

pond near Beacon, and finally took the ferry to Newburgh where Aposporos took a room in a rooming house, the allegation continued.

Gibson's First Story

Gibson's first report to troopers was to the effect that he had been backed against the cellar stair railing and tied there by two unknown men, who then reached behind the showcase and took the cashbox. He told troopers then that the robbery occurred just after 7 a. m. Tuesday as he was waiting to be relieved by a porter.

The entire personnel of the Highland state police station participated in the investigation, with the assistance of the Kingston station and under direction of Inspector C. A. Lawson of Sidney and Lt. W. F. Driscoll of Ferndale.

Dump Is Blown Up

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 24 (AP)—Egyptiaan guerrillas blew up a British ammunition dump in the Suez Canal Zone last night, destroying "some thousands" of rounds of 37-mm. ammunition. A British spokesman said there were no casualties resulting from the explosion, at Abu Sultan, and that damage had been confined to the shed in which the shells were stored.

Railway Clerks Install Officers

The annual dinner and installation of officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, No. 2182, which is affiliated with the Railway Express Union, was held at Jake's Grill on Saturday evening, January 19. The members and their wives enjoyed a very delicious meal. The group was addressed by President Herbert Simonetty.

After the dinner, officers were installed as follows: President, Herbert Simonetty; vice president, William Davis; treasurers, John Keator, and Arthur Neice; secretary, Richard Sagar; local chairman, Frank Haner.

Ellenville Man Says Bidding Is Collusive

New York, Jan. 24 (Special)—Sidney Kurlan, who operates a furniture factory in Ellenville, has accused the Board of Education of New York of "condoning" collusive bidding on furniture contracts.

Kurlan made his statement before a public hearing in City Hall here Wednesday afternoon considering a $190,000 report dealing with attempts to improve the school system's economic status.

Kurlan said he has taken his complaint to New York County District Attorney Frank S. Hogan and Investigations Commissioner James Sheils.

He acknowledged that there has been no official action on his complaint, but he says he has been "pushed around" by the board of education.

During the fashion craze for weathers during the 1880's and '90's, about 50,000 New Guinea plumes were annuaally shipped abroad.

Sales, Marketing

consumption. He based his conclusions on observations made in New York stores the past two years. Actions of 100,000 customers were recorded in the 1951 survey.

Dr. Brunk's study indicated that when stores combined a bulk display with six-pound transparent bags they sold more apples per customer than stores using four-pound bags, the chain stores' usual method of selling apples.

Purchases were 11 and 12 pounds for each 100 customers when apples were sold in bulk and priced in two and four pound quantities. They jumped to 28 pounds per 100 customers when packaged in six-pound transparent bags and displayed with bulk fruit, he said.

Efforts Described

Cooperative efforts to expand markets were described at another session today by L. W. Marvin of the New York and New England Apple Institute. Marvin told of the advertising efforts of that institute, which has its office in Kingston and is supported by contributions from fruit growers, prorated according to bushels produced.

Alice Kline told the group of the publicity work done by the Apple Kitchen in New York city, and Truman Nold reported on the national apple merchandising plans.

An open discussion held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Wednesday night was devoted mainly to recommendations for riding areas from abandoned orchards and a discussion of alleged abuses of the commission merchant system.

'Germantown Plan'

John Clynes of Germantown reviewed the so-called "Germantown Plan" for eliminating abandoned orchards, which according to a widely accepted theory are breeding places for the apple maggot. The maggot fly is believed to breed in the uncared for trees and then spread to the good orchards.

In the Germantown area—once one of the state's leading apple areas—there are now approximately 2,000 acres of abandoned orchards, Clynes said, each acre containing from 27 to 30 trees.

Cost of removing the trees has been estimated at $27,000, and the Germantown group is seeking to have legislation approved to designate that area as a "pilot" to be used in determining how the trees can best be removed and to test the results. Under the plan, which needs approval of the state legislature, the township would pay one-third the cost of removing trees, the county (Columbia) would pay one-third, and the state, one-third.

Advocates of the plan point out that the value to the taxpayer of the 2,000 reclaimed acres would be a benefit felt by the entire area.

Following lengthy discussion, President James R. Clarke of Milton said the proposal would be referred to the society's board of directors for consideration and possible action in the form of a resolution to be presented on Friday.

Another proposal discussed was the advisability of asking the state to impose a stiffer penalty on commission merchants who operate without a license. The present fine is $200, which some of the growers contended is no deterrent to the merchant who wishes to operate without a license.

Friday's Schedule

The schedule for Friday, final day of the meeting:

9:30 a. m.—Use and Misuse of Harmones for Thinning Apples and Peaches and Sticking Apples, by M. B. Hoffman and Robert Smock, Cornell, and John Thew, of Campbell Hall, and Arthur Kurtz of New Paltz.

10:45 a. m.—Fungicide and Insecticide Supply Situation, P. J. McManus.

11 a. m.—Special session on Concentrate Sprays and Sprayers, A. A. LaPlante assisted by Edward Glass, A. B. Burrell and James Brann. For those not concerned with concentrate sprays, William Sherman, secretary of the New York State Canners Association, will discuss the outlook on the small fruit situation.

1 p. m.—Report of resolutions committee, Arthur Kurtz, New Paltz.

1:30 p. m.—Discussion of 1952 labor supply for Hudson valley, led by county agents.

Gibson's first report to troopers was to the effect that he had been backed against the cellar stair railing and tied there by two unknown men, who then reached behind the showcase and took the cashbox. He told troopers then that the robbery occurred just after 7 a. m. Tuesday as he was waiting to be relieved by a porter.

The entire personnel of the Highland state police station participated in the investigation, with the assistance of the Kingston station and under direction of Inspector C. A. Lawson of Sidney and Lt. W. F. Driscoll of Ferndale.

Dump Is Blown Up

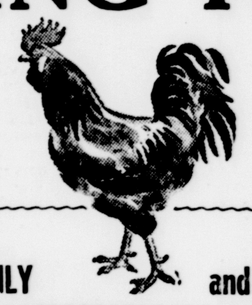

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 24 (AP)—Egyptiaan guerrillas blew up a British ammunition dump in the Suez Canal Zone last night, destroying "some thousands" of rounds of 37-mm. ammunition. A British spokesman said there were no casualties resulting from the explosion, at Abu Sultan, and that damage had been confined to the shed in which the shells were stored.

Slave-World of Narcotics

3: How They Caught 'Jim Yellow'

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The masters of America's narcotics slaves are the underworld figures who control the supply of smuggled "dope" which brings them fantastic profits from the 50,000 addicts in this country.

They are responsible for a traffic that is destroying the bodies and minds of men, women and children who become prisoners of the habit. They are the men hunted day and night by U. S. narcotics agents.

"Jim Yellow" was one of the hunted. Agents tracked him down in his plush Washington apartment two years ago. "Jim Yellow" Roberts, a 200-pound, light-skinned Negro, drove a Cadillac and lived in luxury with his brown-haired young white wife, "Tinky."

On Trail for Years

Federal agents had been on Roberts' trail for years. They suspected he was a big-shot in the New York-Washington narcotics traffic, and that he was one of the big hidden sources supplying dope to street peddlers who passed it on to addicts.

They caught him in 1945 with 44 ounces of heroin in his possession and sent him to prison. The Treasury Department announced after his arrest at that time the "east's largest dope ring has been cracked."

But Jim Yellow spent only two and a half years behind bars. Then he came back to Washington and soon the agents were on his trail again. The files of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau give this story:

Then One October Day

One October day two strangers came to town driving a flashy Cadillac convertible with Michigan license plates. One of the men was a Negro, Jim Watson, who had known Roberts years before in Detroit. His white companion was narcotics agent Howard W. Chappell, masquerading under the name "Lonnie."

They made discreet inquiries and then drove to Roberts' apartment house. This was the beginning of a tense 72 hours—with success or failure depending on whether they could gain the confidence of Jim Yellow.

At the apartment house, Watson left Agent Chappell in the car. He walked into the building and knocked on Roberts' apartment door. The big Negro peered out, recognized an old friend—and the informer stepped into Roberts' apartment with its thick carpets, expensive furniture and a $3,000 television set built into a Chinese cabinet.

"Are you alone?" Roberts asked.

Moment Was Crucial

The informer replied: "No. I'm running with a white boy, but he's all right."

This was a crucial moment. The whole carefully laid plan would collapse if Roberts became suspicious. But then Jim Yellow said: "That doesn't make any difference. I have a white wife. Bring him in."

Watson called Chappell into the apartment to meet Roberts. "Make yourself at home," Jim Yellow told his visitors. Then he asked Watson what kind of car he was driving.

"A 1948 Cadillac convertible," the informer replied casually.

Jim Yellow was impressed. "Man, you're doing all right, too," he said.

Then Roberts, the host, became expansive and boastful to prove to his guests that he was a big man around town.

Would Get Cops Fired

"Don't you worry about anything while you are in town," he said. If there was any trouble with police, he said, just call him and he would see that the cops were fired.

Finally the talk got around to marihuana and Watson asked Roberts if he had any "pot."

Jim Yellow went into a bedroom and came out with three or four ounces of marihuana in a hat-box lid. "Help yourself," he said. Watson rolled some marihuana cigarettes and Agent Chappell simulated smoking one.

"This is good stuff," Watson said.

Chappell said: "It must have come from around Lexington, Ky."

Roberts replied that it was a fact the marihuana had come from Kentucky.

Tinky Smoked Reefers

Meanwhile, Roberts' wife, Tinky came into the room with a girl friend. Both began chain-smoking "reefers."

"I don't see why you smoke that stuff," Jim Yellow said. "I've tried it and I don't feel anything." Tinky said: "You'd be better off smoking these than drinking whisky."

The Robertses and their visitors were now on friendly terms. They had dinner and visited a night club and before they went home Jim Yellow gave them a supply of marihuana cigarettes as a gesture of hospitality.

Next day Chappell and Watson returned to Roberts' apartment to watch a baseball game on television. And then Watson made his pitch . . . "I've got to get my nose cleaned," he told Jim Yellow—meaning he needed a shot of heroin.

Jim Yellow picked up a telephone, dialed a number, and told someone: "When you come over, bring ten of those things and come over right away."

Watson Gets Heroin

Later, a negro brought a sack full of money into the apartment, and he handed a little brown envelope to Roberts. Jim Yellow passed the envelope to Watson—an envelope containing 10 capsules of heroin.

Watson gave Jim Yellow $30—the usual price of $3 a cap which junkies pay to Washington peddlers. And the agents had their evidence.

But they wanted a bigger haul of heroin if they could get it.

During dinner, Watson asked Roberts about the chances of "getting a piece"—getting a large quantity of heroin. Jim Yellow told him he could deliver an ounce the next afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"How much will the stuff cost? Watson asked.

"$300," Roberts replied.

Watson protested he could buy the same amount in New York at a much cheaper price.

"Like hell you can," Jim Yellow retorted. "You know there is a panic there and if you want any stuff that is good, you'll have to get it from me."

Game Ends Abruptly

The following day, Chappell and Watson tried twice to contact Roberts but the last time they knocked on his door, Tinky peeked around the chained door and told them Jim Yellow wasn't there—and she was leaving soon, too.

The game was over then. Narcotics agents raided the luxury apartment and seized more evidence.

Jim Yellow was sentenced to spend 20 months to five years in prison. His wife, Tinky, was sentenced to 16 months to four years in prison.

They appealed to the District Court of Appeals—but were denied a new hearing.

That's the story of Jim Yellow taken from the files of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau. But the arrest and conviction of Jim Yellow is only a part of the answer to the problem of what to do about the slave-world of narcotics.

A fully grown flounder has two eyes on one side of his head and none on the other.

Roberts replied that it was a fact the marihuana had come from Kentucky.

Tinky Smoked Reefers

Meanwhile, Roberts' wife, Tinky came into the room with a girl friend. Both began chain-smoking "reefers."

"I don't see why you smoke that stuff," Jim Yellow said. "I've tried it and I don't feel anything." Tinky said: "You'd be better off smoking these than drinking whisky."

The Robertses and their visitors were now on friendly terms. They had dinner and visited a night club and before they went home Jim Yellow gave them a supply of marihuana cigarettes as a gesture of hospitality.

Next day Chappell and Watson returned to Roberts' apartment to watch a baseball game on television. And then Watson made his pitch . . . "I've got to get my nose cleaned," he told Jim Yellow—meaning he needed a shot of heroin.

Jim Yellow picked up a telephone, dialed a number, and told someone: "When you come over, bring ten of those things and come over right away."

Watson Gets Heroin

Later, a negro brought a sack full of money into the apartment, and he handed a little brown envelope to Roberts. Jim Yellow passed the envelope to Watson—an envelope containing 10 capsules of heroin.

Watson gave Jim Yellow $30—the usual price of $3 a cap which junkies pay to Washington peddlers. And the agents had their evidence.

But they wanted a bigger haul of heroin if they could get it.

During dinner, Watson asked Roberts about the chances of "getting a piece"—getting a large quantity of heroin. Jim Yellow told him he could deliver an ounce the next afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"How much will the stuff cost? Watson asked.

"$300," Roberts replied.

Watson protested he could buy the same amount in New York at a much cheaper price.

"Like hell you can," Jim Yellow retorted. "You know there is a panic there and if you want any stuff that is good, you'll have to get it from me."

Game Ends Abruptly

The following day, Chappell and Watson tried twice to contact Roberts but the last time they knocked on his door, Tinky peeked around the chained door and told them Jim Yellow wasn't there—and she was leaving soon, too.

The game was over then. Narcotics agents raided the luxury apartment and seized more evidence.

Jim Yellow was sentenced to spend 20 months to five years in prison. His wife, Tinky, was sentenced to 16 months to four years in prison.

They appealed to the District Court of Appeals—but were denied a new hearing.

That's the story of Jim Yellow taken from the files of the U. S. Narcotics Bureau. But the arrest and conviction of Jim Yellow is only a part of the answer to the problem of what to do about the slave-world of narcotics.

English Priest Talks To Academy Students

The Rev. Gerard Vann, O. P., well-known English Dominican priest, author and lecturer spoke to students of the Academy of St. Ursula and their parents Monday at Marygrove, and urged them to "live deeply and attain spiritual maturity in an age of noisy, restless surface living."

Admired in England as an educator, an apostle of peace and a popular radio speaker, Father Vann is best known in America as the author of a dozen or more books dealing with the deep problems of the human heart and its happiness. The simple, non-technical language and charming style of his writings have been said to give them appeal to men of all faiths.

"We are losing the natural human setting for mature living," Father Vann said, and later commented, "If you want to live a deep, rich, full life you have to react against the modern fever of rush. Activity may be important, but it is not the important thing; the most important is to have an alive mind. For that, one has to learn to be still sometimes and to look into the mystery at the heart of things."

Education

Father Vann spoke on Education to an appreciative audience of parents. He emphasized the fact that education is not just a question of packing information into people's heads. It is rather a question of helping them to use their own powers and interests to grow on every level of life, in body, mind, emotions and character.

Continuing, the speaker said, "It is the measure of man's God-given greatness to know and love the earth and its fullness and so to be enriched by all the fullness of life in this finite world; to know and love the infinite and so to be enriched by the infinitely greater and fuller life that lies about it and beyond it."

Jewish Center Has Program for Family

The Jewish community center of Kingston announced the opening of a comprehensive leisure time program designed to serve the needs of all members of the family from ages 6 to 86, according to Arthur Ewig, president. This program, he said, has been developed in the form of organized group activities which will take place regularly at the center.

A junior program has been organized to serve children from 6 to 12 inclusive and will embrace such activities as arts and crafts, music, dramatics, games, story telling and dancing.

The youth program for boys and girls from 13 to 17 inclusive, includes a game room for ping-pong, chess and checkers, a lounge for informal round dancing and discussions, organized groups such as the B'nai B'rith AZA boys and girls groups, scouting and basketball teams. In addition, the center offers an organized program of athletics, ballroom and folk dancing instruction, a study group for help in problems of homework and special week end events such as intercity dances as well as local dances, outings, films and parties.

The adult program for men and women of all ages is just getting under way with a game room for ping pong, chess and checkers, an adult lounge and library, course in arts and crafts, an orchestra, dramatics group, choral group, and classes in elementary Hebrew, conversation Hebrew and literature, Jewish history and culture and Latin-American dances.

Additional activities, according to Mr. Ewig, will be organized as the need for them is expressed. Meantime he invited all those interested in enrolling for any of these activities, or those desiring more information, to write or phone the Jewish community center, 265 Wall street. A printed brochure will be sent to any person requesting it.

Saint Rose College Has 10 Scholarships

Ten scholarships to the College of Saint Rose in Albany will be available for girls to be graduated from high school in June, it was announced today.

A full tuition ($1,400) scholarship will be awarded by the Saint Rose Alumnae Association to the applicant ranking first in the competitive examination.

Nine additional scholarships valued at $700 each will be awarded by the college administration to the girls who rank second to tenth, inclusive, in the examination.

Only girls who apply for the Saint Rose scholarships before February 10 and who take the March 15 examination will be competing for the awards.

Applications must be obtained from the college in Albany before February 10.

A girl must be in the upper fifth of her high school class, to be eligible, or must have attained an average of 85 per cent.

Place Emphasis on Texture

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

New York — (NEA)—Unlikely as it seems in the middle of winter, summer is really on its way. When designers create cottons that will be important hot weather fashions, summer must be considered.

In a season when silhouette is not drastically changed, the emphasis falls on fabric. This year, summer's cottons have a "three-dimensional" look created by the use of dobby dots, shadowed overplaids, satin stripes woven into gingham, and lots of cording.

Color, too, gains new importance. Colors in cottons this year start with an entire family of blues, from deep sapphire to clear sky-blue.

They continue into sun-yellows, the clear, candy pinks, hibiscus orange reds, deep raspberry reds, and on into neat black-and-white combinations in pencil-line stripes, tiny checks or outstanding squares.

The textured look (left) in a blue Dan River cotton with a raised dobby dot has an organdy insert below the Peter Pan collar and organdy cuffs. Crystal buttons with a raindrop sparkle are used from neckline to the full skirt.

A green chambray that sheds wrinkles (right) is cut into a dress with scalloped, portrait neckline and cap sleeves. Full skirt of unpressed pleats, billowed out by a crinoline, has white embroidered eyelets and scalloped design.

Ruth M. Northway Addresses Adults

Dr. Ruth M. Northway, director of elementary education in the local public schools, addressed the Adult Education Discussion Group Monday evening in the Kingston High School library, and appraised the basic skills, newer methods and techniques of teaching, and types of school children.

"Children within the Kingston elementary schools represent all types," said Dr. Northway. "They range in varying degrees from the so called limousine group to the latch key group." In the latter group were considered the children whose parents are both working and who have little or no supervision during the day. Key differences visible among the elementary children were described as the speaker pointed out that the needs of a child could be placed within six major areas; namely, physical and mental health, personal and social attitudes, basic skills, individual aptitudes and leisure time.

It was stated that "leisure time constantly assumes greater importance in our changing culture and in the lives of the children. The present day schools provide regular periods for free and organized play, club activities and hobbies. By participation in many varied activities, the child learns to distinguish the value and purpose of both work and play in relationship to himself." A stronger cooperation between school, home and the community was urged by Dr. Northway who also suggested better city-wide recreational facilities for a worthwhile leisure time program made available to every child.

Students Demonstrate

Demonstrating the apparent results of the effectiveness of the newest type of instruction in the public schools, Dr. Northway presented a group of students from the sixth grade of school 7 under the direction of their teacher, Miss Dorothy Van Gaasbeck. The students were Donna Smith, Beverly Castor, and Bruce Port. They gave an interesting account of the origin and development of a unit of electricity.

Bruce Port explained through graphic blackboard instructions, the theory of how electricity is made and exhibited a wireless apparatus constructed by a committee under his direction. Beverly Castor and Donna Smith spoke briefly on the development of the unit within the classroom and concluded by presenting a motion picture constructed by class members, entitled Electricity and You. A narration explaining each picture as it was shown, was produced by a tape recorder demonstrating a newer type of teaching device used in the schools.

Statistics

According to the speaker, approximately 2400 children attend the elementary schools daily, 700 students attend the Myron J. Michael Junior High School and 460 children are registered in the kindergartens. A recent census indicates a registration of 588 in the kindergartens for the year 1952-3. This trend in increasing enrollment emphasizes the comprehensive and far reaching function of the schools within the community and their influence upon the total welfare of the child, observed Dr. Northway.

"If parents believe in what the schools are trying to do, they will further a spirit of loyalty, pride, and cooperation and build better schools for tomorrow," said Dr. Northway in conclusion.

Officers Elected By Ellenville Bar

The Ellenville Bar Association at a recent dinner meeting in the Wayside Inn there elected officers and discussed local and state government.

Attorney Charles F. Kaiser was chosen president for ensuing year, and officers to serve with him are attorneys Louis Berger, vice president; Frank Decker, secretary and Seymour Krieger, treasurer.

One of the major discussions concerning governmental problems was the steps taken to present resolutions before the proper legislating bodies.

Ulster Legion Ladies to Hold Polio Ball Saturday

Three acts of entertainment for the first annual polio ball sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Town of Ulster American Legion, Unit 1748, to be held Saturday night at the Rose Marie Cabins, Route 9W, were announced today by Mrs. George Dall, chairman.

Included in the entertainment will be several students from Lucille's Dance Studio.

Others who will appear are Louise DePaola, young accordionist who has been popular at several other affairs and George Atanasio who will present his drum specialty.

Mrs. Dall, who is working closely with Mrs. Myrtle Davis, entertainment chairman, said today that indications are that a large crowd will be on hand for the March of Dimes ball this Saturday night.

The use of the Rose Marie Cabins for the benefit ball has been turned over to the Legion Auxiliary free of charge by Joseph DiDonna.

"All proceeds from Saturday's dance will be turned over to the Ulster County March of Dimes drive, "Mrs. Dall reported today.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

OH, PLEASE DON'T

I don't know when a young wife has been put in a more unfair situation than the one described in this letter: "Recently my husband and I were invited to an informal dinner at the house of one of his business associates. My husband knows the couple quite well but I had met them only twice. The day before the dinner my husband asked me to telephone the hostess and ask if there were anything I could bring. I was shocked at the idea of doing such a thing, but he insisted, so I did it to please him. My husband feels that what he asked me to do was a friendly gesture, but I think that it was a serious breach of etiquette. Will you please give me your opinion of this?"

The fact that your husband knows them very well might quite likely have made this gesture welcome. But under ordinary circumstances — especially when going to a house where you are not an intimate friend — asking to bring any part of the dinner would, in my opinion, be likely to result in resentment rather than appreciation.

Serving Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party, should the host serve his wife first, then the ladies and gentlemen, or should he first serve the ladies, then his wife and then the gentlemen? There has been quite a friendly discussion over this matter and my husband and I would like to know which is correct.

Answer: If one lady is very much older than the others, he would go to pains to serve her first. Otherwise he serves a few women first and everybody else as they happen to come—but under no circumstances his wife first.

Tablecloth Correct Place

Dear Mrs. Post: Where is bread put when no bread and butter plate are included at dinner?

Answer: On the tablecloth. In fact, at a dinner too formal for bread and butter plates, the tablecloth is exactly where the bread is correctly put.

On what occasion does a gentleman lift his hat or remove it entirely? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public," includes answers to the above and many other courtesy questions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Jewish Center Has Program for Family

The Jewish community center of Kingston announced the opening of a comprehensive leisure time program designed to serve the needs of all members of the family from ages 6 to 86, according to Arthur Ewig, president. This program, he said, has been developed in the form of organized group activities which will take place regularly at the center.

A junior program has been organized to serve children from 6 to 12 inclusive and will embrace such activities as arts and crafts, music, dramatics, games, story telling and dancing.

The youth program for boys and girls from 13 to 17 inclusive, includes a game room for pingpong, chess and checkers, a lounge for informal round dancing and discussions, organized groups such as the B'nai B'rith AZA boys and girls groups, scouting and basketball teams. In addition, the center offers an organized program of athletics, ballroom and folk dancing instruction, a study group for help in problems of homework and special week end events such as intercity dances as well as local dances, outings, films and parties.

The adult program for men and women of all ages is just getting under way with a game room for ping pong, chess and checkers, an adult lounge and library, course in arts and crafts, an orchestra, dramatics group, choral group, and classes in elementary Hebrew, conversation Hebrew and literature, Jewish history and culture and Latin-American dances.

Additional activities, according to Mr. Ewig, will be organized as the need for them is expressed. Meantime he invited all those interested in enrolling for any of these activities, or those desiring more information, to write or phone the Jewish community center, 265 Wall street. A printed brochure will be sent to any person requesting it.

Saint Rose College Has 10 Scholarships

Ten scholarships to the College of Saint Rose in Albany will be available for girls to be graduated from high school in June, it was announced today.

A full tuition ($1,400) scholarship will be awarded by the Saint Rose Alumnae Association to the applicant ranking first in the competitive examination.

Nine additional scholarships valued at $700 each will be awarded by the college administration to the girls who rank second to tenth, inclusive, in the examination.

Only girls who apply for the Saint Rose scholarships before February 10 and who take the March 15 examination will be competing for the awards.

Applications must be obtained from the college in Albany before February 10.

A girl must be in the upper fifth of her high school class, to be elicible, or must have attained an average of 85 per cent.

Statistics

According to the speaker, approximately 2400 children attend the elementary schools daily, 700 students attend the Myron J. Michael Junior High School and 460 children are registered in the kindergartens. A recent census indicates a registration of 588 in the kindergartens for the year 1952-3. This trend in increasing enrollment emphasizes the comprehensive and far reaching function of the schools within the community and their influence upon the total welfare of the child, observed Dr. Northway.

"If parents believe in what the schools are trying to do, they will further a spirit of loyalty, pride, and cooperation and build better schools for tomorrow," said Dr. Northway in conclusion.

Officers Elected By Ellenville Bar

The Ellenville Bar Association at a recent dinner meeting in the Wayside Inn there elected officers and discussed local and state government.

Attorney Charles F. Kaiser was chosen president for ensuing year, and officers to serve with him are attorneys Louis Berger, vice president; Frank Decker, secretary and Seymour Krieger, treasurer.

One of the major discussions concerning governmental problems was the steps taken to present resolutions before the proper legislating bodies.

Ulster Legion Ladies to Hold Polio Ball Saturday

Three acts of entertainment for the first annual polio ball sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Town of Ulster American Legion, Unit 1748, to be held Saturday night at the Rose Marie Cabins, Route 9W, were announced today by Mrs. George Dall, chairman.

Included in the entertainment will be several students from Lucille's Dance Studio.

Others who will appear are Louise DePaola, young accordionist who has been popular at several other affairs and George Atanasio who will present his drum specialty.

Mrs. Dall, who is working closely with Mrs. Myrtle Davis, entertainment chairman, said today that indications are that a large crowd will be on hand for the March of Dimes ball this Saturday night.

The use of the Rose Marie Cabins for the benefit ball has been turned over to the Legion Auxiliary free of charge by Joseph DiDonna.

"All proceeds from Saturday's dance will be turned over to the Ulster County March of Dimes drive, "Mrs. Dall reported today.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

OH, PLEASE DON'T

I don't know when a young wife has been put in a more unfair situation than the one described in this letter: "Recently my husband and I were invited to an informal dinner at the house of one of his business associates. My husband knows the couple quite well but I had met them only twice. The day before the dinner my husband asked me to telephone the hostess and ask if there were anything I could bring. I was shocked at the idea of doing such a thing, but he insisted, so I did it to please him. My husband feels that what he asked me to do was a friendly gesture, but I think that it was a serious breach of etiquette. Will you please give me your opinion of this?"

The fact that your husband knows them very well might quite likely have made this gesture welcome. But under ordinary circumstances — especially when going to a house where you are not an intimate friend — asking to bring any part of the dinner would, in my opinion, be likely to result in resentment rather than appreciation.

Serving Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party, should the host serve his wife first, then the ladies and gentlemen, or should he first serve the ladies, then his wife and then the gentlemen? There has been quite a friendly discussion over this matter and my husband and I would like to know which is correct.

Answer: If one lady is very much older than the others, he would go to pains to serve her first. Otherwise he serves a few women first and everybody else as they happen to come—but under no circumstances his wife first.

Tablecloth Correct Place

Dear Mrs. Post: Where is bread put when no bread and butter plate are included at dinner?

Answer: On the tablecloth. In fact, at a dinner too formal for bread and butter plates, the tablecloth is exactly where the bread is correctly put.

300 Bands, 20 Singers, 12 Novelty Acts on Dimes Show

The third annual parade of bands for the March of Dimes will be held at the municipal auditorium Monday, Jan. 28, through the cooperation of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, AFL, and Radio Station WKNY, featuring musicians and entertainers from all sections of the county.

More than 300 musical units, 20 singers, and 12 novelty entertainers have volunteered so far, according to Dick McCarthy, emcee, for the program scheduled to go on the air at 8 p. m.

There will be a battery of volunteer telephone operators ready to take requests for special selections, receiving calls at phones 4307, 4308, 4309, 4310 and 4311. Pledges will be made for each request.

Those desiring to attend the program in person will be admitted to the auditorium at 7 o'clock, and it is anticipated that there will be a capacity audience in the spacious hall. Contributions will be received at the entrance and those in the hall will be eligible to compete for 32 prizes offered by Kingston merchants.

Michael J. Marchuk, secretary of Local 215 is chairman of the entertainment program which he promises will offer great variety.

President John E. Cole of the musicians union and Robert Peebles, manager of WKNY, stress that every penny collected will be turned over to the March of Dimes committee, and they are generous in their praise of those who are donating their services and facilities to help in promoting the event.

Dewey Signs Bill

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed today a bill correcting errors in the congressional reapportionment law passed at a special session of the Legislature last Dec. 5. The amendment adds the Marble Hill section of Manhattan and three islands in New York harbor—Ellis, Bedloes and Governors—to the new 19th Congressional District. Those areas had been inadvertently omitted from any district in the original reapportionment bill. Under reapportionment, New York's congressional districts were reduced from 45 to 43.

Iran Gives Reason

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 24 (AP)—A government spokesman said today Iran rejected Robert Hankey as the new British ambassador because Iran believes a British envoy with no previous experience here would better facilitate an oil settlement. Hankey served as first secretary of the British embassy in Tehran from 1942 to 1944. Iran said he was unacceptable as a replacement for the present British ambassador, Sir Francis Shepherd, who is due to leave next Monday after serving two turbulent years in the post.

Campaign Is Started

Berlin, Jan. 24 (AP)—A quiet campaign to impress on the Russian sector of Berlin that Americans are here and intend to stay has been started in the U. S. Army Officer Corps. Officers are being encouraged occasionally to visit East Berlin, in uniform. Those engaged in "sensitive" or "intelligence" pursuits are forbidden to enter the East sector but the others are urged to regard it as just another part of a four-power city, without a Red frontier. The only rules are to behave well, and maintain the dignity of the uniform.

Stresses Using Lord's Prayer in Opening Schools

Insisting that the Lord's Prayer is the only prayer suitable for use in public schools, Dr. J. Howard Howson, chairman, Department of Religion, Vassar College explained that it is universal in its character, usable by the three major faiths in America today.

Dr. Howson continued throughout his address before the opening assembly of the third annual midyear conference of the public schools this morning at Kingston High School to stress the fact that it is important for Catholics, Jews and Protestants to recognize a higher loyalty than a loyalty to one's country, if Americans are to fulfill their moral obligation in the world, today.

The speaker supported his arguments for the use of the Lord's Prayer in public schools by explaining that excellent translations have recently been made by scholars of the three religious groups and that it would be entirely feasible to construct a prayer for public school use by combining parts of all of these translations.

Religion Needed

Taking as his subject, The Role of Religion in Education, Dr. Howson explained that today many people feel that religion should be taught in the schools to overcome the moral deficiencies in American home life. These people sincerely believe that the teaching of religion would strengthen character, so necessary to the welfare of the country.

An objective study of religion, the speaker pointed out, has revealed that there is little correlation between knowledge of the Bible and integrity of character. Character, he said, is not primarily an outgrowth of the intellect, but has to do with matters of the will.

This same study revealed that the most potent forces in the building of character are the qualities of home life as exemplified by the parents, intimate friends and school, if there is real integrity of relationships between individuals.

Religion, Dr. Howson continued, is an integral part of our culture since western civilization was founded in Christianity. Therefore, teachers must be free to teach the history and controversies of this period. They should also be free, he feels, to have students read in the Bible and understand the stories that are the basis for much that is fine in English literature. If religions are to understand each other, he stated, they need the elementary knowledge about each other.

Need Cooperation of Faiths

Dr. Howson suggested that Catholics, Jews and Protestant scholars work out a syllabus that could be used as a basis for religious teaching in schools. It would be a difficult task, the speaker admitted, but our culture demands it.

Concerning the use of religious ritual in schools, Dr. Howson explained that while the Salute to the Flag is no guarantee of patriotism, it is a symbol of what America means. If schools had the reading of the scriptures and the Lord's Prayer, it would not, he concluded, "transform a student's character, but it would emphasize the fact that however great one's love of country is, one's obligation to God is greater."

Dual greetings to the group were made by Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw and Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Board of Education.

Schools Represented

To Perform Autopsy

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Bernard Bernier, 45, of 3829 30th Street, Long Island City, who had been repairing a well on property owned by New York Hospital, Westchester division, was found dead at the bottom of the well yesterday afternoon. Hospital authorities listed cause of his death as "a possible skull fracture." An autopsy will be performed today. Two fellow workers found Bernier's body face down in 18 inches of water at the bottom of the 25-foot well. He was employed by the Suburban Engineering Co., of 15 West 38th Street, New York City.

Fannie Clings to Life

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Actress Fannie Ward, the "Fountain of Youth" girl, continued today to cling to life at Lenox Hill Hospital. Suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage, the "eternal soubrette" was admitted to the hospital Monday afternoon in a coma. She was placed in an oxygen tent and was given intravenous injections of glucose. "Her condition today remains the same—very critical," said Hospital Superintendent John H. Hayes. Miss Ward says she is 79 but friends say the former actress is over 80.

Card Parties

St. Ann's Church

A card party will be held at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill Friday evening. Refreshments will be served. A bus for the hall will leave Crown street terminal at 7:30 p. m.

Suit Is Dismissed

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—A $2,100,000 damage suit filed by singer Paul Robeson and 29 other leftists after two riots near Peekskill, N. Y., was dismissed in federal court yesterday. The 30 plaintiffs, including writer Howard Fast, filed suit against two Westchester county veterans groups, Westchester County District Attorney George M. Fanelli and 13 others. They sued in 1949 after two concerts the Negro singer attempted to give ended in rock throwing and disorder. They claimed the defendants organized a mob to prevent Robeson from performing.

Elizabeth Citizens

up yesterday by Joseph O. Fluet, regional director of the Civil Aeronautics Board, to investigate the disaster.

Fluet said he had no knowledge that the craft had any trouble or defect and that he presumed it had been inspected according to regulations.

Boyle, who visited the grim crash scene yesterday, predicted that Elizabeth would become a "ghost city" if some action is not taken soon.

All but seven of the victims have been identified. The 29th body was recovered from the scorched wreckage late yesterday.

Among the passengers killed was Robert P. Patterson, 60-year-old secretary of war under President Truman.

PATAUKUNK

Pataukunk, Jan. 23—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slater of Cornwall, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Brown of Little Britain visited Grace and Jennie Schoonmaker Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gockel and sons Robert and Stanley of Sundown spent Sunday with Samson Osterhoudt. The Gockel family will take possession of the Osterhoudt property as of April 1, having purchased the property some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks were Saturday afternoon guests of her sister, Mr., and Mrs. Charles Krohn at Stone Ridge.

Miss Sonia Lauritzen from Elmhurst and Miss Aurella Giepel from Jackson Heights arrived here Saturday and will spend a week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lucas at the To-Meve Poultry Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Wynkoop spent Saturday evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ransford Pomeroy and son Harold, daughter, Linda Nell, also Frank Atkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Quick and daughter Joyce, Mrs. Hyman Brooks and Mrs. Lloyd Barley were among those from here attending the wedding of Miss Eula Quick to Ennis Thorne of Clintondale at the Modena Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osterhoudt and son Karl spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erik Gundberg.

Dewey Signs Bill

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed today a bill correcting errors in the congressional reapportionment law passed at a special session of the Legislature last Dec. 5. The amendment adds the Marble Hill section of Manhattan and three islands in New York harbor—Ellis, Bedloes and Governors—to the new 19th Congressional District. Those areas had been inadvertently omitted from any district in the original reapportionment bill. Under reapportionment, New York's congressional districts were reduced from 45 to 43.

Iran Gives Reason

Tehran, Iran, Jan. 24 (AP)—A government spokesman said today Iran rejected Robert Hankey as the new British ambassador because Iran believes a British envoy with no previous experience here would better facilitate an oil settlement. Hankey served as first secretary of the British embassy in Tehran from 1942 to 1944. Iran said he was unacceptable as a replacement for the present British ambassador, Sir Francis Shepherd, who is due to leave next Monday after serving two turbulent years in the post.

Campaign Is Started

Berlin, Jan. 24 (AP)—A quiet campaign to impress on the Russian sector of Berlin that Americans are here and intend to stay has been started in the U. S. Army Officer Corps. Officers are being encouraged occasionally to visit East Berlin, in uniform. Those engaged in "sensitive" or "intelligence" pursuits are forbidden to enter the East sector but the others are urged to regard it as just another part of a four-power city, without a Red frontier. The only rules are to behave well, and maintain the dignity of the uniform.

Stresses Using Lord's Prayer in Opening Schools

Insisting that the Lord's Prayer is the only prayer suitable for use in public schools, Dr. J. Howard Howson, chairman, Department of Religion, Vassar College explained that it is universal in its character, usable by the three major faiths in America today.

Dr. Howson continued throughout his address before the opening assembly of the third annual mid-year conference of the public schools this morning at Kingston High School to stress the fact that it is important for Catholics, Jews and Protestants to recognize a higher loyalty than a loyalty to one's country, if Americans are to fulfill their moral obligation in the world, today.

The speaker supported his arguments for the use of the Lord's Prayer in public schools by explaining that excellent translations have recently been made by scholars of the three religious groups and that it would be entirely feasible to construct a prayer for public school use by combining parts of all of these translations.

Religion Needed

Taking as his subject, The Role of Religion in Education, Dr. Howson explained that today many people feel that religion should be taught in the schools to overcome the moral deficiencies in American home life. These people sincerely believe that the teaching of religion would strengthen character, so necessary to the welfare of the country.

An objective study of religion, the speaker pointed out, has revealed that there is little correlation between knowledge of the Bible and integrity of character. Character, he said, is not primarily an outgrowth of the intellect, but has to do with matters of the will.

This same study revealed that the most potent forces in the building of character are the qualities of home life as exemplified by the parents, intimate friends and school, if there is real integrity of relationships between individuals.

Religion, Dr. Howson continued, is an integral part of our culture since western civilization was founded in Christianity. Therefore, teachers must be free to teach the history and controversies of this period. They should also be free, he feels, to have students read in the Bible and understand the stories that are the basis for much that is fine in English literature. If religions are to understand each other, he stated, they need the elementary knowledge about each other.

Need Cooperation of Faiths

Dr. Howson suggested that Catholics, Jews and Protestant scholars work out a syllabus that could be used as a basis for religious teaching in schools. It would be a difficult task, the speaker admitted, but our culture demands it.

Concerning the use of religious ritual in schools, Dr. Howson explained that while the Salute to the Flag is no guarantee of patriotism, it is a symbol of what America means. If schools had the reading of the scriptures and the Lord's Prayer, it would not, he concluded, "transform a student's character, but it would emphasize the fact that however great one's love of country is, one's obligation to God is greater."

Dual greetings to the group were made by Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw and Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Board of Education.

Schools Represented

To Perform Autopsy

White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Bernard Bernier, 45, of 3829 30th Street, Long Island City, who had been repairing a well on property owned by New York Hospital, Westchester division, was found dead at the bottom of the well yesterday afternoon. Hospital authorities listed cause of his death as "a possible skull fracture." An autopsy will be performed today. Two fellow workers found Bernier's body face down in 18 inches of water at the bottom of the 25-foot well. He was employed by the Suburban Engineering Co., of 15 West 38th Street, New York City.

Fannie Clings to Life

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Actress Fannie Ward, the "Fountain of Youth" girl, continued today to cling to life at Lenox Hill Hospital. Suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage, the "eternal soubrette" was admitted to the hospital Monday afternoon in a coma. She was placed in an oxygen tent and was given intravenous injections of glucose. "Her condition today remains the same—very critical," said Hospital Superintendent John H. Hayes. Miss Ward says she is 79 but friends say the former actress is over 80.

Card Parties

St. Ann's Church

A card party will be held at St. Ann's Church in Sawkill Friday evening. Refreshments will be served. A bus for the hall will leave Crown street terminal at 7:30 p. m.

Suit Is Dismissed

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—A $2,100,000 damage suit filed by singer Paul Robeson and 29 other leftists after two riots near Peekskill, N. Y., was dismissed in federal court yesterday. The 30 plaintiffs, including writer Howard Fast, filed suit against two Westchester county veterans groups, Westchester County District Attorney George M. Fanelli and 13 others. They sued in 1949 after two concerts the Negro singer attempted to give ended in rock throwing and disorder. They claimed the defendants organized a mob to prevent Robeson from performing.

up yesterday by Joseph O. Fluet, regional director of the Civil Aeronautics Board, to investigate the disaster.

Fluet said he had no knowledge that the craft had any trouble or defect and that he presumed it had been inspected according to regulations.

Boyle, who visited the grim crash scene yesterday, predicted that Elizabeth would become a "ghost city" if some action is not taken soon.

All but seven of the victims have been identified. The 29th body was recovered from the scorched wreckage late yesterday.

Among the passengers killed was Robert P. Patterson, 60-year-old secretary of war under President Truman.

PATAUKUNK

Pataukunk, Jan. 23—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slater of Cornwall, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Brown of Little Britain visited Grace and Jennie Schoonmaker Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Gockel and sons Robert and Stanley of Sundown spent Sunday with Samson Osterhoudt. The Gockel family will take possession of the Osterhoudt property as of April 1, having purchased the property some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks were Saturday afternoon guests of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krohn at Stone Ridge.

Miss Sonia Lauritzen from Elmhurst and Miss Aurella Giepel from Jackson Heights arrived here Saturday and will spend a week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lucas at the To-Meve Poultry Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Wynkoop spent Saturday evening as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ransford Pomeroy and son Harold, daughter, Linda Nell, also Frank Atkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Quick and daughter Joyce, Mrs. Hyman Brooks and Mrs. Lloyd Barley were among those from here attending the wedding of Miss Eula Quick to Ennis Thorne of Clintondale at the Modena Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osterhoudt and son Karl spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erik Gundberg.

Cigarettes Bring Record

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—New Yorkers smoked 41½ billion cigarettes last year, an all-time high that produced a record $59,699,112 in state taxes, The State Tax Commission reported yesterday that the previous highs were recorded in 1950, when the state collected $58 million on 40½ billion cigarettes. The 1951 consumption represented 2,795 smokes, or about 140 packs, for every resident of the state.

BEEF-CORN CASSEROLE, served with individual bakers of candied sweet potatoes makes a hearty wintertime meal.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Wonderful wintertime eating—this combination of beef and corn baked in a casserole, and served with individual candied sweet potatoes.

Beef and Corn Casserole
(4 to 6 servings)

Two eggs, ¾ cup milk, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 pound ground beef, 1 teaspoon minced thyme, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2½ cups cream-style corn (1 No. 2 can), 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, ¼ cup finely chopped onion.

Beat eggs; stir in milk and bread crumbs. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Turn into a well greased one-quart heat-resistant glass baking dish and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for 1¼ hours.

Candied Sweet Potatoes
(6 servings)

Six tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons water, ¾ cup brown sugar, 6 boiled and peeled sweet potatoes.

Cook butter, water and sugar in a one-quart heat-resistant glass saucepan, stirring occasionally, for about three minutes or until a thin syrup is formed. Cut potatoes in thick slices and arrange in six heat-resistant glass custard cups, five-ounce size.

Spoon syrup over potatoes and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until most of the syrup has been absorbed by the potatoes, about 30 minutes.

Tasty Beef-Noodle Casserole
(About 6 servings)

Eight ounces noodles, cooked, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¾ pound ground beef, chuck, 1 medium onion, sliced, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 package frozen peas (12 ounces) at least partly defrosted, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Cook noodles according to directions on package. Melt butter; add ground beef and cook over direct heat until slightly browned. Add onion slices and cook about five minutes.

Put cooked noodles in a well greased two-quart casserole. Add meat and onion mixture, tomatoes, peas and seasonings. Stir lightly. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., about 30 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Apple sauce, shredded wheat, toasted bacon sandwiches, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomato juice, creamed salmon and peas on whole wheat toast, raw carrot sticks, nut crumb cake, tea, milk.

DINNER: Beef and corn casserole, candied sweet potatoes, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, cabbage and apple salad, chocolate chiffon pie, coffee, milk.

Carlsen Is Honored

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen, skipper hero of the ill-fated freighter Flying Enterprise, was guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon of maritime officials. After relating the story of his vain effort to save his ship, the captain was presented with a ship's clock and a plaque by the luncheon sponsors, the Propeller Club of the United States and Allied Trade Groups.

Drum-Beaters

Saigon, Indochina (AP)—You always know when there's something extra on the entertainment program at the biggest Chinese theatres in Saigon and the twin city of Cholon. You just can't help it, for from an early morning hour until dusk, an advertising van, carry big signs and drawn by a little donkey, moves through the main thoroughfares of the cities. To attract attention, young Chinese beat upon drums and ring bells.

Theaters in the United States can seat a total of 11,394,000 persons.

Will Immunize Children Jan. 26

A clinic for immunizations against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main street, on January 26 from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Immunizations for whooping cough should be started at three months of age, diphtheria and tetanus at six months and smallpox vaccination some time during the first year of life, the department said.

These clinics serve those who may not otherwise secure these immunizations or for referral of patients by their physician.

No. 1 of a series of ads directed to men in the belief that the substantial savings made possible by A&P's Close-Trim-cutting method are of special interest to the family wage-earner.

MEN!

Which Steak Would You Buy to Get the Best Value?

is an ordinary porterhouse steak weighing 2 pounds, 6 ounces. Larger than the steak on the right, it may look like a better buy. But looks are deceiving! For 10 ounces of this steak are excess fat and tail meat (flank) that's too tough to broil. Yet these parts cost just as much per pound as the 1¾ pound heart of the steak. Assuming that ordinary porterhouse steaks cost from $1.05 to $1.15 per pound, you'd pay over 65c for excess tail and fat—between $2.49 and $2.73 for a 2-pound, 6-ounce steak like this. Hardly a bargain!

On The Right...

is an A&P Close-Trimmed "Super-Right" porterhouse steak. Note that the 10 ounces of excess fat and tail have been removed. They don't cost you a cent! (Unless you wish to buy the ½ pound of tail meat as hamburger for 33c) Only the tender, juicy heart of the steak is sold at A&P's porterhouse price of $1.20 per pound. It gives you just as much good eating as the one on the left—1¾ pounds—but costs only $2.10. Your A&P steak actually costs you up to 63 cents less.

Doesn't That Prove...

that you can't judge meat value by price per pound alone—that A&P's way of trimming "Super-Right" steaks saves you money? To make similar savings on all your meats buy them at A&P, where every "Super-Right" cut is Close-Trimmed before weighing.

Customers' Corner

What is VALUE—anyway?

You've probably seen the word hundreds of times. Ever stop to think of what it means? Just this: Getting your money's worth!

At A&P we see to it that value really means something—not just on a few items—but on everything we sell in our stores. We think that adds up to serving you better—greater satisfaction—and just plain good sense. Don't you agree?

Carlsen Is Honored

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen, skipper hero of the ill-fated freighter Flying Enterprise, was guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon of maritime officials. After relating the story of his vain effort to save his ship, the captain was presented with a ship's clock and a plaque by the luncheon sponsors, the Propeller Club of the United States and Allied Trade Groups.

Drum-Beaters

Saigon, Indochina (AP)—You always know when there's something extra on the entertainment program at the biggest Chinese theatres in Saigon and the twin city of Cholon. You just can't help it, for from an early morning hour until dusk, an advertising van, carry big signs and drawn by a little donkey, moves through the main thoroughfares of the cities. To attract attention, young Chinese beat upon drums and ring bells.

Theaters in the United States can seat a total of 11,394,000 persons.

Will Immunize Children Jan. 26

A clinic for immunizations against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main street, on January 26 from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m.

Immunizations for whooping cough should be started at three months of age, diphtheria and tetanus at six months and smallpox vaccination some time during the first year of life, the department said.

These clinics serve those who may not otherwise secure these immunizations or for referral of patients by their physician.

It's fun to fool your husband!

"Just put my margarine on your table" says Mrs. Filbert

He'll thank you! Read this: "Smartest thing I ever did, Mrs. Filbert! I served your margarine without mentioning it. My husband complimented me on the sweet, fresh taste. Now we enjoy expensive flavor and spend less."

Mrs. H. Clay Duval

Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. M. V. Filbert
President

Only a woman could make it taste so good!

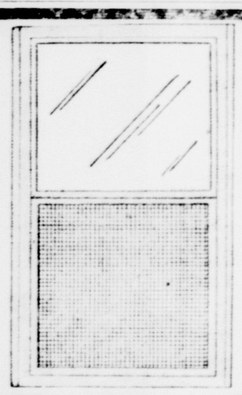

"I make my margarine to please fussy women...no wonder it pleases fussy men!" says Mrs. Filbert. It's her own recipe. You'll recognize the quality ingredients.

Taste how country-fresh on bread. Add richness to your cooking! Comes two delicious ways—extra-thrifty Regular Pound Print or "In the Bag" for easy coloring.

You can tell it's best when you melt it. So enjoy that Filbert flavor on a baked potato tonight. Cook with it—and please even fussy folks! 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound. Buy Mrs. Filbert's today.

FOR EVERY PURSE!

Aluminum Storm and Screen Windows

DO Pay For Themselves!

THESE ARE THE FACTS:

1) Storm Windows form "dead air insulation" at the most important area of heat loss (the house window), cutting fuel loss by up to 30%.
2) Permanently installed — self-storing — no changing necessary.
3) All-aluminum screens for summer protection from heat and insects.
4) Made of Aluminum which never needs painting.
5) Adds beauty and value to the home.
6) Figure it out for yourself — the costs are only slightly higher than old fashioned wooden storm window and screens.

No. 1 of a series of ads directed to men in the belief that the substantial savings made possible by A&P's Close-Trim-cutting method are of special interest to the family wage-earner.

MEN!

is an ordinary porterhouse steak weighing 2 pounds, 6 ounces. Larger than the steak on the right, it may look like a better buy. But looks are deceiving! For 10 ounces of this steak are excess fat and tail meat (flank) that's too tough to broil. Yet these parts cost just as much per pound as the 1¾ pound heart of the steak. Assuming that ordinary porterhouse steaks cost from $1.05 to $1.15 per pound, you'd pay over 65c for excess tail and fat—between $2.49 and $2.73 for a 2-pound, 6-ounce steak like this. Hardly a bargain!

On The Right...

is an A&P Close-Trimmed "Super-Right" porterhouse steak. Note that the 10 ounces of excess fat and tail have been removed. They don't cost you a cent! (Unless you wish to buy the ½ pound of tail meat as hamburger for 33c) Only the tender, juicy heart of the steak is sold at A&P's porterhouse price of $1.20 per pound. It gives you just as much good eating as the one on the left—1¾ pounds—but costs only $2.10. Your A&P steak actually costs you up to 63 cents less.

Doesn't That Prove...

Customers' Corner

What is VALUE—anyway?

You've probably seen the word hundreds of times. Ever stop to think of what it means? Just this: Getting your money's worth!

At A&P we see to it that value really means something—not just on a few items—but on everything we sell in our stores. We think that adds up to serving you better—greater satisfaction—and just plain good sense. Don't you agree?

As Pegler Sees It

start of the system of chowder parties on the first Saturday night of every month which drew American soldiers and other servicemen and the wives and children of some from supreme headquarters outside Paris, from Orleans, from Frankfurt and from the American barracks at Verdun not far away. Attendance runs from 500 to one thousand and she feeds them baked ham and potato salad made according to Eisenhower's personal formula, and cakes baked with her own fair hands, at these orgies at which only champagne and American soft drinks are served. She rents a local dance hall and she states with pride — not unmixed, I thought, with a challenge to La Boca Grande—that she always dances with the Negro soldiers because "I represent all types of Americans." She also entertains the Eisenhowers on separate occasions when he flies up from his field about an hour away in France in his Constellation for a dab of golf on the local grounds. Eisenhower proves to be a secret cook whose depravity is expressed in a special version of potato salad and, like all wretched victims of this weakness, he sometimes submits to photographs in a white apron.

Now is all this the business of a minister of the United States, this baby kissing and electioneering for the soldier vote and the vote of soldiers' kinnery back home who write her about 200 letters every month (and all, of course, receive personal replies)? This legation is maintained by Republicans as well as Democrats and its prestige is not a political concession farmed out to Truman and his party.

Madam Minister intends to be aboard Truman's whistlestop special next fall and it is obvious that the mission to quaint little Luxembourg is being used as a pitch for the special benefit of the party which balled up the victory won by the six thousand American dead who lie in Hamm Cemetery five miles away, and made it necessary for another American army to assemble near the dark and bloody ground of Belleau Wood. Why couldn't it occur to her to rent a place on her own and do the soldiers good without the official seal of our State Department on her door?

Polenta Proves Money Saver

We're combing the land these days for money-saving dishes — and we're finding them, too. For we asked ourselves, "Why not go to the homes where economy has been practiced through the years? Why not ask those homemakers who have been pinching pennies all along how they've managed to feed their families appetizing, nutritious meals?"

Maria is just such a woman. A robust, laughing-eyed mother of seven, an immigrant from Italy some thirty years ago, she's a genius at stretching the dollar.

"I have to be... with nine to feed," she shrugged her shoulders. "But we like good food," she hastened to add. "It need not be expensive...but just good ..there's pasta....risotto....polenta...

"Now there's a dish that costs so little...but you should taste it!" And she wasn't satisfied until we had.

Polenta is a sturdy, fortright dish from out of old Italy....the kind of dish that has survived centuries of loving devotion from a hungry, simple people. It's really a cornmeal mush enlivened with cheese and as Maria makes it—covered with a rich and racy sauce of tomato. It's an exciting dish that can be the mainstay of a weekday meal for the family or the featured food of a buffet supper for a dozen of your most sophisticated friends.

Actually it's the sauce that "sold" the dish to us. A beautiful balance for the cornmeal, the sauce is made from (and we got this from Maria who believes in saving work as well as time as long as the results justify it) condensed cream of tomato soup, the kind you buy in cans at your local grocery. The soup, smacking of the flavor of sun-ripened tomatoes blended with thick country cream and carefully selected spices, can be changed into sauce in short of a jiffy.

A bit of advice from Maria—serve your polenta steaming hot while the tomato sauce and cheese are still bubbling. Pair it with a salad of tossed greens marinated with French dressing. That's all you'll need for a main meal — except perhaps a dessert of ice cream and cookies.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bridge Demands Undivided Scrutiny

When the American team won the world championship for the second year in succession it was no great surprise to those of us who know what a magnificent game our men play. Today's hand, played by Samuel M. Stayman, of New York, one of the members of the team, indicates what care they give to the play of the cards.

Six diamonds would have been a better contract than six spades, but it happened that North was a rather erratic player, so Stayman preferred to take his chances at six spades rather than allow North to mangle six diamonds.

West opened the king of clubs, dummy winning with the ace. Stayman next cashed the king of hearts and entered his hand with the ace of spades to discard dummy's remaining club on the ace of hearts.

The average player would now lay down the king of spades, intending to draw the last trump if the queen of spades happened to drop, but otherwise to run the diamonds. This plan would work if the trumps happened to be 3-2, but the actual 4-1 trump break would be fatal.

South would be unable to lead a third trump with hearts and clubs wide open, so he would have to run the diamonds anyway, allowing West to make a small trump as well as his queen.

Sam Stayman was more cautious. He led the jack of spades instead of the king. If West took his queen, Sam could draw trumps in safety and make the rest of the tricks with dummy's diamonds.

Sam also rose to the occasion by ruffing a club with dummy's last trump, returning to his own hand with the king of diamonds to cash the king of spades. This left West with the blank queen of trumps. Now Stayman ran the diamonds, discarding losing hearts from his hand.

West ruffed the fourth round of diamonds, but by that time Stayman had discarded both of his losing hearts. There was no further danger, and West could get only his high trump.

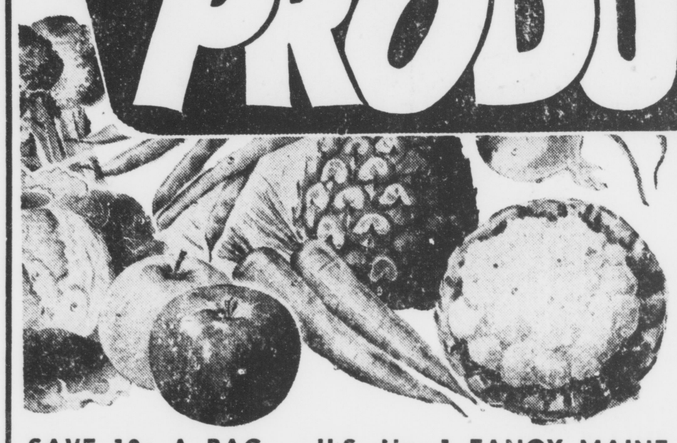

An Emergency Immigration Act was passed by Congress in 1921 limiting foreign nations to quotas for immigration purposes.

Polenta Proves Money Saver

We're combing the land these days for money-saving dishes — and we're finding them, too. For we asked ourselves, "Why not go to the homes where economy has been practiced through the years? Why not ask those homemakers who have been pinching pennies all along how they've managed to feed their families appetizing, nutritious meals?"

Maria is just such a woman. A robust, laughing-eyed mother of seven, an immigrant from Italy some thirty years ago, she's a genius at stretching the dollar.

"I have to be... with nine to feed," she shrugged her shoulders. "But we like good food," she hastened to add. "It need not be expensive...but just good ..there's pasta....risotto....polenta...

"Now there's a dish that costs so little...but you should taste it!" And she wasn't satisfied until we had.

Polenta is a sturdy, fortright dish from out of old Italy....the kind of dish that has survived centuries of loving devotion from a hungry, simple people. It's really a cornmeal mush enlivened with cheese and—as Maria makes it—covered with a rich and racy sauce of tomato. New Dallas Grid Boss to Have Complete Control of NFL Club

Mentor to Run Team, Make Deals, Trades

Dallas, Jan. 24 (AP) — Who will coach the Dallas Rangers, newest club in the National Football League, probably won't be known for a month but whoever he is he'll have complete charge and do all the trading and buying of players, directors of the club said today.

This despite the fact that he may have as many as 25 bosses—shareholders in the club.

Giles Miller, Dallas textile executive, disclosed that while a business manager of the club would be named as soon as possible, it might be March 1 before the coach is selected.

The organization, which now has 16 shareholders, already is considering a number of men for the job. At a meeting last night, the names of Bob Neyland of Tennessee, Paul Bryant of Kentucky, Dick Todd, Sam Baugh, Blair Cherry, Former coach at Texas; Bernie Bierman, former coach of Minnesota, and Jimmy Phelan, last season coach of the New York Yanks—the franchise which Miller and associates bought—were mentioned.

Plan on Area Players

Todd coached the Washington Redskins last season. Baugh is a player with Washington.

"The coach will run the team and will make all deals and trades," Miller said. But he added that every effort would be made to get southwestern players on the club.

"By adding a few players, keeping the basis of what we have, and being careful about the selection of the coach, we think we'll have a stem-winder of a team," Miller declared.

The directors said they figured it would cost in excess of a half-million dollars to operate the club here in 1952 and that an average attendance of 25,000 would be necessary to meet the expense.

Another matter of policy adopted was that there would be no line drawn as to race, creed or color, meaning that Negro players may be used on the team. There now are three Negroes on the Yanks roster.

The league bought the Yanks franchise for $300,000, including $200,000 to pay off the lease on Yankee Stadium in New York. The Dallas purchasers already have put $100,000 in escrow to buy the club.

Will Complete Deal

Miller said he would go to New York Monday to confer with Frank Fitzgerald, general manager of the Yanks who is being considered for business manager of the Rangers. He will go to Philadelphia Tuesday to wind up the deal with Bert Bell, league president.

There now are 16 shareholders in the club. This is due to be expanded to 25 when some of the stockholders, who have more than one share, sell the excess to others. The executive committee is made up of Miller; his brother, Connell; Arthur J. Riggs, Harlan Ray, J. Curtis Sanford, Col. D. Harold Byrd, Jack C. Vaughn and the business manager, whoever he may be. Four men are being considered for this job, Miller said.

Junie McMahon to Bowl Here Friday for Polio Benefit

Junie McMahon, the national individual match game-champion of 1950, who recently won the 11th all star tournament in Chicago for the second time, will appear at the Ferraro Bowlodrome Friday night for the March of Dimes.

McMahon, who hails from Fairlawn, N. J., is expected to roll several exhibition games against such local favorites as Rose Schatzel, Johnny Ferraro and others.

Junie's victory in the 11th all star tourney at the Chicago Coliseum on December 16 placed him in the select company of Andy Varipapa and Connie Schwoegler, both of whom having won the tournament on two occasions.

McMahon's victory was featured by a 300-game on Dec. 15, his seventh perfect game under ABC sanction and it earned him the new ABC diamond ring. It also placed him in the list of all-time perfect game shooters. Junie finished the tournament with a 209.53 average.

Proceeds of McMahon's visit at the Bowlodrome Friday night will be turned over to the local March of Dimes fund.

The program will start about 9 p. m.

Baptists Defeat Cadets, 75 to 60

The Progressive Baptists, with John Burris and Jim Taylor showing the way, registered a 75 to 60 victory over the Y cadets in the Protestant Church Basketball League at the YMCA on Wednesday night.

Burris hit for 36 points while Taylor followed with 20.

Dick Nagele found the range for 23 points for the losers while Tom Flemming and John Comstock scored 15 and 14 respectively.

New Court Fixer Held for $10,000; Two Plead Guilty

New York, Jan. 24 (AP) —The basketball scandals, which have been running for a year and a week, today had entangled eight colleges, 32 players, one official and 25 fixers and material witnesses.

The list of schools was increased by one yesterday and one was added to the group of material witnesses when Sam D. Feinberg, 39, former Cincinnati sports promoter, was held in $10,000 bond as a would-be briber of two University of Cincinnati players.

The Cincinnati players, however, were praised in General Sessions Court for turning down the bribes. They were Alvin Rubenstein and Jack Laud.

A sworn statement read by Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor said Feinberg asked Rubenstein and Laub to shave points several times during the 1948-49 and 1949-50 seasons.

Feinberg, the statement said, also agreed to put up the money so his half-brother, Saul, could fix a Kentucky game on the west coast during the 1948-49 season. The alleged fix, however, fell through.

Saul Feinberg is one of the 13 alleged fixers under indictment for fixing games. Another, Sol Rappaport, a salesman, pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy and faces a possible maximum sentence up to three years.

Action Set Off Probe

Henry E. Poppe, former Manhattan College co-captain, also pleaded guilty to conspiracy. Poppe and Rappaport were charged with attempting to bribe Junius Kellogg, Manhattan Negro star.

It was Kellogg who told authorities the two offered him a bribe in a game against DePaul of Chicago, Dec. 16.

Kellogg's action set off the investigation that has led to the sentencing of 19 players and two fixers. Under indictment are five players and 13 alleged fixers. Two other alleged fixers and eight material witness also have been indicted. And eight players out of New York's jurisdiction also have been involved.

Colleges drawn into the scandals include, CCNY, LIU, Manhattan and New York Univ., all of New York city, Bradley, Kentucky, Toledo and Cincinnati.

High-Scoring Celtics Hit 100 Points Again

(By The Associated Press)

The way the Boston Celtics are scoring it seems a cinch they'll continue cracking records in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics thrashed the Baltimore Bullets, 117-75, last night to equal their own top point-production mark of the season which is also high for the league. Boston registered 51 field goals for another 1951-52 loop standard.

The Celts went over the century figure for the tenth time and they are only three behind Indianapolis' record of 13 set during the 1949-50 campaign.

Boston, with six players scoring in double figures, was paced by Bob Cousy's 26 points. Dave Minor and Bill Calhoun tallied 13 markers apiece for Baltimore.

The Syracuse Nationals rung up their ninth straight victory, edging the Minneapolis Lakers, 99-97, on Red Rocha's hook shot in the last two seconds of an overtime period.

TWO YANKS SIGN FOR 1952

Albany Solon Asks $90,000 Appropriation to Probe Pro Boxing; Favors 15-Member Commission for Work

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—A senator who believes professional boxing should be outlawed urges creation of a special state commission to probe the sport he claims is being run by hoodlums.

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, Queens Democrat, introduced a bill in the Legislature yesterday to establish a 15-member commission to investigate boxing and to recommend steps "to improve" it.

The senator said the commission should determine why "people of undesirable character and reputation have been permitted to be licensed as officials, seconds, trainers, matchmakers and promoters."

Asserting that it was "apparent the State Boxing Commission can't control the hoodlums who are running the game," Fitzgerald introduced a measure last week to abolish professional boxing and wrestling. Later Fitzgerald said he had received telephone threats against his life and the lives of his wife and daughter.

Fitzgerald said he would push for passage of his bill to ban the two sports. In the meantime, he explained, he favored a probe, in case his original measure was not approved.

Would Increase Members

Meanwhile, Senator Harold I. Panken, Brooklyn Democrat, recommended that the State Athletic Commission be increased from three to six members. He also suggested that three of them be physicians.

Panken said his proposal was aimed at reducing the number of ring fatalities and injuries.

Fitzgerald's new bill calls for a $90,000 appropriation to finance the investigation. The special commission would be given subpoena power and permission to hold public and private hearings.

The governor would appoint nine of the 15 commission members, who "shall be recognized as outstanding in the sports field."

Three senators and three assemblymen would complete the membership. All 15 would serve without pay, except for expenses.

Further critical jabs at the ring sport are expected from Fitzgerald when the Senate votes soon on Governor Dewey's appointment of Robert J. Christenberry as chairman of the three-member athletic commission.

In making the appointment last September, Dewey directed Christenberry to clean up boxing in New York.

Christenberry has said he intends to force the "criminal scum" out of boxing or quit as commission chairman.

130 Ready to Open Phoenix Open Golf

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 24 (AP)—The Old Guard of the nation's golfers will bid to regain the limelight as the annual $10,000 Phoenix Open gets underway today—the third tournament on the 1952 winter trail.

The first two events were won by newcomers to golf fame. Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., won the $10,000 San Diego Open last weekend, and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., grabbed the rich $17,500 Los Angeles Open earlier this month.

Today 130 or more players were slated to tee off at the Phoenix Country Club, a par 36-35—71 test over 6,578 yards.

Included is Lew Worsham, a comparative old timer from Pittsburgh, who dazzled the galleries a year ago with a record breaking 63 for the course on the final day and a 72-hole total of 272, and Jimmy Demaret, who won Bing Crosby's $10,000 tourney.

Canucks Move Closer To Toronto in NHL

(By The Associated Press)

The Montreal Canadiens were within five points of the second place Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League today after winning their first game since Jan. 12 despite an injury-riddled squad.

Playing without Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, the Canadiens defeated the Leafs 4-2 in the league's only game last night with three of their goals coming in the second period.

After Max Bentley had given the Leafs a 1-0 lead with his 17th goal of the season in the first period, Dickie Moore, Elmer Lach and Billy Reay found the net for Montreal in the second session.

Rudy Migay cut the Canadiens' margin to one goal at 6:15 of the last period but Moore came right back with his second counter of the night on a pass from Lach.

Ring Head Sticks To Jersey Joe-Ez Match for Crown

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—The battle of wits and statements among most of the principals in the proposed Jersey Joe Walcott-Ezzard Charles heavyweight championship fight, continued to blaze merrily today.

New York State Athletic Commissioner Bob Christenberry is determined Jersey Joe will defend against Charles from whom he won the title last July 18, and he's giving the veteran Camden, N. J., gladiator until Feb. 5 to agree.

In Portland, Me., Walcott said he had fought 21 years before he won the title and "no one's gonna take it away from me outside a ring."

Felix Bocchicchio, manager of the heavyweight titleholder, would like to fight either Rocky Marciano or Harry (Kid) Matthews, and makes no bones about it. He even said he was forced to agree to a return bout with Charles "under duress."

Matthews' manager, Jack Hurley, who does his battling via long distance from his base of operations in Seattle, said his man will fight Walcott—and for the title.

"I wonder if Christenberry will recognize Harry as champion when he beats Joe," mused Hurley.

That's how things stood when President Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club, the promoter of the proposed fight, retreated to his Coral Gables, Fla., winter home. He has a date there on Feb. 1 with Bocchicchio and Jake Mintz, Charles' co-manager.

Christenberry is having none of the Bocchicchio-Hurley lines. It's going to be Walcott-Charles or nothing if he has his way. Walcott is under exclusive contract to the IBC, and since the club has been feuding with Hurley for months. It's unlikely that Norris would put his OK on a Walcott-Matthews scrap.

Rhinebeck Star Out

Albany, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Siena College basketball team will face Manhattan here Saturday night without its ace rebounder, Tom Pottenburgh. Coach Dan Cunha said today that Pottenburgh, 6-foot-9-inch center, had been suffering from a cold and had been ordered to bed by his physician Pottenburgh, a sophomore, lives in Rhinebeck.

Battle to Standoff

Adelaide, Australia, Jan. 24 (AP) —Dick Savitt and young Hamilton Richardson, of the United States, battled Australia's top doubles team of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor to a standoff today in their semi-final match in the Australian National tennis championships. Each had won two sets when further play was postponed until tomorrow because of a strong wind and overcast sky.

New Dallas Grid Boss to Have Complete Control of NFL Club

Mentor to Run Team, Make Deals, Trades

Dallas, Jan. 24 (AP) — Who will coach the Dallas Rangers, newest club in the National Football League, probably won't be known for a month but whoever he is he'll have complete charge and do all the trading and buying of players, directors of the club said today.

This despite the fact that he may have as many as 25 bosses—shareholders in the club.

Giles Miller, Dallas textile executive, disclosed that while a business manager of the club would be named as soon as possible, it might be March 1 before the coach is selected.

The organization, which now has 16 shareholders, already is considering a number of men for the job. At a meeting last night, the names of Bob Neyland of Tennessee, Paul Bryant of Kentucky, Dick Todd, Sam Baugh, Blair Cherry, Former coach at Texas; Bernie Bierman, former coach of Minnesota, and Jimmy Phelan, last season coach of the New York Yanks—the franchise which Miller and associates bought—were mentioned.

Plan on Area Players

Todd coached the Washington Redskins last season. Baugh is a player with Washington.

"The coach will run the team and will make all deals and trades," Miller said. But he added that every effort would be made to get southwestern players on the club.

"By adding a few players, keeping the basis of what we have, and being careful about the selection of the coach, we think we'll have a stem-winder of a team," Miller declared.

The directors said they figured it would cost in excess of a half-million dollars to operate the club here in 1952 and that an average attendance of 25,000 would be necessary to meet the expense.

Another matter of policy adopted was that there would be no line drawn as to race, creed or color, meaning that Negro players may be used on the team. There now are three Negroes on the Yanks roster.

The league bought the Yanks franchise for $300,000, including $200,000 to pay off the lease on Yankee Stadium in New York. The Dallas purchasers already have put $100,000 in escrow to buy the club.

Will Complete Deal

Miller said he would go to New York Monday to confer with Frank Fitzgerald, general manager of the Yanks who is being considered for business manager of the Rangers. He will go to Philadelphia Tuesday to wind up the deal with Bert Bell, league president.

There now are 16 shareholders in the club. This is due to be expanded to 25 when some of the stockholders, who have more than one share, sell the excess to others. The executive committee is made up of Miller; his brother, Connell; Arthur J. Riggs, Harlan Ray, J. Curtis Sanford, Col. D. Harold Byrd, Jack C. Vaughn and the business manager, whoever he may be. Four men are being considered for this job, Miller said.

Junie McMahon to Bowl Here Friday for Polio Benefit

Junie McMahon, the national individual match game-champion of 1950, who recently won the 11th all star tournament in Chicago for the second time, will appear at the Ferraro Bowlodrome Friday night for the March of Dimes.

McMahon, who hails from Fairlawn, N. J., is expected to roll several exhibition games against such local favorites as Rose Schatzel, Johnny Ferraro and others.

Junie's victory in the 11th all star tourney at the Chicago Coliseum on December 16 placed him in the select company of Andy Varipapa and Connie Schwoegler, both of whom having won the tournament on two occasions.

McMahon's victory was featured by a 300-game on Dec. 15, his seventh perfect game under ABC sanction and it earned him the new ABC diamond ring. It also placed him in the list of all-time perfect game shooters. Junie finished the tournament with a 209.53 average.

Proceeds of McMahon's visit at the Bowlodrome Friday night will be turned over to the local March of Dimes fund.

The program will start about 9 p. m.

Baptists Defeat Cadets, 75 to 60

The Progressive Baptists, with John Burris and Jim Taylor showing the way, registered a 75 to 60 victory over the Y cadets in the Protestant Church Basketball League at the YMCA on Wednesday night.

Burris hit for 36 points while Taylor followed with 20.

Dick Nagele found the range for 23 points for the losers while Tom Flemming and John Comstock scored 15 and 14 respectively.

Lou Schafer, in reporting the game, said it was one of the best games of the loop this season.

New Court Fixer Held for $10,000; Two Plead Guilty

New York, Jan. 24 (AP) —The basketball scandals, which have been running for a year and a week, today had entangled eight colleges, 32 players, one official and 25 fixers and material witnesses.

The list of schools was increased by one yesterday and one was added to the group of material witnesses when Sam D. Feinberg, 39, former Cincinnati sports promoter, was held in $10,000 bond as a would-be briber of two University of Cincinnati players.

The Cincinnati players, however, were praised in General Sessions Court for turning down the bribes. They were Alvin Rubenstein and Jack Laud.

A sworn statement read by Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor said Feinberg asked Rubenstein and Laub to shave points several times during the 1948-49 and 1949-50 seasons.

Feinberg, the statement said, also agreed to put up the money so his half-brother, Saul, could fix a Kentucky game on the west coast during the 1948-49 season. The alleged fix, however, fell through.

Saul Feinberg is one of the 13 alleged fixers under indictment for fixing games. Another, Sol Rappaport, a salesman, pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy and faces a possible maximum sentence up to three years.

Action Set Off Probe

Henry E. Poppe, former Manhattan College co-captain, also pleaded guilty to conspiracy. Poppe and Rappaport were charged with attempting to bribe Junius Kellogg, Manhattan Negro star.

It was Kellogg who told authorities the two offered him a bribe in a game against Depaul of Chicago, Dec. 16.

Kellogg's action set off the investigation that has led to the sentencing of 19 players and two fixers. Under indictment are five players and 13 alleged fixers. Two other alleged fixers and eight material witness also have been indicted. And eight players out of New York's jurisdiction also have been involved.

Colleges drawn into the scandals include, CCNY, LIU, Manhattan and New York Univ., all of New York city, Bradley, Kentucky, Toledo and Cincinnati.

High-Scoring Celtics Hit 100 Points Again

(By The Associated Press)

The way the Boston Celtics are scoring it seems a cinch they'll continue cracking records in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics thrashed the Baltimore Bullets, 117-75, last night to equal their own top point-production mark of the season which is also high for the league. Boston registered 51 field goals for another 1951-52 loop standard.

The Celts went over the century figure for the tenth time and they are only three behind Indianapolis' record of 13 set during the 1949-50 campaign.

Boston, with six players scoring in double figures, was paced by Bob Cousy's 26 points. Dave Minor and Bill Calhoun tallied 13 markers apiece for Baltimore.

The Syracuse Nationals rung up their ninth straight victory, edging the Minneapolis Lakers, 99-97, on Red Rocha's hook shot in the last two seconds of an overtime period.

Albany Solon Asks $90,000 Appropriation to Probe Pro Boxing; Favors 15-Member Commission for Work

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—A senator who believes professional boxing should be outlawed urges creation of a special state commission to probe the sport he claims is being run by hoodlums.

Senator James F. Fitzgerald, Queens Democrat, introduced a bill in the Legislature yesterday to establish a 15-member commission to investigate boxing and to recommend steps "to improve" it.

The senator said the commission should determine why "people of undesirable character and reputation have been permitted to be licensed as officials, seconds, trainers, matchmakers and promoters."

Asserting that it was "apparent the State Boxing Commission can't control the hoodlums who are running the game," Fitzgerald introduced a measure last week to abolish professional boxing and wrestling. Later Fitzgerald said he had received telephone threats against his life and the lives of his wife and daughter.

Fitzgerald said he would push for passage of his bill to ban the two sports. In the meantime, he explained, he favored a probe, in case his original measure was not approved.

Would Increase Members

Meanwhile, Senator Harold I. Panken, Brooklyn Democrat, recommended that the State Athletic Commission be increased from three to six members. He also suggested that three of them be physicians.

Panken said his proposal was aimed at reducing the number of ring fatalities and injuries.

Fitzgerald's new bill calls for a $90,000 appropriation to finance the investigation. The special commission would be given subpoena power and permission to hold public and private hearings.

The governor would appoint nine of the 15 commission members, who "shall be recognized as outstanding in the sports field."

Three senators and three assemblymen would complete the membership. All 15 would serve without pay, except for expenses.

Further critical jabs at the ring sport are expected from Fitzgerald when the Senate votes soon on Governor Dewey's appointment of Robert J. Christenberry as chairman of the three-member athletic commission.

In making the appointment last September, Dewey directed Christenberry to clean up boxing in New York.

Christenberry has said he intends to force the "criminal scum" out of boxing or quit as commission chairman.

Robinson Hits 635, Gildersleeve 276; Rose Schatzel's 606 New Loop Record

Chris Robinson featured a heavy night of bowling scores throughout the city Wednesday night when he pounded a 635 triple on the hat trick of 203-213-219 in the Central Rec Major League.

Sharing the spotlight with Robinson were Charlie Gildersleeve who rolled a new high single in the loop with his 276 blast while Rose Schatzel posted a new high individual series in the Gold Division of the Colonial Women's League with her 606 blast.

Other league leaders besides Robinson were:

Ed Koskie, CYO-Holy Name, 237-187-200 for 624.

Rose Schatzel, Colonial Women's League, Gold Division, 234-160-212 for 606.

Bill Johnson, Junior Major, 214-206-182 for 602.

Betty Ann Flynn, Silver Division, 188-124-174 for 486.

Faye Horne, Purple Division, 142-173-140 for 455.

Nellie Glennon, Pioneer Women's League, 143-178-159 for 480.

Seven Strikes in Row

Gildersleeve's 276 solo mark eclipsed the former high mark of 274 posted earlier by Lew Hymes in the Central Rec Major wheel. He finished with 570.

He blasted seven strikes in a row before having an 8-pin tap and followed this with three more strikes. He finished with a high hit and his new high mark of 276.

Chris Robinson, who was one of three keglers in the Central Rec Major who achieved the hat trick last night, poured out three complete perfect games in blasting the 635 triple.

Also of note in the league were Harry Smith with 235-202-625; Ken Williams 210-211-602; Joe Amendola 212-210-600; Bill Lawrence 223-216-596; George Robinson 221-595; Cliff Quick 212-201-597; Cliff Davis 232-593; Charlie Grunenwald 204-588, and Ed Murphy 235-582.

Betty Bruck 577

Continuing her hefty kegling of late, Betty Bruck finished in the runnerup spot to Mrs. Schatzel with a 229 single and 577 series. Tess Moss rolled 201-528; Betty Schoonmaker 504; Dot Flemings 498; Rose Rhymer 497; Betty Bailey 496; Bertha Schaller 479; Evelyn Francis 476; Betty Helmbold 476; Phyl Gehringer 473; Kay Brodhead 458; Mary Wyant 458; Charlotte Lapine 457; Ada Markle 452 and Dot Khederian 450.

Other good scores in the Silver Division were Helen Bordenstein with 478; Mabeel Davis 473; Betty Shipman 470; Judy Broskie 449; Mary Perry 448 and Marie Kelekian 446.

Following Faye Horne's 455 in the Purple Division were Irene Maurer 454; Nancy Hussey 452; Florence Beichert 446; Marcia Olbert 440 and Peggy Duffy 439.

Other good pinfall in the Junior Major wheel included W. Sickler with 235-583; Milt Cole, Jr., 223-574; Ed Heins 213-567; D. Stinc 208-561; Ernie Bartroff 202-211-560; G. Hanna 554; J. Maurer 207-554; and T. Provenzano 553.

Also of note in the Pioneer Women's circuit were Ann Kirn with 461; Doris Strubel 443; B. Macholdt 439; D. LaRocca 433; S. Myers 420; J. Bruckner 419; M. Goldstein 415 and Collette Sonnenberg 408.

Rienzo Scores 27 In YMCA Contest; Playoff Saturday

The Accord Chevies, Silsby Motors and Economy Construction quintets scored victories in the YMCA "B" Basketball League Wednesday night at the Y boards.

After a third period tie score, the Chevies pulled their game out with a 15-point spread in the final period to turn back the Kaplan Bag cagers, 49 to 45.

Hitting the double figures in all four periods, Silsby Motors registered a 50 to 45 verdict over Elston Sports while the Economy Construction five came through with a 54-49 decision over the 156th Field Artillery quintet.

Rienzo Hits 27

Chris Rienzo, forward for the Economy Construction Club, emerged as the top scorer in last night's frays with his 27 points. Rienzo ripped the cords for 10 fields and added seven foul conversions.

Other top scorers included Ed Mikilonis, Accord, with 19; Bruce Hinkley, 156th FA, 18; Don Jones, Silsby Motors, 17; Johnny Mauro, Silsby, 15; Frank Fiore, Economy Construction, 14; Huyler Van Wagenen, 156th FA, 13; and Ed Browne, Kaplans, 12.

Will Settle Title

On Saturday night, the 50 Club will engage the Esopus Firemen for the first round championship of the "B" League. Each team has won five and dropped one. This game will start at 8:30 p. m.

The first contest of the night will get underway at 7:30 p. m. when Wiltwyck Motors and Hercules will go at it. First place is at stake in this game.

Busy Airport

Chicago (AP)—Traffic at Chicago's Midway (Municipal) Airport is getting heavier. In 1951, planes landed or took off there on an average of 700 a day—about one every two minutes.

A's Complete Deal For Ottawa Franchise

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics have moved back into top-drawer farm operations—this time as operator of the Ottawa baseball franchise in the International League.

The Athletics completed the deal for purchase of the Triple-A club yesterday from the New York Giants, who had operated the franchise since 1936 at Jersey City and later at Ottawa.

The team was moved to the Canadian capital after the 1950 season because of slumping gate receipts at Jersey City.

The Athletics haven't had a hand in a team in the top classification minors since they owned the Portland club in the Pacific Coast League.

No details of yesterday's transaction were announced.

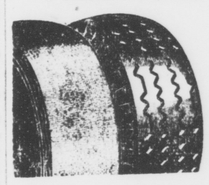

Meteor Becomes Meteorite

A meteor from outer space becomes a meteorite by surviving the friction of passage through the earth's atmosphere and reaching the ground.

U. S. Rubber Plant

Gayule, the only native plant grown for rubber in the United States, requires winter rains, then drought for the rest of the year.

It has been estimated that the loss from worthless checks runs as high as $300 million annually.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Sunday's turnout for the Rapp's Express-Cy's Diner bowling duel was the second largest crowd at the Bowlodrome since the formal dedication of the Cornell street establishment. Proving that bowling is a spectator sport when the attraction is high class.

You can pick up good pin money by serving as an official scorekeeper for the state tournament next spring. See Bill Murray or Ken Powell, co-chairmen of the scorekeepers committee, if you desire a job.

Rapp's threw 10 strikes in a row to start their match against Cy's Diner, but that isn't a record. Jones Dairy opened with 13 strikes in succession—five triples—in a match at Ellenville several years ago—and still LOST.

• The Eleventh Frame:

Bill Guldenstern and Steve Leone can be a rough pair in a doubles match. Ask Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro. Larry, meanwhile, is looking for a partner to take on Morrie Cramer, the Capital district wizard, and Guldenstern in a 20-game test for sizeable stakes. Chief Mueller has announced plans for the third annual "100 Percent Sweeper" at the Dutchess Recreations. John "Red" Sangi, Central Rec proprietor, is readying an announcement concerning the $500 individual sweeper (four games across eight alleys) in conjunction with the New York state tournament. Faber Cement Blocks, frequent visitors to Kingston, are the high powered attraction for the IBM Pollo Sweepstakes' male division. Ad Jones' goal in the state tournament is at least 1522 five-man teams. "Just one more than Elmira had last year and we'll all be happy," he says.

• Rapp's Tenth in National Standings:

The 3414 series rolled by Rapp's a few weeks ago ranks tenth in the latest national standings. Gilbert Buicks of St. Louis recently took the national lead with 3536. The all-time national record, of course, is the 3793 rolled by the Hermann Undertakers of St. Louis on Jan. 27, 1937.

The Hermann's put together singles of 1261-1211-1325 for the all-time high. Their single of 1325 stood as an all-time record until broken last spring by Pete Kovalski's Hook Grip of Lodi, N. J., with a 1342 blast.

Rolling with Hermann's the day the record was set were Buzz Wilson, Ray Holmes, Fred Taff, Bob Willis and Sam Garafola. Wilson was the "dog" with 709 and the lowest single was 217. Holmes pounded a "300" solo. They had only two misses, but ran into seven splits. In 10 of the 15 games they struck out.

The scores:

Junie McMahon, two-time national match game champion, will be a weekend visitor. Lou Jarvis, New York city's hottest kegler, is an old friend of Bob Reinhardt of Barrows Motors. Bob showed us a few clippings a while back and asked "Is he that good?" That he is, with averages over 210 in three Gotham circuits. Beverly Port is subbing for the ailing Sue Heins as secretary of the Women's Major League. Miss Heins would like to hear from her friends at the Kingston Hospital.

To the young man who said that anybody could develop into a bowling star with a little practice, we have only this to say: Anybody, but anybody can become a star, with just a little patience, practice, persistence, passion, frustration, concentration, application, animation, desperation and a good working ball.

Aero-Design and New Hurricane 6 Engine Give the Aero-Willys Mileage up to

New 90 H.P. 6-Cylinder Engine
6 Ft. Wide — Only 5 Ft. High
Loafs at 60 — Cruises at 75 — with Power To Spare
61"-Wide Seating

Don't drive the new Aero Willys unless you are prepared to be dissatisfied with your present car.

It's the big car news of the year—this beautiful Aero Willys! For no other car gives you 61-inch-wide seating, front and rear . . . and a smooth, quiet air-borne ride . . . and take-off performance . . . and sensational mileage—up to 35 miles per gallon, with overdrive. It is aero-designed—low and wide, big inside and streamlined from its plane-wing hood to its rear air-fins. It has a new 7.6-compression Hurricane 6 engine, turning up 90 horsepower on regular gas. That's why the Aero Willys is a performing ace, a record-maker on mileage.

See the Aero Willys today—you'll see why it is the most talked-about car of '52. Never before such panoramic visibility—you can see all 4 fenders from the driver's seat, see the road just 10 feet ahead! We invite you to ride in the Aero Willys and experience the cloud-soft cushioning of its unique springing, aero-type shock absorbers and rubber-floated drive. Road-test it and see how its low center of gravity—only 23 inches from the road—holds it steady and sure on curves. See it now—the one that's really new for 1952.

Robinson Hits 635, Gildersleeve 276; Rose Schatzel's 606 New Loop Record

Chris Robinson featured a heavy night of bowling scores throughout the city Wednesday night when he pounded a 635 triple on the hat trick of 203-213-219 in the Central Rec Major League.

Sharing the spotlight with Robinson were Charlie Gildersleeve who rolled a new high single in the loop with his 276 blast while Rose Schatzel posted a new high individual series in the Gold Division of the Colonial Women's League with her 606 blast.

Other league leaders besides Robinson were:

Ed Koskie, CYO-Holy Name, 237-187-200 for 624.

Rose Schatzel, Colonial Women's League, Gold Division, 234-160-212 for 606.

Bill Johnson, Junior Major, 214-206-182 for 602.

Betty Ann Flynn, Silver Division, 188-124-174 for 486.

Faye Horne, Purple Division, 142-173-140 for 455.

Nellie Glennon, Pioneer Women's League, 143-178-159 for 480.

Seven Strikes in Row

Gildersleeve's 276 solo mark eclipsed the former high mark of 274 posted earlier by Lew Hymes in the Central Rec Major wheel. He finished with 570.

He blasted seven strikes in a row before having an 8-pin tap and followed this with three more strikes. He finished with a high hit and his new high mark of 276. Chris Robinson, who was one of three keglers in the Central Rec Major who achieved the hat trick last night, poured out three complete perfect games in blasting the 635 triple.

Also hitting the hat trick were Harold Broskie with 215-200-215-630 and Larry Weishaupt 209-215-201-625.

Also of note in the league were Harry Smith with 235-202-625; Joe Amendola 212-210-600; Bill Lawrence 223-216-596; George Robinson 221-595; Cliff Quick 212-201-597; Cliff Davis 232-593; Charlie Grunenwald 204-588; and Ed Murphy 235-582.

Betty Bruck 577

Continuing her hefty kegling of late, Betty Bruck finished in the runnerup spot to Mrs. Schatzel with a 229 single and 577 series. Tess Moss rolled 201-528; Betty Schoonmaker 504; Dot Flemings 498; Rose Rhymer 497; Betty Bailey 496; Bertha Schaller 479; Evelyn Francis 476; Betty Helmbold 476; Phyl Gehringer 473; Kay Brodhead 458; Mary Wyant 458; Charlotte Lapine 457; Ada Markle 452 and Dot Khederian 450.

Other good scores in the Silver Division were Helen Bordenstein with 478; Mabeel Davis 473; Betty Shipman 470; Judy Broskie 449; Mary Perry 448 and Marie Kelekian 446.

Following Faye Horne's 455 in the Purple Division were Irene Maurer 454; Nancy Hussey 452; Florence Beichert 446; Marcia Olbert 440 and Peggy Duffy 439.

Other good pinfall in the Junior Major wheel included W. Sickler with 235-583; Milt Cole, Jr., 223-574; Ed Heins 213-567; D. Stine 208-561; Ernie Bartroff 202-211-560; G. Hanna 554; J. Maurer 207-554; and T. Provenzano 553.

Also of note in the Pioneer Women's circuit were Ann Kirn with 461; Doris Strubel 443; B. Macholdt 439; D. LaRocca 433; S. Myers 420; J. Bruckner 419; M. Goldstein 415 and Collette Sonnenberg 408.

Rienzo Scores 27 In YMCA Contest; Playoff Saturday

The Accord Chevies, Silsby Motors and Economy Construction quintets scored victories in the YMCA "B" Basketball League Wednesday night at the Y boards.

After a third period tie score, the Chevies pulled their game out with a 15-point spread in the final period to turn back the Kaplan Bag cagers, 49 to 45.

Hitting the double figures in all four periods, Silsby Motors registered a 50 to 45 verdict over Elston Sports while the Economy Construction five came through with a 54-49 decision over the 156th Field Artillery quintet.

Rienzo Hits 27

Chris Rienzo, forward for the Economy Construction Club, emerged as the top scorer in last night's frays with his 27 points. Rienzo ripped the cords for 10 fields and added seven foul conversions.

Other top scorers included Ed Mikilonis, Accord, with 19; Bruce Hinkley, 156th FA, 18; Don Jones, Silsby Motors, 17; Johnny Mauro, Silsby, 15; Frank Fiore, Economy Construction, 14; Huyler Van Wagenen, 156th FA, 13; and Ed Browne, Kaplans, 12.

Will Settle Title

On Saturday night, the 50 Club will engage the Esopus Firemen for the first round championship of the "B" League. Each team has won five and dropped one. This game will start at 8:30 p. m.

The first contest of the night will get underway at 7:30 p. m. when Wiltwyck Motors and Hercules will go at it. First place is at stake in this game.

A's Complete Deal For Ottawa Franchise

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics have moved back into top-drawer farm operations—this time as operator of the Ottawa baseball franchise in the International League.

The Athletics completed the deal for purchase of the Triple-A club yesterday from the New York Giants, who had operated the franchise since 1936 at Jersey City and later at Ottawa.

The team was moved to the Canadian capital after the 1950 season because of slumping gate receipts at Jersey City.

The Athletics haven't had a hand in a team in the top classification minors since they owned the Portland club in the Pacific Coast League.

No details of yesterday's transaction were announced.

U. S. Rubber Plant

Gayule, the only native plant grown for rubber in the United States, requires winter rains, then drought for the rest of the year.

It has been estimated that the loss from worthless checks runs as high as $300 million annually.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Sunday's turnout for the Rapp's Express-Cy's Diner bowling duel was the second largest crowd at the Bowlodrome since the formal dedication of the Cornell street establishment. Proving that bowling is a spectator sport when the attraction is high class.

You can pick up good pin money by serving as an official scorekeeper for the state tournament next spring. See Bill Murray or Ken Powell, co-chairmen of the scorekeepers committee, if you desire a job.

Rapp's threw 10 strikes in a row to start their match against Cy's Diner, but that isn't a record. Jones Dairy opened with 15 strikes in succession—five triples—in a match at Ellenville several years ago—and still LOST.

• The Eleventh Frame:

Bill Guldenstern and Steve Leone can be a rough pair in a doubles match. Ask Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro. Larry, meanwhile, is looking for a partner to take on Morrie Cramer, the Capital district wizard, and Guldenstern in a 20-game test for sizeable stakes. Chief Mueller has announced plans for the third annual "100 Percent Sweeper" at the Dutchess Recreations. John "Red" Sangi, Central Rec proprietor, is readying an announcement concerning the $500 individual sweeper (four games across eight alleys) in conjunction with the New York state tournament. Faber Cement Blocks, frequent visitors to Kingston, are the high powered attraction for the IBM Polio Sweepstakes' male division. Ad Jones' goal in the state tournament is at least 1522 five-man teams. "Just one more than Elmira had last year and we'll all be happy," he says.

• Rapp's Tenth in National Standings:

The 3414 series rolled by Rapp's a few weeks ago ranks tenth in the latest national standings. Gilbert Buicks of St. Louis recently took the national lead with 3536. The all-time national record, of course, is the 3793 rolled by the Hermann Undertakers of St. Louis on Jan. 27, 1937.

The Hermann's put together singles of 1261-1211-1325 for the all-time high. Their single of 1325 stood as an all-time record until broken last spring by Pete Kovalski's Hook Grip of Lodi, N. J., with a 1342 blast.

Rolling with Hermann's the day the record was set were Buzz Wilson, Ray Holmes, Fred Taff, Bob Willis and Sam Garafola. Wilson was the "dog" with 709 and the lowest single was 217. Holmes pounded a "300" solo. They had only two misses, but ran into seven splits. In 10 of the 15 games they struck out.

The scores:

(All-Time Record) Hermann Undertakers St. Louis					(Current 1951-52 Record) Gilbert Buicks St. Louis
Buzz Wilson	246	217	246	709	E. Schlechte	215	223	265	703
Ray Holmes	256	236	300	792	Al Weisert	252	258	257	767
Fred Taff	277	246	243	766	L. Springmeyer	255	245	235	735
Bob Willis	235	290	246	771	Ernest Maass	284	207	214	655
Sam Garafola	247	222	290	759	Fred Willen	210	219	247	676
	1261	1211	1325	3797		1166	1152	1218	3536

Junie McMahon, two-time national match game champion, will be a weekend visitor. Lou Jarvis, New York city's hottest kegler, is an old friend of Bob Reinhardt of Barrows Motors. Bob showed us a few clippings a while back and asked "Is he that good?" That he is, with averages over 210 in three Gotham circuits. Beverly Port is subbing for the ailing Sue Heins as secretary of the Women's Major League. Miss Heins would like to hear from her friends at the Kingston Hospital.

To the young man who said that anybody could develop into a bowling star with a little practice, we have only this to say: Anybody, but anybody can become a star, with just a little patience, practice, persistence, passion, frustration, concentration, application, animation, desperation and a good working ball.

Aero-Design and New Hurricane 6 Engine
Give the Aero-Willys Mileage up to 35 Miles per Gallon

New 90 H.P. 6-Cylinder Engine
6 Ft. Wide — Only 5 Ft. High
Loafs at 60 — Cruises at 75 — with Power To Spare

Don't drive the new Aero Willys unless you are prepared to be dissatisfied with your present car.

It's the big car news of the year—this beautiful Aero Willys! For no other car gives you 61-inch-wide seating, front and rear . . . and a smooth, quiet air-borne ride . . . and take-off performance . . . and sensational mileage—up to 35 miles per gallon, with overdrive. It is aero-designed—low and wide, big inside and streamlined from its plane-wing hood to its rear air-fins. It has a new 7.6-compression Hurricane 6 engine, turning up 90 horsepower on regular gas. That's why the Aero Willys is a performing ace, a record-maker on mileage.

See the Aero Willys today—you'll see why it is the most talked-about car of '52. Never before such panoramic visibility—you can see all 4 fenders from the driver's seat, see the road just 10 feet ahead! We invite you to ride in the Aero Willys and experience the cloud-soft cushioning of its unique springing, aero-type shock absorbers and rubber-floated drive. Road-test it and see how its low center of gravity—only 23 inches from the road—holds it steady and sure on curves. See it now—the one that's really new for 1952.

Reds Accuse . . .

tank and artillery blows Wednesday.

Tanks Are in Action

Big allied tanks clanked up to a seven mile front between Kumsong and the Pukhan river on the central front and hurled more than 1,600 rounds into Chinese bunkers.

The lethal barrage from five vantage points lasted nearly four hours. One group reported 60 Chinese bunkers damaged.

Farther east, Allied artillery opened up on a 1,000-man Communist force southwest of Kosong. The artillerymen estimated 100 Red casualties.

B-26 light bombers and land-based Marine fighters attacked about 1,200 Communist vehicles Wednesday night. Pilots reported 120 destroyed.

Far East Air Force headquarters said Allied warplanes flew 920 sorties Wednesday.

B-29 Superforts bombed the Suchon rail bridge and the Hungnam supply area on the east coast.

UN warships pounded Red targets on both coasts.

'Boating Time' on the Outer Drive

Cars and a bus plow through cold water on Chicago's "Outer Drive" near 39th street after gusts sent waves from Lake Michigan onto the roadway. Some drivers took to the icy parkway to get by the flooded area. Waves as high as 12 feet forced the closing of the drive between 39th and 47 streets, as the weatherman predicted zero weather. U. S. Needs Scrap Rusting Away on Property in Ulster

Scrap iron is desperately needed today for the production of steel for defense as well as for carrying on the civilian activities.

In Ulster county there are many tons of scrap wasting away on farms, in junk yards and in numerous automobile "graveyards."

Recently the board of supervisors was petitioned by the state scrap iron authorities to ask every county employe to make an effort to see that this potential source of steel is released. In their travels about the county they were asked to keep an eye out for available sources and to ask the owners of the scrap, particularly on farms, to see that this scrap gets to market.

The importance of this scrap in the national steel production program is seldom realized by the man who has some piece of machinery rusting away on his farm or in his plant or factory.

Using scrap in the manufacture of steel is a short cut toward production of additional tonnage. It has been compared to the use of a "pre-mixed" pancake flour in the miking of pancakes. That is most of the hard work has been done in advance in the original manufacture of the metal. In open-hearth steelmaking approximately 50 per cent scrap and 50 per cent pigiron is used and the use of scrap already refined cuts down on the total time needed for refining and thus adds to the productiveness of the mills.

Supply Running Low

Today high grade reserves of raw materials in the United States are diminishing. Normally over four tons of coal, iron, ore, limestone and other materials are needed to make one ton of pigiron. When a ton of scrap is used in place of a ton of pigiron more than four tons of raw materials are saved and the process of making steel has been speeded up.

In Steelways magazine recently the need of scrap was pointed out and the question of how much material, labor and production capacity was saved by use of scrap was answered.

Local county officials ask that anyone having some unused machinery, broken down farm equipment or other scrap see that it gets to a junk yard now so that it may be diverted into the hungry steel industry where it will again serve a desperate need.

Manufacture of new farm equipment, automobiles, trucks and structural steel can be speeded up if idle scrap is put to use.

Court Recesses

The January trial term of Supreme Court was recessed until Tuesday, January 29, at 11 a. m. when the report of the grand jury will be received by Justice Harry E. Schirick. All jurors who have been serving at the present term were excused for the term this morning and received their pay. In discharging the jurors Justice Schirick thanked them for their service and stated that while not many cases had actually gone to the jury for a verdict, the presence of the jurors in court had a number of settlements and adjustments and a considerable number of cases had been disposed of. On Tuesday the grand jury will report and there remains one case to be disposed of without a jury. Court officers will return on Tuesday.

Wins First Test

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Truman's proposal to put tax collectors under civil service and reorganize the Bureau of Internal Revenue won its first test in Congress today. By a vote reported as unanimous, the House Expenditures Committee rejected a resolution that would have disapproved the reorganization plan. The action is subject to a vote of the full House membership next week. The vote means the committee will recommend that the House allow the reorganization to go through.

Reds Accuse . . .

tank and artillery blows Wednesday.

Tanks Are in Action

Big allied tanks clanked up to a seven mile front between Kumsong and the Pukhan river on the central front and hurled more than 1,600 rounds into Chinese bunkers.

The lethal barrage from five vantage points lasted nearly four hours. One group reported 60 Chinese bunkers damaged.

Chinese fire damaged four tanks, but all limped back to Allied lines. A fifth tank was damaged Wednesday in the fight west of Chorwon.

Farther east, Allied artillery opened up on a 1,000-man Communist force southwest of Kosong. The artillerymen estimated 100 Red casualties.

B-26 light bombers and land-based Marine fighters attacked about 1,200 Communist vehicles Wednesday night. Pilots reported 120 destroyed.

Far East Air Force headquarters said Allied warplanes flew 920 sorties Wednesday.

B-29 Superforts bombed the Suchon rail bridge and the Hungnam supply area on the east coast.

UN warships pounded Red targets on both coasts.

'Boating Time' on the Outer Drive

Cars and a bus plow through cold water on Chicago's "Outer Drive" near 39th street after gusts sent waves from Lake Michigan onto the roadway. Some drivers took to the icy parkway to get by the flooded area. Waves as high as 12 feet forced the closing of the drive between 39th and 47 streets, as the weatherman predicted zero weather. U. S. Needs Scrap Rusting Away on Property in Ulster

Scrap iron is desperately needed today for the production of steel for defense as well as for carrying on the civilian activities.

In Ulster county there are many tons of scrap wasting away on farms, in junk yards and in numerous automobile "graveyards."

Recently the board of supervisors was petitioned by the state scrap iron authorities to ask every county employe to make an effort to see that this potential source of steel is released. In their travels about the county they were asked to keep an eye out for available sources and to ask the owners of the scrap, particularly on farms, to see that this scrap gets to market.

The importance of this scrap in the national steel production program is seldom realized by the man who has some piece of machinery rusting away on his farm or in his plant or factory.

Using scrap in the manufacture of steel is a short cut toward production of additional tonnage. It has been compared to the use of a "pre-mixed" pancake flour in the miking of pancakes. That is most of the hard work has been done in advance in the original manufacture of the metal. In open-hearth steelmaking approximately 50 per cent scrap and 50 per cent pigiron is used and the use of scrap already refined cuts down on the total time needed for refining and thus adds to the productiveness of the mills.

Supply Running Low

Today high grade reserves of raw materials in the United States are diminishing. Normally over four tons of coal, iron, ore, limestone and other materials are needed to make one ton of pigiron. When a ton of scrap is used in place of a ton of pigiron more than four tons of raw materials are saved and the process of making steel has been speeded up.

In Steelways magazine recently the need of scrap was pointed out and the question of how much material, labor and production capacity was saved by use of scrap was answered.

Local county officials ask that anyone having some unused machinery, broken down farm equipment or other scrap see that it gets to a junk yard now so that it may be diverted into the hungry steel industry where it will again serve a desperate need.

Manufacture of new farm equipment, automobiles, trucks and structural steel can be speeded up if idle scrap is put to use.

Court Recesses

The January trial term of Supreme Court was recessed until Tuesday, January 29, at 11 a. m. when the report of the grand jury will be received by Justice Harry E. Schirick. All jurors who have been serving at the present term were excused for the term this morning and received their pay. In discharging the jurors Justice Schirick thanked them for their service and stated that while not many cases had actually gone to the jury for a verdict, the presence of the jurors in court had a number of settlements and adjustments and a considerable number of cases had been disposed of. On Tuesday the grand jury will report and there remains one case to be disposed of without a jury. Court officers will return on Tuesday.

Wins First Test

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Truman's proposal to put tax collectors under civil service and reorganize the Bureau of Internal Revenue won its first test in Congress today. By a vote reported as unanimous, the House Expenditures Committee rejected a resolution that would have disapproved the reorganization plan. The action is subject to a vote of the full House membership next week. The vote means the committee will recommend that the House allow the reorganization to go through.

Metropolitan Life District Manager

JOHN E. JORDAN

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announced today the appointment of John E. Jordan as manager of the Kingston District of the Metropolitan Life. The new manager succeeds J. Karl Hartfeur, who has retired.

A native of Bridgeport, Conn., Jordan was connected with the Metropolitan Life in Bridgeport for seven years as agent and assistant manager. From there he went to the Metropolitan Life field training division at its home office in New York city, where he worked for 10 years.

He comes to Kingston from the Derby, Connecticut district office, where he was manager.

He is married and he and Mrs. Jordan have three children. The family will be removed to this city when suitable accommodations are secured.

Planned Sub Attack

Rome, Jan. 24 (AP)—A wartime Italian naval commander says Italy planned a submarine attack in New York city harbor for December 1943, but the Italian armistice came along before the scheme could be carried out. The commander, J. Valerio Dorchese, said in a letter-to-the-editor published in the newspaper Roma that a long-range submarine was to carry a smaller one within close range of New York. The little one was to slip up the Hudson river "to the heart of the city" to make the attack.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company announced today the appointment of John E. Jordan as manager of the Kingston District of the Metropolitan Life. The new manager succeeds J. Karl Hartfeur, who has retired.

A native of Bridgeport, Conn., Jordan was connected with the Metropolitan Life in Bridgeport for seven years as agent and assistant manager. From there he went to the Metropolitan Life field training division at its home office in New York city, where he worked for 10 years.

He comes to Kingston from the Derby, Connecticut district office, where he was manager.

He is married and he and Mrs. Jordan have three children. The family will be removed to this city when suitable accommodations are secured.

Planned Sub Attack

Rome, Jan. 24 (AP)—A wartime Italian naval commander says Italy planned a submarine attack in New York city harbor for December 1943, but the Italian armistice came along before the scheme could be carried out. The commander, J. Valerio Dorchese, said in a letter-to-the-editor published in the newspaper Roma that a long-range submarine was to carry a smaller one within close range of New York. The little one was to slip up the Hudson river "to the heart of the city" to make the attack.

Body armor for aviators consists of a thin sheet of aluminum backed by several-ply nylon.
